VICTORIOUS REDS MAKE SWEEPING GAINS IN 3-PRONGED DRIVE TOWARD ROSTOV

RAF Bombers Pound Docks At Cherbourg

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The RAF bombed Cherbourg today in a swift follow-up of a heavy night raid on the German submarine base at Lorient, where the British struck a defensive blow in the battle of the Atlantic.

Boston bombers escorted by many squadrons of Spitfires attacked Cherbourg, meeting no fighter opposition. Ground fire was heavy.

Two bombers were lost over Lorient, the former French naval base now devoted almost exclusively to Hitler's estimated 400 submarines preying on supply lines to England, Russia and North Africa. It was Lorient's fifty-eighth raid, three of which had been made by daylight precision bombers of the U. S. Air Forces. Crippling of undersea power based there is one way to reduce Allied shipping losses in the Atlantic, which have been heavier than usual recently.

Several Hits Reported.

Scores of 500-pound bombs were dropped on the Cherbourg docks in crisp bright weather in the seventy-seventh raid on that great French port. Cherbourg is used as a refueling and light repair point for German submarines and surface craft. One pilot said he saw several hits in the dock area.

The bombers were over Lorient for an hour in bright moonlight and encountered heavy antiaircraft fire, the air ministry said. Big fires were set, pilots reported. Heavy clouds were pierced on the trip to the Bay of Biscay port and temperature dropped so low that some gun turrets froze, ice formed inside the bombers and icicles hung from oxygen masks.

The captain of one Halifax counted ten large fires, one particularly big one near a drydock.

Fuel Dumps Bombed.

Targets included fuel and torpedo dumps, submarine pens and barracks, power stations, building yards and machinery plants. The Germans were said to have at least 20 thick concrete lairs for the U-boats and have insisted these were immune to the heaviest bombs. They were reported building ten more.

"The great effort involved in keeping up the quick turnabout of large numbers of U-boats means that practically the whole of its (Lorient's) activities in one way or another is devoted to the submarine campaign," the air ministry commented.

It was the fourth successive night raid of the RAF and the ninth against the Germans this year. The increased tempo of the attacks emphasized the Allied determination to apply the aerial scourge to Hitler as never before.

Four German planes bombed and machinegunned a south coast British town this afternoon, inflicting casualties and damage. A school at a southeast coast town was machinegunned by low-flying Nazi planes and three children and a woman were injured.

2,500 Germans Lost; Russians Seize 30 Towns, Rail Points

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Red army striking from three sides at Rostov, Nazi communications hub in southern Russia, made sweeping gains yesterday, capturing approximately 30 towns and railway points and killing or capturing more than 2,500 Germans, a Russian communique said today.

Pushing northwestward in the Caucasus toward Rostov on the heels of an enemy "in complete rout" the communique said the Red army had captured Blagodarnoe, rail terminus 230 miles below Rostov. Blagodarnoe is approximately 60 miles above the Mineralnye Vody railway where another Red army column was pushing northwestward.

Claim Batlayevskaya.

In the northern Caucasus, the Russians announced in a communique heard here by the Soviet Monitor that the town of Batlayevskaya, 80 miles east of Rostov, had fallen. This was one of 14 localities and two railway stations that were occupied by the Russians operating along the Stalingrad-Tikhoretsk railway, and between that line and the lower Don river, the communique said.

Dvoinaya, a railway point 155 miles southwest of Stalingrad, also fell to the Russians striking toward Salsk and Tikhoretsk. Salsk, an intermediate point on this railway where a spur juts northwestward to Rostov, now is only 40 miles from the advancing Russians in this area.

Other Points Taken.

North of Rostov, "in the northern Donets" area, the communique announced the capture of Glubokaya. A town of that name on the Rostov-Moscow railway is approximately 100 miles above Rostov, and only 14 miles above the big city of Kamensk on the same railway.

Seven other points were taken, the communique said, in the northern Donets area where the Russian columns which crossed the middle Don river to encircle Millerovo, above Glubokaya, apparently were resuming their southward thrust toward Rostov, and also striking westward farther into the Ukraine.

The town of Litvinovka, located on the map as 33 miles inside the Ukraine west of the Rostov-Moscow railway, was reported to have fallen to the Russians.

Other Russian columns striking toward Rostov from the east were operating inside the Don river loop. Although Soviets declared these troops also were gaining, no specific claims were advanced.

Supplies Captured.

The Russians in this area last were reported only 60 miles from Rostov, but then the Germans began stiffening and launched night and day counterattacks to slow the Russians.

The midnight communique telling of the great offensive blows being dealt to the Germans in the Caucasus said that whole trainloads of trucks, cattle and war equipment were seized by the Red Army.

Arnall May Get Stop-Gap Bill Ahead of Time

Forecast that the stop-gap appropriations bill Governor Arnall asked the legislature for Thursday would be on his desk for signature by next Saturday or the following Monday came from Speaker Roy V. Harris yesterday.

Even the Monday date would beat by a week the date Governor Arnall asked from the legislature.

The general assembly organization session, reduced from a normal ten days to a mere five days, was adjourned yesterday.

Harris said the first order of business for the house, when it begins its regular session next week, would be consideration of a resolution committing the state government to wholehearted cooperation with President Roosevelt in the prosecution of the war.

Next on the program, he said, would be house Bill No. 1 to reorganize the board of regents and to eliminate the governor as a member of the board.

Pointing out that Monday must be devoted to second reading of bills, Harris said the war resolution and the reorganization of the regents would be taken up Tuesday, the first day on which bills may be passed. He added that house action on a proposed amendment writing the provisions of the regents bill into the state constitution also would be taken up Tuesday.

Reorganization of the regents has been listed by Arnall as his No. 1 objective in an effort to restore the accredited standing of the state university system.

Harris said Wednesday the house would consider the $22,000,000 appropriation bill recommended by Arnall for operation of the state until the end of the present

Fliers Rain Bombs On Ports of Sousse, Sfax

By EDWARD D. BALL.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Strong and effective attacks along the Mediterranean sea front by British submarines which sank four Axis ships, and probably three more, and shelled the southern shore of the nervous Italian mainland highlighted the North African campaign today.

Attacks by Allied planes on both the Tunisian and Libyan ends of the line were announced. Aground, no action of consequence was reported from General Eisenhower's Allied headquarters.

The new successes in the unending Allied war of attrition against Axis shipping were disclosed by the admiralty.

Sink Minesweeper.

Three small supply and ammunition ships went down under British torpedoes. Three other cargo ships, one of them a large vessel, whose forward part was blown off, were hard hit and believed sunk.

A submarine under the command of Commander B. (Bearded Ben) Bryant, DSC, crippled an Axis minesweeper with gunfire, took off her people as prisoners and then torpedoed and sank her.

Another submarine surfaced and shelled a railway bridge on the southern Italian coast.

In the air war, Allied North African headquarters announced that American Flying Fortresses attacking the eastern Tunisian supply ports of Sousse and Sfax had left the harbor areas aflame, while marauders attacked railroad lines and highways along the coastal road at Mahares, southwest of Sfax. Two Axis planes were shot down; four Allied craft were lost.

Airdromes Hard Hit.

In Libya, it was announced, American and South African RAF bombers assaulted enemy camps, air fields and transport. Particularly hard hit were two enemy airdromes west of the Wadi Zem Zem on the Tripolitanian coast. Eight Axis fighter planes were shot down and 12 others damaged, but the enemy's defenses were strong and 13 Allied pilots were said to be missing.

There was again no report of activity by the British Eighth Army which has been pursuing Marshal Rommel's Africa Corps.

Despite its mounting losses, the Axis was said by military observers here still to be getting strong forces into North Africa. The impression prevailed in some quarters that the next big developments would be in Tripolitania rather than Tunisia, where the opposing land forces have been long weatherbound.

Storm Forces U. S. Planes To Land at Lisbon

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Eleven American warplanes, beset by storms lashing the Iberian peninsula, were reported to have landed at Lisbon airport today and an armada of 50 others was sighted winging over this neutral country toward the Mediterranean war theater.

The 11 planes were Airacobra P-39 fighters and their crews at once surrendered to Portuguese military authorities who made arrangements for their internment and the storage of their planes for the duration.

A four-motored bomber the planes were escorting flew on to the south.

(A Madrid dispatch said a two-motored British plane crashed on Spanish soil at La Banqueta, near La Linea, across the bay from Gibraltar and that two of its crew members were injured.)

(The German radio described the planes as "chasers" and said that they were seized by Portuguese authorities and that the crews were interned. The German account said the aircraft landed about 3 p. m. because of fuel shortage. The German account said 33 airmen were interned.)

The 11 planes landed at Portela Sacavem, the Lisbon airport, six miles up the Tagus river, as severe electrical storms affected a widespread area, causing crop damage and property loss in a score of villages and hamlets in north Portugal.

Landing of the planes in Portugal may result in their loss to the United Nations for the duration, as under normal procedure belligerent planes and crews are interned when forced down on neutral soil.

The exceptional air activity over Portugal despite unfavorable weather suggested that a large-scale movement of planes and perhaps of troops to North Africa was taking place.

The largest, long-distance air transport of parachute troops in history took place on November 7-8 when American parachutists were ferried 1,500 miles nonstop from England to take part in the attack on Oran, Algeria.

MORE NURSES NEEDED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP) To meet minimum civilian and military needs, 65,000 young women must enter schools of nursing between June 30, 1943, and July 1, 1944, Paul V. McNutt, director of Defense Health and Welfare Services, announced today.

Another Troop Convoy Reaches British Port

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The arrival at a British port of a convoy containing a detachment of American troops and members of the American Merchant Marine after an uneventful crossing was announced today. The arrival of another convoy including United States troops was announced yesterday.

The latest convoy was composed principally of Canadian army reinforcement and members of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Drop in Temperature Is Predicted for Today

AFL May Seek Flat Wage To Raise Salaries

By JIM LITTLE.

As a means of releasing substandard salaried persons from the price-ceiling law, the American Federation of Labor probably will indorse a flat wage for workers in the low-salary brackets during their southern war conference opening today, George L. Googe, southern representative, predicted last night.

Googe said the 15 per cent yardstick applied to workers under the ceiling laws was not adequate to provide a living wage to some classes of labor. Under the present setup workers may be given increases of only 15 per cent over their pay as of January 1, 1941.

"If a man was making 30 cents an hour then, you can imagine how much that 15 per cent helps him these days," Googe said, adding he thought employers would welcome a flat rate of, say, 50 cents, because better-paying war industries are offering better wages than it is possible for other employes to pay under the ceiling law.

Adoption of such a plan, Googe said, would remove the necessity of obtaining approval of the War Labor Board.

President William Green, of the federation, and Rear Admiral Clark Howell Woodward, chief of the Navy's incentive division, will be among headline speakers at today's session.

Meanwhile, separate conferences were being held by various divisions of the federation, and dinner meetings were planned at several hotels and clubs. Among these was a luncheon in honor of Green, given by Chairman Harrison Jones, of the Coca-Cola Company directorate.

The vanguard of distinguished visitors will arrive on the Crescent Limited this morning, and a delegation will meet Admiral Woodward and Green at the Peachtree station.

Addresses on today's program include those by Governor Arnall, Mayor Hartsfield, Charles B. Gramling, president of the Georgia Federation of Labor; Frank P. Fenton, director of organization for the A. F. of L.; Wendell Lund, director of the War Production Board's labor division, and President Albert Gossett, of the Atlanta Federation of Trades.

British Sailors Seek Our Famed 'Peaches'

By RUTH DILLON.

Atlantans probably have wondered lately why they see British sailors at almost every turn, and the reason should make the city extremely proud: for furloughs they will always remember, these men are choosing Atlanta as their headquarters.

These seamen showed none of the traditional English reticence about their reason for this popularity, for they agreed unanimously that most of the credit is due to our attractive Georgia peaches.

The dependable "grapevine," which is responsible for these peaches' fame, has been so effective that the Service Men's Center is now often host to these men, who come here from all over the south.

Popular Tommy.

According to Bill Thomas, however, whose home is a small mining village in South Wales, Atlantans find these British boys just as attractive.

"Do you know what happened to me the other night?" he asked, trying to look plaintive, "Not long ago, somebody woke me up at midnight to say that five girls were on the telephone and wanted to hear me talk."

With the lack of "aitches" here, and the abundance of them in other totally unexpected places, it was not hard to see why Atlantans are so intrigued by "just hearing these boys talk."

Although they are here only a short time, these boys find Atlantans eager to welcome them. Jim Anderson, of Sheffield, England, was the guest of two debutantes Thursday night, and he was much impressed by them.

"Why they've been to more colleges than the seas our navy's sailed in," he exclaimed.

Bill Lloyd, who lives in Wishaw, Scotland, holds the title of the "Happiest Man on Board." This would be an enviable reputation under any circumstances, but among men who find time to laugh even in the most trying situations, it is a real honor. Although Bill arrived in Atlanta only two days ago, he has already found time to visit the Cyclorama, which he enthusiastically described as "a lovely piece of work."

Entertainment finds its place even on shipboard, and John Price, of Manchester, England, is the one who provides it. Before entering the Navy, he sang at the public houses and bars in England. Now in service, he is known as the Bing Crosby of his ship, and is also popular as a pianist.

What songs are on the hit parade of these Britishers? Swing, of course, is popular, but certainly no more so than the English songs which they have always known and loved. John was anxious to find out where the art gallery is, for as he put it: "I like a spot of good painting."

These British seamen have chosen Atlanta to "get the sea air out of their eyes," but they are just waiting for the day when they can continue their part in the fight against the enemy.

'Stars' Show You Miss Them—

Not only in Atlanta and Georgia, but from coast to coast in every state in the Union, hundreds of thousands of Stars of Honor are being worn by people back home in tribute to their kin and other loved ones in the fighting forces of Uncle Sam.

Have you joined these loyal and patriotic thousands? Are you wearing one of these significant little emblems in honor of those near and dear to you now serving in the armed forces?

Stars of Honor, made of sterling silver, may be obtained at the Want Ad desk of The Constitution for 20 cents each, plus 2 cents federal jewelry tax; by mail, for 25 cents, the added cost to cover postage and handling.

Thomas County Buys $28,000 Worth of Bonds

By FRANK DRAKE.

Gathering such speed that it rapidly has overflowed the boundaries of the metropolitan area, the new Atlanta cruiser campaign has already spread to a state-wide basis, and yesterday the county commissioners of Thomas county purchased $28,000 worth of bonds in the name of the new 10,000-ton U. S. S. Atlanta, now building in a New York shipyard.

"The commissioners of roads and revenues of Thomas county, Thomasville, Ga., today are buying $28,000 Victory bonds through Bank of Thomas County, Thomasville, Ga.," W. E. Beverly, chairman of the commission, wired John L. Conner, chairman of the "New Atlanta Cruiser" committee.

County Co-operation.

"Requesting you be given credit for this purchase on the new Atlanta cruiser bond fund. Hope every county in Georgia with money to invest will co-operate with you fully in this movement. We people of Thomas county are glad to co-operate with the city of Atlanta."

Conner said he fervently hoped every county in the state will cooperate also, and help put a gleaming U. S. S. Atlanta with the fleet when it arrives at Tokyo.

The day brought many developments in the whirlwind drive to raise $35,750,000 through the sale of war bonds to replace the U. S. S. Atlanta that was sunk last fall gallantly fighting the Japs in the Solomons.

Fonville McWhorter, widely known Atlantan and veteran of the last war, was appointed deputy bond administrator by Marion

Mail-Carrying Dog Loses Job at Oglesby

ELBERTON, Ga., Jan. 15.—(AP) Major, a big police dog, is out of a job, and all because Uncle Sam has discontinued the post office at the little village of Oglesby, Ga.

For several years Major has carried the mail pouches to and from the trains. Dozens of trains roared through the little town daily, but Major ignored all of them but the two that threw off mail.

Senators, Officials Agree on Liberalized Farm Draft Rules

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—A liberalization of draft deferments for essential farm workers was agreed upon late today at a conference of administrative officials with farm state senators.

Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, spokesman for the group, announced that selective service officials would issue a new directive to local draft boards immediately. It will make the "16-unit" formula an objective, rather than a requirement, and the boards will be granted broad power to deviate from this objective, even to the extent of deferring a producer of only eight units.

The 16-unit formula sets a standard for determining whether a farm worker should be deferred. It stipulates that an essential worker is one who tends 16 milk cows or does a comparable amount of work toward the production of livestock, poultry, grain and other products deemed essential.

Revised Regulations.

The conference, in Bankhead's office, was attended by Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Man Power Commission; Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service; Sam B. Bledsoe, assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard, and Dr. Sherman E. Johnson of the War Food Administration. The senators, in addition to Bankhead, were Tydings, Democrat, Maryland; Wheeler, Democrat, Montana; Russell, Democrat, Georgia; Gillette, Democrat, Iowa; McNary, Republican, Oregon; Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, and Aiken, Republican, Vermont.

"The regulation should be helpful in halting the continuous drain on farm labor that is imperiling our food and fiber production," Bankhead told reporters. "How much it helps depends altogether upon its administration."

Under the revised regulations, local boards will be directed to classify in class 2-C or class 3-C all registrants who are considered essential on the farm under the new standards. In 2-C will be included essential farm workers without dependents and in 3-C those with dependents.

New Table.

In authorizing local boards to defer workers with less than 16 units of production by reason of variations in production conditions and methods in different states, the proposed regulation states:

"It would appear unreasonable, however, under most circumstances, for a local board to consider a registrant for classification in class 2-C or 3-C unless his own personal and direct efforts result in the production of at least eight war units of essential farm products."

The deferment would especially be recommended where a registrant's production effort exceeded eight units and he was making "diligent efforts" to increase production of essential products.

In a new table that will accompany the regulation, credit for the production of shorter staple cotton will be given for the first time. Cultivation of three acres of upland cotton under 31-32 of an inch would be considered the equivalent of one war unit. Cultivation of long staple would be on the basis of a unit for each 1.5 acres.

A worker would be entitled to one war unit for each cow milked and one unit for each 10 dairy cattle and calves of other variety handled.

Herd's Slayer Must Die in Electric Chair

Judge Etheridge Fixes February 4 as Death Date.

Richard Smith, Negro slayer of T. H. Herd, Rhodes Center night watchman, was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Tattnall prison for the sixth time yesterday in Fulton superior court. Judge Paul S. Etheridge fixed February 4 as the date of the execution.

Herd was murdered the night of October 16, 1938. He was struck with a blunt instrument while investigating the robbery of a liquor store at Rhodes Center.

Smith and another Negro, Raymond Carter, were later arrested and charged with the crime. Smith made a confession, in which he stated that the fatal blow was struck by Carter. Later, Carter, shortly before he was electrocuted for a murder at Jackson, testified that he and Smith had killed Herd.

After the highest Georgia court and the United States supreme court had affirmed the decision of the Fulton court, lawyers for Smith secured a writ of habeas corpus in federal court on the ground that Smith's confession had been obtained under duress. The federal court refused to release the prisoner, and its decision was appealed to the federal court of appeals, which upheld the lower court. The United States supreme court later upheld the court of appeals.

This last ruling resulted in the resentence to death.

Church To Be Host To British Sailors

British sailors now on furlough in Atlanta will be guests of All Saints' Episcopal church at the services at 11 a. m. tomorrow, Dr. Theodore S. Will, the rector, announced.

The sailors, with Malcom Henderson, British consul here, will march in a body to the church, and the consul will be invited by the rector to read the lesson.

In the processional at the beginning of the services, the Union Jack will be carried alongside the Stars and Stripes. During the services, the choir will sing one verse of "God Save the King" and one verse of "America."

British Fighter Downs 3 Japs in 4 Minutes

A NIGHT FIGHTER BASE NEAR CALCUTTA, India, Saturday, June 16.—(AP)—One British night fighter destroyed three Japanese medium bombers attacking the Calcutta district in only four minutes last night, a record for this area's defenses and possibly a record for such brief combat elsewhere.

(A communique from British headquarters in India said some bombs were dropped but it was understood that damage was negligible. It added no casualties have been reported thus far.)

LABOR

Will America's workers do the job in this crucial year? What legislation will organized labor push in the new Congress? How has the war affected collective bargaining? What's behind the effort to slash wages in these times of high living costs and heavy taxes?

How are A. F. of L.-built warplanes shaping up in actual combat? What trouble for Hitler is being prepared quietly by French workers? What subjects vex American wage-earners enough to cause them to write to the editor? When will labor unity come?

The answers to all these and many other questions will be found in the current issue of of a railway which twists across the Kuban to join the main Rostov-Baku line at Kropotkin. Two Russian columns have been converging on it—one from the south and one from the southeast through snowstorms and fog.

Armavir, an important point on the Mineralnye Vody-Rostov line, is about 115 miles west of Blagodarnoe. Armavir, however, also is being threatened by a main Russian column pushing along the railway. This latter group seized Nogutskaya, about 100 miles from Armavir, yesterday, while the town of Bekeshevskaya also fell.

Bekeshevskaya is 25 miles southwest of Nogutskaya, in the Caucasian foothill area, where the Russians have been rapidly cleaning out the enemy.

Nazis Admit 'Cut Off' Of Velikie Luki.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Germans admitted for the first time tonight that their garrison at Velikie Luki, vital railway center 90 miles east of the Latvian border, was cut off, but still maintained that the town is held by German troops.

"Soviet forces which encompassed the base" failed to attack it directly for the first time in two weeks, said a Transocean broadcast, quoting "competent quarters."

Instead, the broadcast said, the Russians threw all their available troops, including reserves, against "German formations which were advancing to relieve Velikie Luki."

"German transport planes systematically continued to supply the garrison with ammunition and provisions," the radio added.

State Attorney Asks Mistrial In Flynn Case

Two Jurors Accused of Having Expressed Opinions on Actor's Guilt.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Two women jurors were accused today of having expressed opinions as to Errol Flynn's guilt or innocence, and a deputy district attorney moved for a mistrial of three counts of statutory attack against the actor.

The women were accused in affidavits filed with the superior court by the prosecution.

Deputy District Attorney John Hopkins said an affidavit of Mrs. Harriet R. Ponder, a member of the superior court jury panel, named the women as Mrs. Lorene Boehm, wife of an industrial engineer, and Miss Elaine Forbes, secretary to a radio network executive.

Other affidavits, he declared, were submitted by two jurors who were excused from duty in the Flynn case, Mrs. Emily S. Blue and Mrs. Gussie Rowe. Mrs. Ponder, he explained, was not called in the case.

"Would Fix Him."

Mrs. Ponder's affidavit, made in the district attorney's office this morning, asserted that two weeks before Christmas Miss Forbes told her she "had to get on the Flynn jury and that she would convict him and 'we would fix him.'"

Similar sentiments were expressed "in a vehement manner" on other occasions, the affidavit declared.

Mrs. Ponder said that before Flynn was brought to trial, Mrs. Boehm had expressed interest in seeing the actor when he made appearances in the Hall of Justice, and on one occasion declared:

"I am for Errol Flynn in a big way."

Jurors for the Flynn case were selected from a master panel, created several months ago to handle all superior court cases. All five women are members of that panel.

The mistrial motion went over until Monday when Judge Leslie Still granted a continuance agreed to both by Deputy District Attorney Thomas Cochran and Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler.

Creates Sensation.

The motion created a sensation, coming in the midst of testimony-taking. On the stand was a Hollywood entertainer—who comes to court with a black wig hiding beautiful blond tresses — testifying that she heard voices behind a locked door on the night 17-year-old Betty Hansen charges the actor was intimate with her.

The witness, Lynne Boyer, was one of eight guests at the Bel-Air home of Fred McEvoy, former British bobsled expert and one-time Paris jewelry salesman, on the night of September 27.

She took the stand after a day of testimony from Miss Hansen, one of the two complaining witnesses to three attack counts against Flynn, star of many romantic movie adventures.

She made a somewhat glamorous, if nervous, picture. She was stockingless, attired in a canary yellow dress, with a yellow and white Angora sweater.

Threatens to Jump.

Once, during a recess, she evidently became annoyed at the approach of two spectators. Bursting into tears she muttered, "I'll jump, I'll jump," and walked toward a near-by open window in the eighth floor courtroom. She stood there, however, looking out, and a bailiff closed it as the recess ended.

Miss Boyer described the dinner at the McEvoy home, related how Miss Hansen complained of feeling ill and left the table. (It was then, Miss Hansen had testified earlier, that Flynn took her upstairs.)

After dinner, Miss Boyer continued, she and three others of the party went into the living room for coffee. She was there, she thought, for from 15 minutes to a half-hour. Then she went upstairs to use a telephone.

"I tried one door," she said, "but the room was dark. I tried another, but it was locked. 'May I come in?' I called.

"A voice said 'You can come in if you want to; we are taking a shower.' Then I heard a laugh or a giggle."

Not Sure of Giggle.

She said she could not identify the voice.

"Well," said Hopkins, "did the sound of the voice bring to your mind a certain individual?"

"Yes," she replied.

"Who was it?"

"Mr. Flynn."

As for the giggle, Miss Boyer said she wasn't sure, but she thought it was a woman's.

Earlier, Miss Hansen had reiterated under redirect examination that she made no objections to Flynn's actions.

"Did you resist Flynn's attempt to be intimate with you in any way? Did you push him, or shove him, or ask him not to?" she was asked.

Her answers to both questions were negative.

Admiral Russell Wilson Assigned to New Duty

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Vice Admiral Russell Wilson has been retired from the post of deputy commander-in-chief of the fleet and assigned to duty as a member of the joint strategic survey committee, an agency operating under the joint Army-Navy chiefs of staff.

The change, announced today, was one of several in which officers have been placed on the retired list, but continued on active duty, as a result of special physical examinations on their fitness to stand the strain of wartime service, both at sea and ashore. The Navy said the change in status was technical.

Drive To Buy New 'Atlanta' Now Statewide

sons wishing to give assistance in Allen, war savings staff administrator, to devote his full time to the campaign.

The Chevrolet division of General Motors here loaned the campaign the full-time services of Rodney Norman, the assistant zone manager.

The "New Atlanta Cruiser" committee opened headquarters on the ground floor, Marietta street entrance, of the Citizens & Southern National Bank building, and a telephone, JAckson 2815, was installed there for the benefit of perthe drive.

Meanwhile, Conner announced that pledges to him toward the goal have reached approximately $750,000 and are still coming in, lots of them in big amounts.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was told about Atlanta's campaign by George Googe, southern AFL representative, yesterday and he evidenced a great deal of interest in the campaign.

Googe said Green probably will commend the drive and urge labor to co-operate when he speaks here this weekend during the big labor conference.

King Praises Drive.

Also, during the day, a message of commendation for the bond campaign came from Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, to the Journal. King stated:

"The motives of high patriotism and the fighting spirit evidenced by your campaign are in keeping with the glorious tradition of a proud ship.

"The Atlanta was lost in a battle in which the enemy suffered signal defeat. May her successor carry on to participate in the final victory."

That wish was echoed by all.

Club Pledges $1,100.

They were doing something about it, too, as these instances will illustrate. The Kirkwood Civitan Club, with only 16 members present at a meeting Tuesday night, pledged $1,100 worth of bonds.

And Ernest Brewer, secretary to the mayor and chairman of the building fund of the Capitol View Presbyterian church, wrote:

"As chairman of the building fund of our church, I have talked with our treasurer and we are ready to purchase at this time $1,200 in bonds to be earmarked for the Atlanta.

"This might be an incentive for other like organizations to do the same thing."

This undoubtedly will happen. To get $35,750,000 in bond sales it will take the complete co-operation of all business, professional, civic, social and religious organizations and groups.

While the civilians of the city were getting started, the men at the U. S. Naval Air Station here continued their own campaign for the Atlanta, and set themselves a quota of $5,000 on bond sales by January 21.

Already the total amount of cash raised for bond sales from the officers there is $1,200, and the people at the Link instrument training school subscribed between $600 and $700 more. Most of the enlisted men are yet to be solicited to buy bonds for this purpose.

McWhorter said he was mighty happy to be serving as deputy administrator.

"It's next best to being in uniform," he said.

Norman, who said his services are "loaned for the duration" of the campaign, declared that Atlantans can beat all records in this drive.

"If Houston, Texas, did it, we can do it and beat them," he asserted.

Houston raised $86,000,000 in a few weeks in bond sales to replace the lost Houston cruiser.

Conner said membership of the "New Atlanta Cruiser" committee soon will be completed and that the real work will begin when the organization is done.

"And work we will," he said.

Gets Year in Pen For Blackmail

J. W. Carlson, of Tucker, Ga., was sentenced to serve a year in prison by Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, yesterday after he had been found guilty on one count of a two-count indictment charging blackmail.

The count on which he was convicted alleged he swore out a false warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Mary D. Goudelock, defeated candidate for the State Prison and Parole Commission. He was acquitted of demanding money from Mrs. Goudelock on the threat "to ruin her politically" if she did not pay.

Carlson was represented by J. R. Venable, while the prosecutors were Quincy Arnold and W. B. Parham.

Canada Heads In Big Effort To End Strike

13,500 Steel Workers Out; Government Readies Plans.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 15.—(AP) Company and union representatives will confer with the cabinet at Ottawa tomorrow afternoon in an attempt to settle the strike which has left 13,500 Canadian steelworkers idle, halting two of Canada's three basic steel-producing plants.

Labor department officials at Ottawa said that both the Algoma Steel Corporation at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation at Sydney, N. S., would be represented at the meeting. There are 5,000 workers idle at the Algoma plant, 5,000 at Sydney and 3,500 at the Dosco subsidiary plants at Trenton, N. S.

The union, the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) called the strike to demand a basic minimum wage rate of 55 cents an hour, compared to the present 45½ cents at the Sault and 43½ cents in Nova Scotia.

Committee Appointed.

International headquarters of the union at Washington appointed a three-man committee to confer with the government and the companies, including Pat Conroy, of Ottawa, and John Doherty and Elmer Maloy, of the steel union's executive board. In addition three representatives of the local unions will be on hand from Sault Ste. Marie and Nova Scotia.

Practically the whole cabinet will attend the conference, which probably will be held in Prime Minister Mackenzie King's office.

At the Sault the second day of the strike today was quiet. Things were also quiet at Sydney, where the men have been out since Tuesday morning, and at Trenton, where the subsidiary plants went on strike Thursday."

The giant blast furnaces were closed down and picket lines remained at the entrances.

Members Accepted.

Company and union acceptance of the invitation to the Ottawa conference, issued Thursday night by Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell, was the chief development today.

Announcing appointment of the union committee in Washington, President Philip Murray, of the international union, said the committee would have full authority to deal with the matter. C. H. Millard, Canadian regional director of the union, attended the meeting of the international executive board which appointed the committee, and Mr. Millard will also attend the Ottawa conference.

Too Much Talk Of 'Sacrifices' Irks General

Commandant of Armored Force School Addresses Educators.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Brigadier General Stephen G. Henry, commandant of the Armored Force School at Fort Knox, Ky., tonight said he was weary of "hearing people bemoan the sacrifices they are going to have to make" for the war effort.

"We talk too much about so-called sacrifices," General Henry declared in a speech prepared for delivery before the New Jersey Vocational and Arts Association. "If ever a word were overworked or used incorrectly, I believe 'sacrifice' is that word.

"When you are suddenly awakened at night by gangsters banging on your front and back doors, and you hurry downstairs, rifle in hand, you don't say that you're making a 'sacrifice'; you're simply responding to a normal instinct of self-preservation."

General Henry told the educators that Axis countries had made "sacrifices" to get control of much of the world goods and that the United Nations would have to do without luxuries to get them back.

He asserted the teacher and the Army officer shared similar responsibility in training of soldiers, because "gone are the days when a soldier was expected only to be brave. Today he must be a technician, a specialist, a thinker, a scientist, a craftsman, an artist."

Foreman Will Filed for Probate

The will of Mrs. R. L. Foreman, who died January 4, was filed for probate yesterday with Ordinary Thomas H. Jeffries. Under its terms, she divided her property equally between her four sons, Clark Foreman, R. L. Foreman Jr., Howell Foreman and Lauren Foreman.

Mrs. Foreman was the widow of a well-known Atlanta insurance man.

Gallant Co-Pilot Brings Shattered Bomber Back

By GLADWIN HILL.

AT A U. S. BOMBER STATION IN ENGLAND, Jan. 15. (AP)—The acting pilot was killed, three of its crew were wounded and the Flying Fortress "Dry Martini" was given up for lost by its formation, but a gallant young second lieutenant brought the bomber back from the raid Wednesday on Lille, France.

The dead pilot was a substitute sitting in for Captain Allan V. Martini, of San Francisco, who was too ill to go on the mission.

Dry Martini's target was a Lille steel factory building. Just after dropping their bombs, the Americans were attacked by Focke-Wulfs.

"At least five of them took a pass at us before we got hit," the second lieutenant co-pilot said.

Pilot Killed.

Shells crashed through the cockpit into the pilot's chest, killing him. The back of his chair was shattered and the explosion showered glass splinters that stunned and blinded the co-pilot temporarily.

The plane dived out of control for 2,500 feet. The officer leading the flight thought Dry Martini was finished when it suddenly came out of the dive.

The co-pilot was wounded in the leg by a splinter of plastic, but he managed to level off.

"I couldn't see the formation and called Tail Gunner Sergeant R. F. Willis (of Brockton, Mass.) on the interphone and he gave me a very good direction from where he could see. All the cockpits were caved in and the plane looked like an abandoned house."

Former Cowboy.

The co-pilot picked out a place for the plane in another formation.

A former cowboy and radioman, Staff Sergeant Oscar E. Ballew, of Enola, Pa., left his post as top turret gunner to carry the pilot's body into the nose of the compartment and attempted to revive him.

"There were so many fighters coming at us that it was absolutely futile to call them out to the gunners on the interphone," the co-pilot said.

One of the gunners was shot in the side and was suffering great pain but he kept on firing until he was helped out of the turret by Technical Sergeant H. L. Mabry, of Dallas, Tex., the right waist gunner. The left waist gunner was William D. Hise, of Pittsburgh.

Dry Martini by now was getting cannon shots in the fuselage, tail and nose, one of which knocked the oxygen masks off the bombardier, Second Lieutenant Bruce Gardner, of Flagstaff, Ariz., and the navigator, Second Lieutenant R. Nye, of Bellevue, Wash., but they managed to grasp spares and stay on the job.

Gunner Returns.

One gunner returned to his post, although wounded, and without an oxygen mask, and kept firing at attacking planes for 15 minutes until Ballew and Mabry helped him down and gave him first aid.

Mabry then went forward to the pilot's seat and helped the co-pilot manage the plane.

Back in the tail bullets were whizzing at Willis. They clipped away both shoulders of his jacket and his parachute pack was riddled with shrapnel.

Nevertheless, Dry Martini rode out the attack. The crew was getting so used to German planes that by the time they reached the channel, the co-pilot said:

"We were feeling pretty pessimistic because we couldn't think the planes we saw coming were anything but Focke-Wulfs. Actually they were protecting squadrons of Spitfires."

The co-pilot, who may not be identified by name, landed the plane safely. He is recovering in a hospital from wounds not considered serious.

Explosion Fatal To Negro Woman

One Negro woman was burned to death and another burned severely yesterday afternoon as the result of an explosion in the Coleman Brothers dry cleaning plant at 31 Rawson street, S. E., police reported.

The dead woman, Sallie Mae Waters, was trapped in the building, while the injured woman, Mary Price, escaped by climbing out a window. She was admitted to Grady hospital. The building was damaged badly.

Radio Patrolmen R. C. Rhodes and W. G. Baldwin and officials of the fire department launched an investigation to determine the cause of the explosion.

ODT APPOINTMENTS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP) The Office of Defense Transportation announced today appointment of Raymond Skinner, president of dairy companies in Memphis and Nashville, and Frank G. Reed, of Chicago, as members of its staff in the local delivery section.

Atlanta Places Third in Fire Safety Week

Demonstration Staged Last October Drew National Eye.

Atlanta won third place for activities during National Fire Prevention Week, it became known yesterday as Fire Chief C. C. Styron announced fire losses for 1942 were $290,872.

Demonstrations staged during fire prevention week last October drew national attention, J. F. Seagraves, fire inspector, said he had been informed by the National Fire Prevention Association.

"With the assistance of the Junior Chamber of Commerce," Inspector Seagraves said, "we named a 'Miss Fire Prevention' and had her to assist in demonstrations staged on the downtown streets during the week. A feature of the demonstration was the rescue of 'Miss Fire Prevention' from tall buildings at the luncheon hour each day."

The 1942 fire losses were a little above those for the previous year, Chief Styron said, pointing out that in 1941 losses in the city were only $248,003.

The department answered 4,191 alarms, of which 309 were false, contrasting with 5,027 alarms and 332 false ones for 1941.

Per capita loss for 1942 was 96 cents against 82 cents for 1941, but the national average is far above this figure, officials said.

Only nine incendiary fires were recorded last year, as compared to 17 for 1941. Automobile fires accounted for 386 of the 1942 alarms and 453 of those answered in 1941.

Grass and forest fires for 1942 were listed at 1,091 while for 1941 they totaled 1,555.

The chief praised the personnel of the department in his annual report, but warned that the personnel problem is mounting because of the large number of men who are answering the call to military and naval services.

Ginger Rogers To Marry Again

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Los Angeles Times says today that Ginger Rogers, the sunny-haired film star, is engaged to marry Private Jack Briggs, of the U. S. Marine Corps. It will be her third marriage.

The newspaper says the two met in San Diego only three months ago, and that they haven't seen each other more than 10 times since. Briggs was described as a Hollywood actor who worked for some time on a different set in Miss Rogers' studio, but who never met her until after his enlistment in the Marine Corps.

Miss Rogers was quoted as saying:

"He's everything I've ever dreamed about. He's a six-foot two-inch brown-haired, brown-eyed American."

Further School Plans For South Discussed

The commission on secondary schools of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, at a meeting held last night at Clark College, discussed plans providing for the Negro schools to make the most effective use of the services of the federal agencies working in the schools of the south, and to plan for the sharing of their plans and projects for the war effort among the Negro high schools of the region.

Officials of Atlanta Negro high schools and colleges and officials from federal educational agencies also attended the meeting.

No Negotiated Peace for U. S., Hayes Predicts

Envoy Addresses Group of High Spanish Officials at Madrid.

MADRID, Jan. 15.—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador Carlton J. H. Hayes, addressing a gathering of diplomats and high Spanish officials, declared today there could be no negotiated peace between the United States and her enemies.

At the same time Hayes, whose theme was "American war aims," hit hard at Axis-inspired rumors that an Allied victory would mean the overturn of the present government of Spain.

"If the political and social institutions of this country undergo change or modification in future years," he declared emphatically, "it will be the work of Spaniards within Spain—not of the United States or of Spanish emigres."

Hayes told his audience that 13 sovereign states of the American continents were "leagued together in a war of colossal magnitude."

But, he said, the United States is not fighting to impose on any other country or for capitalistic stakes.

Far from being materialistic, the ambassador asserted, the people of the United States "are intensely idealistic—incorrigibly idealistic."

"Americans have in them more of the Spanish than you might guess," he said. "They are in their peculiar way the Don Quixotes of the twentieth century. For one thing, Americans love liberty—liberty for the individual and liberty for nations."

Naturally peace-loving, the Americans "wanted very much to stay out of the present war" and did stay out until they were attacked, Hayes said.

Yet, once aroused, Americans can and will fight, he declared, and what arouses them most is resentment at being pushed around or seeing other people pushed around.

First Woman To Die in S. C. Chair Executed

Two Somber-Visaged Men Also Meet Death in Feud Slayings.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 15.—(AP) A chunky, grim-faced woman, the first of her sex to be executed by the state of South Carolina, went calmly to her death today in a triple execution climaxing a three-year-old feud that grew out of an argument over a $20 yearling calf. Two somber-visaged men died with her at the state penitentiary.

All were convicted of the murder of an Edgefield county farmer, Davis W. Timmerman, in the feud that led to eight violent deaths, including the three inflicted by the state.

Mrs. Sue Logue, 43-year-old Edgefield county former school teacher; her farmer brother-in-law, George Logue, 55, and Clarence Bagwell, 34, Spartanburg and Brevard, N. C., plasterer and road house operator, died without show of emotion in the electric chair shortly after 6 a. m.

The brunette Mrs. Logue displayed stoic indifference as she padded slowly into the death chamber in stockinged feet. A turbaned towel covered her shaven head and she carried a Bible.

A lace-edged handkerchief—a gesture to femininity—protruded from the pocket of an open-necked white blouse. She wore grey slacks, purchased yesterday at her direction for the occasion. Her ring glittered in the house of death.

"No, sir, I'm ready to die," she said in clipped tones when she was asked if she had anything to say. She handed the Bible to Prison Physician W. M. Cheatham as attendants strapped her to the chair, and mumbled an unintelligible question to the doctor.

"No, Sue, I'm going to stay right with you," Cheatham replied, gently patting her arm reassuringly. A moment later 2,300 volts of electricity ended the life of the woman whom the prosecution termed the "brain" behind the "planned" hired killing.

LEAD SUPPLY SUFFICIENT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—A War Production Board official predicted today a 1943 lead supply somewhat below 1940, but sufficient to meet presently known requirements and leave a margin for stockpiling.

Uruguay Leader Seeks Lend-Lease Help

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Alberto Guani will examine the possibilities of resuming diplomatic relations with Russia on his forthcoming visit to Washington, reliable informants said today. He also is expected to seek lease-lend help.

With a staff of economic and financial experts, he will leave tomorrow night for Buenos Aires and take a plane there for the United States.

He takes office March 1 as vice president and is expected to retain the foreign ministry portfolio in President-elect Juan José Amezaga's cabinet.

Duke Is Elected Fairburn Official

Daniel Duke was elected city attorney of Fairburn, Ga., at the meeting of the city council held Monday night.

Duke, who is associated with the Arthur Allen Law Office in Atlanta, was formerly assistant solicitor general of Fulton superior court, and was prosecutor of the East Point flogging cases several years ago.

Enlisting in the Marine Corps in November, Duke attended the Officer Candidate School at Quantico, Va., until he received a medical discharge last month.

ATLANTA, GA., JANUARY 16, 1943.

Important Conference

Out of the war labor conference which opens a two-day session in Atlanta today may well come decisions which will speed victory for the United Nations and thus bring nearer the day of peace.

Some six thousand will attend the conference at the city auditorium. The importance of the gathering is indicated by the list of speakers, which includes Paul V. McNutt, head of the national man-power commission; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Rear Admiral Clark Howell Woodward, representing the Secretary of the Navy; Wendell Lund, director of the labor division of the War Production Board; James Landis, director of Civilian Defense and many others of national prominence.

The nation is proud of the industrial miracle of production which has been achieved since the war began. There have been irritating and unnecessary stoppages of work in some instances, but taken by and large both labor and management deserve the encomiums of all for their patriotic achievements.

Undoubtedly, however, even greater miracles are possible with proper planning and united determination and enthusiasm. It is to pave the way for these greater miracles that the conference has been called.

To the representatives who gather from twelve southern states and to the leaders here from all over the nation, Atlanta extends warmest welcome and voices the sincere hope that, out of their discussions, will come tangible results in better co-ordination of the nation's resources, human and material, and resultant rises in the graph of national war production.

A Texas evangelist avers that no new sin has been originated in 5,000 years. We can only feel the Fuehrer will resent this.

—BONDS FOR THE U. S. S. ATLANTA!—

They Are Essential

The Fulton county commission has unanimously approved a move to increase the amount paid by the county to the county board of education from $20,000 to $35,000 per month. Special act by the legislature will be needed and a bill to that end will be introduced.

There can be no question that the retention of a competent teaching faculty in the schools is essential. It is, if anything, more important in time of war than in time of peace. To keep good teachers, however, it is necessary that more money for their salaries be provided. Otherwise many will, inevitably, find better paying positions in the fast spreading war effort which is calling for all available man power and woman power in the nation.

The additional $15,000 per month sought will be used only to pay teachers on a 12-month basis.

However, if the necessary bill is passed by the legislature, it will mean that the county commissioners will have to practice the most drastic economies in other branches of public service. The county, like other local governmental units, is facing a war-imposed shrinkage in revenue. It will, as other local authorities, have to eliminate every avoidable expense. With the added cost of this teacher salary appropriation contemplated, the need for economy along the line becomes more urgent.

Citizens who may be interested in some particular project calling for outlay of county funds should realize that, until the war is over, there will not be one penny to spend on anything that can be deferred.

The commission is anxious to conserve the county's financial resources but realizes that to do this as fully as it should be done, complete understanding of the situation, as well as their full co-operation, must be forthcoming on the part of all citizens.

The Coal Strike

The wildcat strike of anthracite coal miners in Pennsylvania is the most serious blow yet struck at this nation since the war began. With the possible exception of Pearl Harbor and Bataan, it is a worse setback to the war effort than anything our outside enemies have been enabled to inflict. There is strong probability that it will cost, in American lives lost, more than a major battle.

Shortage of fuel in the east for heating homes and other buildings is already serious. Lack of fuel oil had caused many home owners to change to coal heat, on the assurance there would be plenty of coal. Yet, if this strike continues, there will not be enough coal to go around. The result will be civilian deaths from cold and from the illnesses caused by cold.

If the strike continues, it will interrupt and delay the production of many essential weapons for our armed forces, which means many American boys on the various battle fronts will die, unnecessarily.

It must not be forgotten, however, that the striking miners have sons on the battle fronts just as have the rest of us. It is inconceivable that they would imperil the lives of their own without what they judge as imperative reason.

Westbrook Pegler blames the situation on the Wagner Labor Act, in that it places American workers in the power of the unions and their leaders, without protection from exploitation, with no recourse other than to be the helpless pawns of union chieftains.

The strike began as a strike against an increase in union dues. These dues are collected from the miners' pay envelopes before they receive them, by means of the "check-off." Later, the miners demanded an increase in pay, but this apparently came as an after thought.

The War Labor Board is holding hearings in Washington. The strike has been vigorously denounced by all authorities, including John L. Lewis, president of the Miners' Union, himself.

Yet the fact remains thousands of the strikers have not yet returned to work. Thousands of tons of coal, urgently needed for civilian and war use both, are not being mined. The situation is a direct stab in the back for the nation at war. That it is administered by American workers themselves makes it triply tragic.

In the words of Representative McCormick, house majority leader, "those responsible for the walkout are guilty of what might be termed treason."

Blackout Disgrace

Atlanta can be pretty well ashamed of the manner in which last week's blackout was conducted. Particularly those air raid wardens who were so forgetful of their teaching and so careless of their responsibilities to telephone the control center to find out whether or not it was a "real" test. And, also particularly, those store owners who still have not grasped the need of having all lights connected to a single outside switch so they may immediately be blacked out.

In the first place, those wardens who began calling headquarters were shirking their duty to their fellow citizens who would be depending upon them in the event of a real raid. Further than that, they were violating strict injunctions not to use the telephone during a raid alarm except in an acute emergency.

One raid some day may not be a test. Any such confusion as marked last week's blackout would add immeasurably to the toll of death and damage.

The leaders of Atlanta's civilian defense must tighten down their organization, weed out the incompetent and so order the conduct of wardens and civilians there is no repetition of disordered telephone barrages to the control center and other official points, no continued use of automobiles operating with full lights, unauthorized or ineffective dimout equipment or no lights at all. The ordinances governing blackouts provide that these motorists must pull to the side of the street and take cover. They should be enforced.

Every member of the CD organization in Atlanta would do well to re-examine his responsibilities and determine to do the job as it should be done.

Georgia Editors Say:

AXIS PEACE EFFORT SEEN.

(From The Albany Herald.)

Viscount Halifax, the British ambassador to the United States, doubtless had good grounds on which to base his recent prediction of an Axis effort to propose peace in order to avoid defeat, but he had even more substantial reason for making the assertion that such effort, when and if one is made, will prove wholly fruitless.

"We shall make no peace," he said, "until the forces of the Axis, east and west, north and south, have suffered final, unmistakable and irrevocable defeat."

From the standpoint of the United Nations, it is unthinkable that any peace would be acceptable short of a peace that would put an end to the power of the Axis criminals ever to plunge the world into another war of horror and unspeakable atrocities, such as the one in which we are now engaged.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

SERIOUS, YET LUDICROUS WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—If the matter were less serious there would be something ludicrous about the breast-beating tactics of Republican senators in protesting the appointment of National Democratic Chairman Edward J. Flynn as American minister to Australia.

After all the broken-down political hacks named to high diplomatic posts under the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations, it is downright laughable now for the Republicans to take this sort of a purist attitude as regards Mr. Flynn.

Any casual examination of the list of critics, in and out of the senate, will reveal the purpose of the attack. It is aimed not so much at the national party chairman as it is Mr. Roosevelt himself, who made the appointment.

Thus we find a syndicated article by David Lawrence, one of the leading figures in the anti-Roosevelt anvil chorus, in which he condemns the appointment as "one of those unfortunate mistakes in judgment" which will "do a distinct disservice to the war effort."

In the senate the attack was led by Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire, who was so anxious to make the headlines that he couldn't wait for the Foreign Relations Committee to file a report on the nasty charges he preferred. He presumed to impute guilt to Mr. Flynn on an irrevelant and insignificant charge which a grand jury had twice investigated and found baseless.

HOW IT STARTED The simple facts of the matter probably are that senate Republicans, long denied an opportunity to make political capital of a presidential appointment, have seized upon the Flynn nomination as a thing to be exploited. They are being aided and abetted by the usual chorus of Roosevelt haters on the outside.

All of the rumpus revolving around Chairman Flynn's appointment grows out of a charge made more than a year ago by an ousted disappointed office seeker that he had used New York City laborers and a small batch of discarded city paving blocks to pave a 35-by 40-foot court at his country home on Lake Mahopac, N. Y.

Indicative of the scope of the great crime, the space paved by the city blocks was no greater than the size of a comfortable living room. The man who made the charges had been dismissed by Mayor LaGuardia, and hence was a discredited public servant.

CASE TWICE DISMISSED When demands for an investigation were made, Mr. Flynn reimbursed the city. The grand jury, in dismissing the case, found that the party chairman "had never expressed any desire that this work be done under city auspices or by city employes without expense to him."

Later, other elements seeking to make political capital out of the national party chairman's position, demanded another investigation. Again the grand jury refused to see anything wrong.

Now senate Republicans are picking up where the two grand juries left off. It is all about nothing. Just an effort to smear Mr. Flynn and, through him, indirectly, the President of the United States.

There is little chance, of course, that the Republicans will succeed. But, under the circumstances, it might be just as well if they did. By the time Senator Bridges and others get through slandering Mr. Flynn his usefulness will be seriously impaired at his new post.

SERIOUS IN WAR None of this might be a matter of any great moment under normal peacetimes, but right now while we are fighting a war that demands the utmost in good will between the Allied Nations it is not particularly helpful to one of our diplomats to be sent away on an important mission with the stigma which his critics would attach to his name. Before the senate gets through with his nomination the Australians may well be dubious about his fitness. That would handicap his efforts from the start.

Simply because Mr. Flynn is no trained diplomat is no reason why he may not be eminently qualified for the responsibilities Mr. Roosevelt has imposed upon him. He is something more than a successful political leader; he is a businessman of repute, with a social and educational background that is far above the level of many of the diplomatic political appointees made under earlier administrations.

As a matter of fact, the diplomatic corps has been brought up to a higher standard under the Roosevelt administration than perhaps at any period of our history. The President has taken a pride in building it up to what it is. Only rarely has he deviated from a set course of utilizing career men at the various ministerial posts, such as the one to which Mr. Flynn is being assigned.

MORE THAN MINISTER But Mr. Flynn is to be something more than a minister. He is to be the President's special ambassador in the whole Pacific region, a sort of listening post combining diplomatic and other functions. It is ridiculous to say that his appointment is an insult to the Australians. He can be very helpful to them. Who better than he would have access to the President's ear?

Other charges that he was personally ambitious in seeking the appointment are equally ridiculous. After the 1940 elections, which saw him in the role of manager of the President's third-term campaign, he was offered a place in the cabinet—the postmaster generalship, which traditionally has been the reward of a successful national party chairman.

If Mr. Flynn had been ambitious, it doesn't stand to reason that he would have declined the cabinet offer. He did decline—or is so reported by his close friends—for the reason that he preferred to remain on the outside.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

From Grady Hospital To the Solomons.

You read that story in Thursday's Constitution, the story of the sinking of the U. S. S. Atlanta as told by Lieutenant Commander Carl C. Garver. He was medical officer on the ship.

Well, that name recalled an experience as a reporter, quite a few years ago.

First Dr. Randolph Smith, then Dr. Dan Elkin, I believe it was, had developed and perfected one of the most delicate operations known to surgery. It is the sewing together of a wound in the heart. The operation had, at that time, been performed some 12 or 14 times at Grady hospital.

Incidentally, since then I've read stories describing the same operation performed by surgeons in London or New York or other of the great cities of the world and, invariably, it is described as something new. The world seems to fail to give proper credit to the Atlanta surgeons who had performed the operation more than a score of times before these others dared it.

Well, to return, we heard about this marvelous operation and our managing editor, the late Francis Clarke, thought there was a good story in it. I went to Grady hospital to find out all I could.

There the superintendent told me there was an interne who worked with Dr. Elkin and who had operated on wounded hearts successfully, alone, on a number of occasions. He introduced me to the interne. His name was Carl C. Garver.

The Tools for An Operation.

When a man is stabbed or cut in the heart there is no time to waste if he is to be operated upon and live. Not that a heart stab is so quickly fatal as many people believe. There have been cases of men severely cut in the heart who have run several blocks to the hospital before collapsing. And who have lived to tell the tale.

Dr. Garver showed me the kit of instruments and tools they used. It was always kept ready, in a special container, sterilized and carefully locked up. Because when the call came there was no time to go hunting for a scalpel or forceps or something that had been misplaced.

He described the operation to me, showing the purpose of each instrument. There was, even, a heavy pair of clippers, similar to what a gardener might use, to cut through the ribs which had to be removed to get to the heart.

I didn't see the operation performed, there being no patient available. I saw two men who had undergone the operation a day or two before, however. One was recovering but there was little hope for the other.

At that time they had performed the operation 12 or 14 times and exactly half the patients had lived and fully recovered. Of the ones who died, all succumbed to poisoning which had entered the wound from the weapon used by the stabber. In other words, as Dr. Garver remarked, if the assailant in each case had been careful to have his weapon, knife or ice-pick, properly sterilized all would have recovered.

Years Later.

Years later I again met Dr. Garver. He was then associated with physicians who are our family doctors. I talked to him one afternoon when I went there for an examination myself.

Referring back, however, to those heart operations at Grady, it is apparently strange that every such patient was a Negro man. They hadn't had a white man with a heart wound since the first such operation. The reason? It is a somewhat peculiar difference between the races that, when fighting with a knife, the Negro aims at his victim's heart while the white man aims for his throat. This is practically invariably true.

Friends of mine whose profession makes them familiar with hospitals and doctors and surgery, have told me Dr. Garver is one of the most brilliant of the younger surgeons of this city. They attribute part of this brilliance to the fact he is ambidextrous. In operating, he never has to move to the other side of the patient. He simply takes the instrument in his other hand.

I don't suppose he was able to sew together any wounded hearts on the Atlanta, but I'll bet he performed some miraculous pieces of surgery since he joined the Navy, two years ago.

And, if this column violates any medical ethics, I'm responsible. The doctors concerned know nothing about it until they read it here.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Coal Strike NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—About this strike of the Pennsylvania hard-coal miners against a boost of 50 cents a month in their union dues, the second strike of miners against their union, you will hear this and that confusing argument about side issues.

But if we are going to solve this thing we must start at the root of the trouble and the root is the evil, deceptive Wagner act, a law to deliver the American workman into the hands of despotic and brutal union bosses which was put over on congress and the people disguised as a law to protect workers from the greed and cruelty of employers.

The schemers who did this had the benefit of a wonderful ballyhoo. The act, which was a New Deal party measure, was tagged with the name of Senator Robert Wagner, of New York, and he did the heavy-duty dirty work of pushing it through but it was not a one-man concept or a one-man job. It was called labor's Magna Charta, although it was, in fact, a writ to enslave the people with the hope and intent, however, that the union bosses would more or less unanimously go along with the New Deal and that the workers thus would be held in close control by the party.

But it takes cool intelligence to analyze a proposal amid the emotional excitement and bitterness raised by such a demagogic and dishonest trick as this act was and moral courage to fight against it when all opposition is instantly and clamorously denounced as Toryism. So the people didn't begin to realize what had been done to them in the guise of a great favor until they suddenly felt the handcuffs on their wrists.

May Cause Deaths True, these coal miners are stopping the production of close on to half a million tons of fuel at a time when oil is terribly scarce and eastern factories, office buildings and homes have converted from oil to coal on the assurance that coal would be abundant. They may cause some deaths among the civil population if not by freezing then by colds and pneumonia and, ultimately some loss of life among the soldiers in Africa and the Pacific through insufficiency of weapons, explosives and all. But these miners have their share of sons and brothers in the fight and they have no grudge against their country or their fellow-Americans. God only knows why any man would willingly become a coal miner. It is a terribly dangerous occupation and life in the coal fields is, at the very best, bleak, painful and hard.

They should not have struck at this time but who made it necessary for them to strike?

Well, you say who it was that turned them over, body and soul, to John L. Lewis by way of the Wagner act and you will have named those who are ultimately guilty of any tragic consequence of this strike.

Their boss, John L. Lewis, fixes their dues and assessments and does as he pleases with their money. Sometimes he squanders it on the organization of other unions, as in the case of the CIO, and other times he uses it to elect political candidates, as in the case of his contributions and loans to the Democratic party. In all cases, however, Lewis and his daughter and his brother, who draw big salaries and liberal expenses, are building power for themselves with the workers' money and the Wagner act pointedly contains no provision to protect the miners from despotism.

Miners Balked In the present case, Lewis by a process which he called a convention, voted to raise the dues 50 cents a month, a total of $6,000,000 a year, although the miners' treasury is swollen with idle millions. The miners involved in the strike balked. In the last similar strike of union men against their union, the Communists were at the bottom of the plot and they may be active in this one, notwithstanding their all-out-for-Mother-Russia propaganda of the moment. They are so devious that no outsider can say that they would not do a certain thing because it would be inconsistent with their current policy. They want to break Lewis because he broke with their CIO and they may figure that the loss of a few thousand or a few hundred thousand lives of American or even Russian fighters would be worth a victory over Lewis in the long run.

No authority in the Wagner act or any other law compels Lewis to run his union by those democratic processes which those who gave him this power profess to cherish.

Last November, at the CIO convention in Boston, Lewis' old colleague in the miners' union, Philip Murray, now estranged from Lewis, said Lewis had a diabolical mind, said he was universally recognized by the organized workers as an established national prevaricator, told of a plot against his own life and revealed that some Pennsylvania miners were warned by Lewis' national convention of the union that they would be expelled and thrown out of work for the rest of their lives if they dared to exercise their constitutional right of assembly and petition. They only wanted to hold meetings and pass resolutions pleading for permission to elect their own officers.

"These are the things that are going on," Murray said. "Organized despotism, the devices used by Hitler in occupied countries, are resorted to in the 20 puppet districts over which John Lewis has complete domination."

The New Deal knew the character and methods of Lewis just as Murray did when they were friends. They planned it that way and they have fought down every effort to have it any other way.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

NOTE FROM GUADALCANAL Sat around with Scott Allen after the party for the legislature Thursday evening and heard a great story.

His son, Graham Allen, is a private in the Marine Corps.

Some months ago the family had a message from the Marine Corps saying their son had been wounded in the early fighting on Guadalcanal.

They could not learn where he was hospitalized nor how bad was the wound.

They wrote to him, care the postmaster in San Francisco, the "war" address for all soldiers in the Pacific.

There followed weeks and weeks of waiting. Finally came an answer.

"The wound was nothing," he said. "I was in the hospital but a short time and am already back in the ranks again on Guadalcanal. We've got a job to do and we are going to do it. Don't worry about me. You folks at home keep your chins up."

That letter was one of the greatest thrills Scott Allen ever had. The Marine Corps has become one of his great enthusiasms and he would join up himself if they'd have him.

"I knew," he said, in speaking of this, "long before the government did, that after a man gets past 38 years of age he isn't fit for anything. You have to be Graham's age to get things done."

The letter from young Allen is the spirit of the Marines, and, I think, of our entire Army.

BILL HARTSFIELD'S SPEECH Mayor Hartsfield's speech to the legislature was, I imagine, brand-new information for most of them.

It may be news to many Atlantans that Fulton county ranks 14th in cotton production among Georgia's cotton counties and that it has more farms in it than most of the state's many rural counties. It ranks fourth in farm population and has one-eighth of the state's total population.

He was asking the state legislators to think of that when Fulton county's delegation takes the floor.

The mayor was trying to argue down the idea, which many persons have, that Atlanta is just tall office buildings and busy streets.

"Those of you who are kept busy and go from the hotel to the capitol during your stay here with the legislature, never get out and see the thousands of homes all of which contain people just like those in your home towns," he said.

"Most of the people in Atlanta," he said, "are cousins and aunts and uncles, brothers and sisters, of the people in your home town. Atlanta is a cross-section of Georgia. The people are just like those of your home counties."

It was a short, forceful presentation of a fact that Atlantans often overlook. Especially, I think, do city council and the county commissioners often forget that the two are tied together and that if Atlanta is not prosperous the county cannot be.

Bill Hartsfield does a good job.

GOOD CITIZENS Trudging along on Peachtree Friday afternoon, I met Cicero Kendrick, the very able representative from Fulton.

"I never thought I'd live to sit in a legislature as fine as this one," he said. "It is the finest legislature Georgia has ever had. They all want to do a good job for Georgia."

Even casual visitors at the capitol and the hardened political reporters say there is a different atmosphere at the capitol. There is none of the bickering, none of the atmosphere of fear and pettiness which existed before.

The act of cutting short the organization period saved the state several thousand dollars. There is so much work for this legislature to do that I do not see how it can finish in the allotted time. However, should it be able to do so, I think it would unhesitatingly adjourn and save additional money.

I think the state is fortunate in having a legislature of exceptional character. It is matched by the Governor. They respect him and believe in him. He has had nothing but confident expectation that the members themselves were as interested as he in the state. The two can work together.

It is enormously refreshing not to have shady deals being whispered about. It is tremendously encouraging that pettiness is absent from the capitol.

It was apparent at the time of the Talmadge defeat that there had been a revolution in the thinking of the people of Georgia. They wanted a Governor they could respect and they wanted good government.

The state government is meeting the demand.

CITATION FOR STAIR My nomination for the citation of the week goes to the Hon. Charles Stair.

Grabbed out of his chair by one of the comely gals in the Marcus show, entertaining the legislators with their act, the chairman of Atlanta's most successful Community Fund drive joined in the act with gusto and real enjoyment.

Those legislative members who also were grabbed out of their chairs for the "hoe-down" dance also seemed to have fun. There was just one who looked worried. His wife, he heard, was standing on the balcony looking on.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Red-Headed Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

My Dear Louise:

The easiest way to avoid disappointment in this world is not to expect perfection. And you will find people much more satisfactory when you learn to accept them as they are instead of judging them by your own notion of what they should be. Each individual is a perfect example of his kind of person.

You will fare better in a hard world if you realize that everybody is blind on one side. The thing that blinds us is self-interest. In all of our dealings with one another, each of us sees the things that promise to benefit him but cannot see the "rights" of the other person.

Years ago an old doctor in our town took in a young partner, agreeing to divide collections equally from the beginning. He said to himself: "This will be a losing arrangement for me at first, for I will give up half of my income and yet continue to do most of the work. But the young fellow will pick up practice, and in a few years he will be doing most of the work and I will get half of what he earns."

But the young doctor knew he had a soft snap and didn't try to win patients. He was lazy. He dodged work as much as he could.

After three years of it, the old man got tired of being imposed on and broke the partnership.

Do you know what the young doctor did? He saw only his own side of the case and felt grievously wronged. After we get used to a soft snap, we think it ours by natural right. He almost brought suit, and he told his friends the old doctor had no sense of honor and couldn't be trusted to keep his word. He couldn't see his own fault or realize that he had violated the agreement by failing to do his part.

That human weakness brought about the invention of written contracts. Does it mean that people are dishonest and not to be trusted? Not at all. You shouldn't rear back and look down your nose at humanity, or scorn mankind for being human. We are as we are, and we're not a bad lot.

The smart thing is to be realistic and cut your garment to fit the cloth. People make agreements to benefit themselves. They hear and see only the things they desire. Therefore the most honest people have misunderstandings, for each remembers what he hoped for.

Make no agreement except in writing and you'll seldom have a bad opinion of the people you deal with.

Love, DAD.

OFF THE RECORD—By Ed Reed

"We're having leftovers tonight—I didn't eat all my lunch at the factory today!"

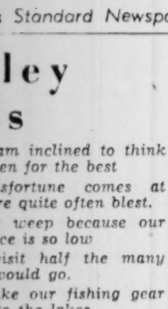

Dudley Glass

I sometimes am inclined to think things happen for the best Although misfortune comes at times, we are quite often blest.
Just now we weep because our gas allowance is so low
We cannot visit half the many places we would go.
We cannot take our fishing gear and travel to the lakes
This gas must be reserved for church, for funerals and wakes,
And thus we keep our conscience clear and free of guile each day
Because we cannot lie about the fish that got away.
We cannot take our golfing clubs and journey to the course
And lose four dollars worth of balls and cuss until we're hoarse;
No longer do we take our gun and call our faithful hounds
And go trespassing on some poor old farmer's posted grounds.
And thus the rabbits and the squirrels do not yield up the ghost
Because we sprayed a load of lead where it would pain them most.
We do not go to see the shows, for shows are now taboo,
So we are never sickened by the gibberish and goo
Of some deserted damsel, who is tearing out her hair.
Which fills our eyes with briny tears, our spirits with despair.
Behind the self-denials and the trials of this hour
I am disposed to think there is some motivating power;
For we are sorely tempted, from the cradle to the grave,
But now there's nothing we can do but stay home and behave!

Nothing To Lose.

Happiest men today, perhaps, are those who never owned an automobile—though they are rare.

If they had never acquired the coffee habit and didn't care much for sugar they are even more lucky.

If you never owned a car you were accustomed to walking and riding the trolleys. You picked a home close to a car line and a public school and you were all set.

Brother, you don't know what you're missing. And should be glad of it.

We hear talk about a return to the horse and buggy days, though we rarely see a horse and buggy or either.

But even back in that halcyon era comparatively few people owned a horse. City folk, I mean. And small town folk.

Everybody lived as close to his job as he could—and walked. It cost a lot of money to support a horse. Only the big shots kept carriages and coachmen.

In company with a number of acquaintances I have virtually solved my gasoline problem. With all the restrictions and regulations and red tape it's simpler to leave the old bus in the garage and either catch a trolley or thumb a ride from some chap who has gas and tires.

But it must be mighty tough on many folk who built little homes away out in the country where they could raise children and chickens. It's a long way to Tipperary—or Five Points.

Spotless Mansion.

It is gratifying to read that our new Governor's lady found the executive mansion in "spotless condition." But it is hardly news.

Nobody who knows Mrs. Talmadge could believe she'd move out and leave a house in such condition that a sanitary squad was necessary to clean it up. She wouldn't have lived in such a mess.

It is true that the Talmadge cow used to be tethered on the mansion lawn. But I have never heard that they kept pigs in the kitchen or goats in the living room.

But the retiring first lady must have put out a lot of effort at that—to assure herself against criticism from her successor.

I have never known a new woman owner or tenant to move into a house without feeling it necessary to roll up her sleeves, hire a couple of extra servants and give the place a thorough cleaning up. It may become grimy again—but at least she starts right.

I think Mrs. Arnall's statement that she found the mansion spotless is a tribute not only to Mrs. Talmadge but to herself. Mrs. Arnall must be an exceptional woman.

Officers at the preflight naval training school in Athens are bothered about the dog problem.

It seems that all the Athens dogs have taken a fancy to the cadets and won't stay off the field. And every cadet likes to play with a dog. Which interferes with duty.

The officers and the city council join in urging Athenians to keep their dogs at home. Else steps will be taken.

Good Morning

WINNING SOULS.

Sunday's lesson, John 4:1-42, presents Jesus in the role of winning souls. Following His conversation with Nicodemus, which we studied last Sunday, Jesus left Jerusalem and spent the remainder of the year preaching and baptizing converts in the outlying districts of Judea. At the end of the year, He entered Samaria, the central province in Palestine.

The Samaritans were native and subjugated Assyrians who were settled in central Palestine after the deportation of the 10 tribes following the fall of Samaria on 722 B. C. They were idolaters. The few Jews left in that area appear to have mixed with the Samaritans. The Samaritans claimed to be the servants of Jehovah. However, they accepted only the Pentateuch as their Bible. They had their own temple, which they claimed was superior to the temple at Jerusalem. Naturally, there was deep rivalry between them and the Jews. Having preserved their identity as Samaritans for seven centuries, although living in the midst of Jews, they were despised and regarded as outcasts.

Jesus was a Jew, having been born of the virgin Mary, begotten of the Father. He had the best of Jewish training. He saw with the best of Jewish eyes. He had come as the Saviour of the world. What would be His attitude toward the despised Samaritans, and other races?

Search the Scriptures for a single instance in which Jesus proved Himself less than the seeking Saviour of all men. Mind you, the seeking Saviour. He sought to win and save every person of every race of every nation of every tribe. And His command to us all and each who name His Name and profess to love and serve Him is to seek to win to Him every person of every race of every nation and of every tribe.

Let us go on with the passage before us. Here is a woman of Samaria—a very sinful woman, by her own confession. No Jewish teacher or preacher or missionary would have so much as spoken to this despised woman of this despised race. But Jesus looks at her, speaks to her. She is amazed, and frankly says so. But Jesus would not be detoured by her clever conversation. He sought a verdict, and got it. He revealed herself to herself, meanwhile revealing Himself as the Saviour of all who will take the Water of Life. She was saved. She became a glorious soul-winner, calling upon her entire community to "Come and see a Man which told me all things that ever I did; is not this the Christ?"

Parallel instances of how Jesus sought the salvation of the Samaritans might be added, if there were space. Likewise other races. Last Sunday we studied about Jesus explaining the new birth to Nicodemus, the cultured Greek. Tomorrow we see Him revealing the way of life to the despised Samaritan woman. He is, indeed, the Saviour of the world.

First Hollywood Stars Arrive in North Africa

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Movie Actresses Carole Landis, Mitzi Mayfair, Kay Francis and Martha Raye arrived in Algiers today to do a series of shows for Allied troops in North Africa.

They were the first Hollywood stars to arrive under sponsorship of the USO camp program. Their tour is expected to take two weeks and go as far east as Constantine and as far west as Oran and Casablanca.

Asked why male stars were not included in the variety program, Martha Raye replied, "What soldier around here wants to look at a man?"

Prompt action is necessary in replying to the attractive offers in the Want Ad pages of The Constitution.

Talmadge Car Is Bought by Original Owner

Savannah Motor Firm Buys Cadillac Sedan for $2,000.

The Chatham Motor Company, of Savannah, which sold the $3,690.80 Cadillac sedan to Governor Talmadge in October, bought it back yesterday for $2,000.

When State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. opened sealed bids for the automobile at noon yesterday, he found himself headed into a mystery which eventually cleared itself.

The high bidder was John Jones Jr., of Savannah, who made his $2,000 offer on a plain yellow sheet of paper, offering no street address or other clue as to his identity. Thrasher was worried. The OPA, noticing the advertisements for bids on the car, had telephoned Thrasher and warned him not to sell it to anyone without a priority order.

On the telephone, Thrasher was unable to find Jones in Savannah and check his right to buy the automobile with its five relatively new tires. As Thrasher was about ready to quit and sell the car to the next bidder—an Atlanta firm offering only $1,667.50—a telephone call came through from the Chatham Motor Company, and the man who was talking was the man who had sold the car to Talmadge for his two-month tour of more than 9,000 miles.

"Jones submitted that bid for us," said the Chatham company representative. "We're sending a certified check."

So, the car is going back where it came from, with the state losing $1,690.80 for Talmadge's two-month rides around the state.

Governor Ellis Arnall had ordered the sale of the sleek machine, declaring it was "too rich for my blood." Arnall rides in a smaller car.

The sale will be completed when the Chatham company produces the papers the OPA demands, said Thrasher.

Judge Feels 140 Gallons Lot of Whisky

Federal agents had no right to arrest William Dewitt Cronic and Roy Lee Harris for transportation of untax-paid whisky.

They only had 140 gallons and it was not for sale "but was intended for the personal use and entertainment of themselves and friends."

At least that's what Cronic and Harris' lawyers said in federal court yesterday in a motion to suppress evidence against the two men.

But Judge E. Marvin Underwood evidently felt that 140 gallons of liquor was a bit too much for home consumption.

He denied the motion.

Berlin Radios 'Do-or-Die' Plea To Soldiers Trapped in Russia

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—In a special broadcast intended for German troops on the Stalingrad front, the Berlin radio preached a death-and-duty sermon to Hitler's soldiers, it was disclosed today in a report to the Office of War Information.

The broadcast came on the heels of a Berlin German-language propaganda broadcast intended for European continental consumption, the OWI said, reporting that all Soviet attacks in the Stalingrad area "were shattered by the wonderful valor of the German defense."

But the program for the German forces was a lengthy admonition in which reference was made at least twice to soldiers "who see no sense in holding on."

Usually the German broadcasts for the forces on the Russian front play familiar melodies and transmit messages to the soldiers from relatives, it was noted.

The special broadcast, however, had only a short musical prelude before the preaching began.

"Personal wishes are of no account," the soldiers were told, OWI said. "It is up to the soldier to carry out orders in a spirit of blind and unquestioning confidence.

"There is a saying which has now become almost second nature to use: 'The Fuehrer knows the position and he will cope with it. It is our job to obey.'"

The objects of the Berlin broadcaster's remarks were the remnants of the 22 divisions the Russians say they have penned in front of Stalingrad. The Germans have attempted to take in supplies to the forces by transport plane, the only avenue of communication they now have.

There were reports yesterday from the Russian front that high-ranking German officers were being taken out of the trap by plane.

Storage Stocks Of Many Foods Show Decrease

Heavy Withdrawals of Perishables Made To Meet War Needs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that cold storage and meat packing plant stocks of most perishable foods on January 1 were materially lower than a year ago because of heavy withdrawals to meet war and civilian requirements.

Commodities held in smaller quantities included butter, cheese, eggs, poultry, frozen and cured beef, meat trimmings, and lard. Items stored in larger quantities included apples, frozen fruits and vegetables, pork, and lamb and mutton.

Withdrawals from storage during December were said to have been significantly heavier than normal on fruits, vegetables, cheese, eggs and poultry. On the other hand, stocks of frozen and cured pork and lamb and mutton were accumulated at a heavier than normal rate, due to the fact that this is the heavy slaughter season and sales for civilian consumption are limited under government conservation orders.

Pork Stocks.

The department said, however, that the increase in pork stocks was appreciably smaller than had been expected from the record 1942 hog crop.

Stocks of butter were well below normal on Januray 1, totaling only 25,104,000 pounds, as compared with 45,937,000 on December 1, and 114,436,000 on January 1 last year. January 1 stocks averaged 76,624,000 during the 1938-42 period.

Cheese stocks were more nearly normal but far below the record stocks of a year ago. They totaled 131,806,000 pounds, compared with 201,613,000 a year ago and 132,859,000 for the five-year average.

Stocks of eggs totaled 2,457,000 cases, compared with 4,539,000 on December 1 and with 3,097,000 a year ago. They averaged 2,770,000 for the five-year period.

Poultry Storage.

The department said the poultry storage situation was reversed completely during December when stocks normally increase. December 1 stocks of 193,263,000 pounds dropped to 188,037,000 on January 1. A year ago they totaled 218,392,000 pounds. The five-year average was 171,002,000.

Stocks of beef totaled 129,019,000 pounds on January 1 compared with 130,454,000 a month ago, 135,478,000 a year ago and 87,720,000 for the five-year average. Stocks of pork totaled 488,333,000 pounds compared with 291,841,000 a month ago, 468,538,000 a year ago and 484,568,000 for the five-year average. Stocks of lamb and mutton amounted to 35,058,000 pounds, compared with 26,462,000 a month ago, 7,936,000 a year ago and 4,859,000 for the five-year average.

Lard stocks totaled 83,540,000 pounds compared with 53,251,000 a month ago, 181,237,000 a year ago and 160,760,000 for the five-year average.

Apple holdings totaled 30,590,000 bushels compared with 25,778,000 a year ago and 27,767,000 for the five-year average. Stocks of frozen fruits totaled 187,929,000 pounds compared with 177,948,000 a year ago and 139,851,000 for the five-year average.

Stocks of frozen vegetables totaled 103,176,000 pounds compared with 92,929,000 a year ago.

Ex-Atlantan Said Missing In Action

Fletcher Crenshaw Jr. Was on Plane Which Left Bolling Field.

Technical Sergeant Fletcher Crenshaw Jr. has been missing in action since March, when his plane took off on a secret mission from Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., according to a telegram received by his mother, Mrs. L. G. Ferrell, of Seale, Ala., and formerly of Atlanta, from the War Department.

Crenshaw, who enlisted in the Air Corps in March, 1937, was trained at Chanute Field, Ill. He was 18 years old at the time of his enlistment and a student in an Atlanta high school.

His aunts, Mrs. J. H. Richardson and Miss Emye Crenshaw, reside at 2310 Boulevard drive, Atlanta.

Rites at Dublin For Crash Victim

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

DUBLIN, Ga., Jan. 15.—Funeral services for Staff Sergeant Jack Baggett, 24, United States Army Air Corps, of Dublin, who died in the crash of an Army bomber near Sherman, Texas, on January 6 were held here this afternoon.

The services were conducted in the First Baptist church, with the Rev. Grover F. Tyner Sr., pastor, the Rev. Dr. C. D. Graves, former pastor, and the Rev. Anthony Hearn, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Burial was in North View cemetery.

Sergeant Baggett was one of nine members of the bomber's crew killed in the crash, which occurred during a cross-country flight.

Sergeant Baggett was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Morris Baggett, and surviving are his maternal grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Bass, of Bennettsville, S. C.; five aunts, Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, of Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. Jack Hey, of Tampa; Mrs. William Simcoke, of Bennettsville; Mrs. T. F. Curry, of Wauchula, Fla., and Mrs. Frank Gerden, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and two uncles, Charles E. Baggett, of Dublin, and Harvey J. Baggett, of Savannah.

MISSING—Fletcher Crenshaw Jr., a technical sergeant in the Army Air Corps, has been reported missing in action since March by a War Department telegram received by his mother, Mrs. L. G. Ferrell, of Seale, Ala., and formerly of Atlanta.

First a Lady, Then a Wave, Navy Declares

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—A man is a gentleman before he is a commissioned officer, the Navy has decided, and a woman is a lady before she is a WAVE.

Therefore, when the senior officer (male) indicates he wishes the junior officer (female) to precede him "then she is supposed to go without any fuss or features," in spite of normal military etiquette based on rank, it was stated in a Navy publicity release reprinted from the Bureau of Personal Information bulletin.

Another knotty problem has been solved—addressing a senior WAVE. They have been addressed as "Sir," "Ma'am and "Miss."

"If the officer is being addressed by name, it should be Miss (or Mrs.) Jones, following the naval usage of addressing all officers of rank of lieutenant commander and under by that form," it was decided.

"If the officer is not being addressed by name, simply use the rank, 'Aye, Aye, Lieutenant,' or 'Good morning, Lieutenant.' The usage thus follows the Marine Corps or Army custom."

General policies relating to military courtesy toward and by WAVES has been established on the basis that "the Navy has no intention of 'defeminizing' the women in the service" and wants them treated with as much courtesy as is consistent with military practice, the Navy declared.

A Benning Poll

It has been some time since a letter from Fort Benning and this correspondent have caught up with one another. There is one, in particular, that may interest the clients, inasmuch as it shows that Johnny Doughboy has a mind of his own and isn't afraid to use it. Let that be a warning for Hirohito and Company.

First Lieutenant G. H. Teague, Infantry, representing, as he says, a group of service men from all sections (probably the east particularly) forwards the result of their observations for the season. Lieutenant Teague's letter follows:

"Dear Jack:

"The football season is over. Too true for us easterners. During the season about 25 of us, being deeply interested in football, had many enjoyable arguments and wagers, as can be expected. I still owe Joe Livingston a steak dinner from B. C. versus Alabama—and rightly so! This group represented EVERY section of the country, and thought you might be interested in our conclusions at the end of the season, inasmuch as your column was always read and sometimes even enjoyed! You're entitled to your opinion, and the following represents more than just mine . . .

"(1)—Ohio State was easily the No. 1 team in the nation—in a class by itself. The Rose Bowl this year turning out to be merely a glorified high school fracas compared to any of Ohio State's major games this past fall.

"(2)—Georgia did have a really good football team but little to offer in the way of comparison with any former leading teams of other years.

"(3)—Sinkwich the most overrated football player in history. Monk Gafford being far superior in every way. Trippi the 'forgotten man' of southern football.

"(4)—B. C.—the flop of the year. They were easily swamped by H. C. and Alabama, so that took care of them. Auburn also took care of Georgia. That's good enough for us. Of course, if our job depended on it, we might have overlooked that one also, but we would rather be open-minded about it.

"(5)—Georgia and U. C. L. A. represented two of the weakest teams to ever meet in the Rose Bowl, as the dull, uninteresting game proved. Bill Stern is our No. 1 announcer, however. Even he couldn't make a ball game of it. The weak team won—the weaker team lost.

"(6)—B. C. vs. Alabama—the outstanding bowl game of the year—by far!

"(7)—Paul Brown has already forgotten more about football than you will ever know about sport writing.

"(8)—I regret to say that you are our No. 1 flop as a sports writer. In our opinion, and this is unanimous, calling anyone a jerk has no place in the column of any writer. Especially yours. There's a little story about throwing stones and glass houses.

"In closing, I wish you the best of luck, because, brother, you need it! Hope you'll again be on hand next year to see Georgia's smashing victories over Kentucky, Chattanooga, Furman, Davidson (getting mixed up, huh, podner?), Cincinnati, Florida. Better stop here or I'll be listing Auburn and Alabama. Can't expect an upset every year. Good luck to Georgia also. Maybe 1943 will see them smash their own records. Completing the most passes in practice, for instance. That's our No. 1 laugh for this year.

"Sincerely,
"FIRST LIEUTENANT G. F. TEAGUE,
"Infantry, Fort Benning."

Head the List

Thanks for reading us so diligently, Lieutenant, and let us tell you that a result of our sports department poll places you and all of your buddies from the east at the head of our list.

I know all about glass houses and stones, and if Mr. Brown chose to initiate false charges, he was wide open for anything that followed. He has said since that he was misquoted in the east.

It seems to me that you-all have taken a lot for granted in your conclusions. But that's perfectly all right with us. You're welcome to your opinion, and through this column you'll always find a medium of public expression. Let the chips fall where they may.

I only hope this same spirit in football that exists between sections will always continue. It is a healthy sign. If everyone agreed, there wouldn't be anything to it, would there?

Wishing you the best of luck, at all times, Lieutenant, and looking forward to hearing from you again when a new season rolls around—it has been a lot of fun threshing this thing out—I remain,

Sincerely yours,
JACK TROY,
Sports Editor.

Praises Dobbs

Phil Barrett, after seeing Glenn Dobbs perform against Tennessee, believes Tulsa's ace is better than anything the south had to offer in 1942.

Here's Phil Barrett—

"Dear Mr. Troy:

"I note from your column, the past day or two, the controversy as to the respective merits of southern and midwestern football is still going on. Of course, the south has the edge by a decided margin. However, it is my opinion, in spite of Sinkwich being the Heisman Trophy winner, the south does not have the best back. My unqualified opinion is that Glenn Dobbs, of Tulsa, should rate this distinction. If I had been asked one minute before the Sugar Bowl game started who the nation's top back was, I would have said Sinkwich, but after watching the game and seeing Dobbs in action, I can truthfully say he is the best back I ever saw. I am sure most of the 70,000 fans present at the Sugar Bowl will agree with me. Among other things, he completed 10 out of 11 passes in the first quarter against Tennessee, seven in succession resulting in a touchdown. The Vols knew he was going to pass every time, but they couldn't stop him. That's how good he is. Furthermore, I have never seen that many passes completed against Tennessee.

"Please don't think I am a southerner turned traitor to the stronghold of football, but Glenn Dobbs is everything Tulsa writers said he was and more. I say these things of Dobbs impartially, my only reason being to give credit to a truly wonderful player.

"Yours very truly,
"PHIL BARRETT,
"Atlanta, Ga."

From all accounts, Dobbs must be fine. But we're going to string along with the boy who broke all the all-total offense records and proved to have courage beyond what might be termed the contract.

Power in Marines

Uncle Sam got another fine quarterback yesterday when Joe Power Jr., of West Point, Ga., joined the Marines. He'll be leaving for officers' training next week.

Joe played quarterback on those famous Phony Smith teams at Mercer. He was a good one. He had to be to make the grade back there.

J[illegible] called to say he had entered the biggest game of them [illegible] and was happy to be doing his part.

Derby Captured By Hell's Bells

WAYNESBORO, Ga., Jan. 15. (AP)—Hell's Bells, a pointer owned by Claudia Phelps, of Aiken, S. C., was chosen top dog in the open derby today, as the Georgia Bird Dog trials ended.

Second place went to Nellie Doone, owned by Euclid Claussen, of Augusta, Ga., while the third award was won by Singing Heels, owned by Frank B. Norman, of Providence, R. I.

Setters won all three top spots in the open all-age event Thursday. First place going to Hillbright Susanna, owned by M. G. Dudley, of Greenville, S. C.

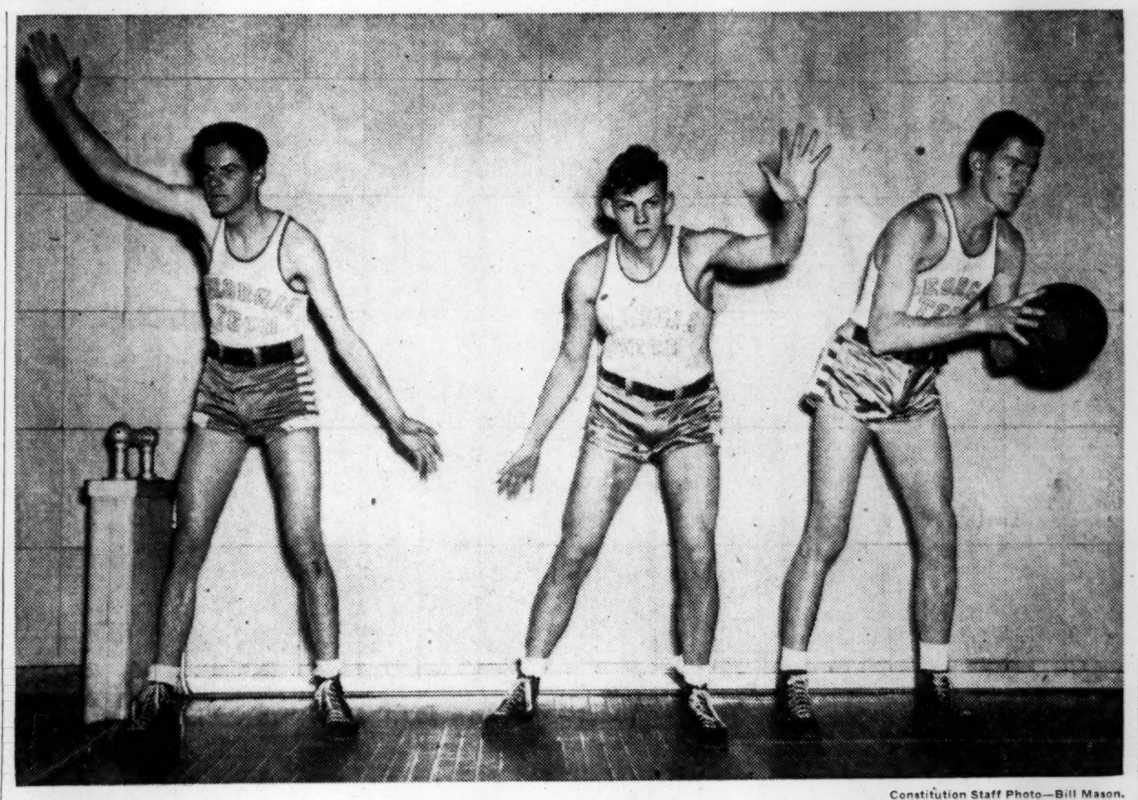

Russell Divides With N. Fulton

Russell and North Fulton split a twin-bill last night on the North Fulton floor.

The Wildcats defeated the Bulldogs, 49-18, while the North Fulton girls' team turned back the Wildkittens, 13-10. Russell's offensive was sparked by Pruitt, who dumped in 19 points, one more than the whole North Fulton team. Kirbo contributed 12. Thomas made nine points for the losers.

Harris and Pope, with five each, showed the way for the North Fulton girls.

Giants Protest Yank-Dodger Dates Conflict

Exhibition Games at Yankee Stadium Target of Attack.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Ford Frick, president of the National league, disclosed today he had received a formal telegraphic protest from the New York Giants over an exhibition series which the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees have arranged in conflict with games scheduled by the Giants and Washington Senators.

Frick said Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, had wired him "The New York club objects to the Brooklyn club invading its territory for exhibition games at Yankee Stadium, April 17-18."

Frick said he knew nothing of the sudden feud between the New York clubs except what he had read in this morning's papers and would make no comment until he had investigated.

Branch Rickey, president of the Dodgers, said he also had received a telegram from Stoneham and didn't expect to answer it although he said the message was not offensive.

"I just don't consider that I am a party to the argument," he explained. "I regret the situation very much, but the arrangements for our games with the Yankees were left entirely to Mr. Barrow."

Edward G. Barrow, president of the Yankees, fumed at the mention of a feud, declaring "We've got those games booked and they are going to stay booked. I'm not going to get into any silly arguments with anybody. There's no feud as far as we're concerned."

He acknowledged that he had received "some kind of a telegram from Mr. Stoneham" this morning.

"I don't know whether I will answer it or not," he added. "I don't know any reason why I should."

Pirates To Train At Muncie, Ind.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates have selected Muncie, Ind., 379 miles from here, as the site for their spring training, President William E. Benswanger announced today.

The Bucs, having trained in California 18 of the past 19 seasons, thus effected a better than 90 per cent cut in travel.

Municipally-owned McCullough Park, Ball State Teachers' College athletic field and Muncie High school field house, the latter with a capacity of 7,500, will be available to the Pirates, Benswanger said.

In addition to meeting other major league clubs training in that area, the Pirates will arrange games with Muncie semi-pro teams, Ball College and Purdue, and possibly service teams at Fort Benjamin Harrison.

Blaik Assigned To Army Duties

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Earl H. Blaik, head football coach at the U. S. Military Academy the past two seasons, returned to active Army duty as a lieutenant colonel today and immediately was assigned to the post here.

Indications were that he would be available for the 1943 football campaign but it was emphasized, however, that he now was subject to military orders and could be moved with little notice.

Blaik was graduated by the Military Academy in 1920 and the Cavalry School at Fort Riley, Kans., a year later. After putting in some time as an assistant coach here, he moved to Dartmouth only to return to the Point two years ago.

City Basketball

CITY LEAGUE.

Three high scoring basketball games were played Thursday night in the opening round of the second half season of the City League, with the favorites winning in each case, but being pressed in each game. Opening the night's fracas was the meeting between Lawson General Hospital and the Motor Record Unit and when the final horn sounded, the Hospital lads were enjoying the long end of a 66-to-57 count. Blackwell, of the winners, led in the barrage on the baskets by bagging 28 markers while Manning followed closely behind with 23 points to his total.

Dental College Greens, continued the high scoring attack on the hoops in winning from Fort McPherson, 62 to 47, with Rentz counting 22 of his squad's markers. The "Molars" led by only one point as the halfway station was reached holding a 28-to-27 margin, but in the closing 20 minutes this was increased by points scored by every member of the team. Naval Reserve Air Base, co-holders of top honors in the first half with Dental College were hard pressed to overcome an early lead of the Atlanta Motor Base to come through for a 54-to-43 count.

Celtics Arrive Sunday To Rest For Big Battle

Pro Wizards Realize Big Job Ahead Against Soldiers Monday Night.

The Original Celtics, intent on keeping their prestige high and taking no chances of being upset, have called off a scheduled Sunday game in Alabama and will rest in Atlanta on the Sabbath, which is the eve of their important struggle with a dangerous Cochran Field team at Warren Sports Arena Monday night.

A Celtic defeat could not be regarded as a great upset Monday night. Cochran Field, loaded with reserve strength and superbly conditioned, has hit upon a plan of running the world's most famous basketball team ragged. And the Soldiers have the talent with which to do the job. They have a smart team whose roster includes three former pro stars who gave the Celtics fits in eastern pro circles. And they honestly think they will win this game.

Scores of games during the past week indicate the Celtics have reached a peak for their game here. After a slow start caused by the late reporting of Veterans Davey Banks and Rusty Saunders the pro kings have come into their old form and have averaged more than 65 points per game in their last six starts.

Three street car lines run within two blocks of Warren Arena. Good preliminaries, starting at 7 o'clock, will send Georgia Power Girls against Walco and the flashy Southern Dental College boys against unbeaten Central Cafe.

Tickets are on sale at Adam Hat Store and Reeder & McGaughey.

L. S. U. Renews Moore's Contract

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Louisiana State University's board of supervisors today renewed for another year its contract with Coach Bernie Moore whose football teams have won three straight annual games over the ole war skule's traditional rival, Tulane.

It was announced the terms of Moore's employment remained the same, at $10,000 yearly salary.

Coach Moore's 1942 team won seven games, while losing three, in what was considered L. S. U.'s toughest in a series of hard schedules. He has been the Tiger grid coach for eight seasons, having a record of 54 victories, 25 defeats and three ties.

Keuper Married To Miss Hains

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Kenneth Erwin (Ken) Keuper, University of Georgia footballer, and Louise Reynolds Hains were married here today while All-America player Frankie Sinkwich stood by as best man.

The ceremony was at the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection. The Rev. W. A. Reiser heard the vows.

College and football mates were ushers: George Poschner, Brooks Pierce, Joe Polak and Walter Maguire.

Lois Keuper, of Waukesha, Wis., Ken's sister, was maid of honor. The bride is the daughter of Richmond county Solicitor George Hains. Mr. and Mrs. Hains held a reception following the ceremony.

Richardson Bows To West Fulton

Paced by Roy Hartsfield, who scored 18 points, West Fulton last night defeated Richardson, 33 to 23, on the Owls' court. The Rams' attack was led by Kite, with seven points.

Boys' High Comes Back To Beat Typists, 32-25

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.

Commercial High definitely has quit being the doormat of the Big Six basketball league, and last night the rejuvenated Typists gave Boys' High, unbeaten in loop play this year, the stiffest battle they have had to date before bowing, 32 to 25.

Coach Shirley Watkins' surprising quintet carried the fight to the fast-stepping Purples, and held a slight lead throughout the first three quarters, but Tommy Touchstone and Jordan Maynard found the range in the final stanza and paced a Purple surge which carried the charges of Shorty Doyal well to the fore in the last six minutes of play.

It was the great foul shooting of the Typists which kept them eye-to-eye and better with the Purples most of the route. The Pryor Streeters sank 11 of the 14 charity throws they tried, while the Hurricane dumped in only six of 16 efforts. It must be recounted, too, that the Typists' chances were hurt considerably when H. A. Smith, gangling guard who was taking them off the backboard nicely, fouled out in the third quarter.

Maynard and Touchstone, with 11 and 10 points respectively, were the dynamite in the Purple charge, and it was a good thing for the Parkway Drivers the duo was right, for usually high scoring Ray Echols and Scott Reynolds managed to get only nine points between them in the face of furious guarding by the Typists.

Abe Rousso and "Country" Lowry, with ten and eight points respectively, were the dangerous boys for the Typists, though little Bud McCall, Smith and Eli Carlisle played magnificent floor games.

The score was tied three times—at 15-15, 16-16 and at 22-22.

The G. M. A.-Marist game was postponed and will be played at 5:30 p. m. today on the College Parkers' court.

In the opening game at Grady court, Tech High used 13 men and won as they pleased from Fitzhugh Lee, 49 to 14. Squatty Hank Levinson ripped the net chords for 16 points, and Bill Miller and Jim Hinson flipped in eight tallies each. Howard Couch was the only Fitzhugh player to give the Smithies trouble. He played a bang-up floor game and tossed in seven markers to spark the losing cause.

Purples To Play On Celtic Card

The powerful Boys' High cage quint, unbeaten in Big Six league play this year, will play in one of the preliminary games on the New York Celtics-Cochran Field program Monday night at Warren Sports Arena, it was announced last night.

An opponent for the Purples has not yet been selected.

Deacons Elevate Coach D. Walker

WAKE FOREST, N. C., Jan. 15. (AP)—D. C. Walker, head football coach at Wake Forest since 1937, has been appointed director of athletics. He succeeds Jim Weaver, now a lieutenant (j. g.) stationed at the Preflight School in Athens, Ga.

Walker will continue to coach varsity football. He indicated that intercollegiate athletics would be continued at Wake Forest if at all possible.

Dodgers Land West Point as Training Site

Old Army Game Comes Out in Favor of Branch Rickey.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The old Army game, a game of skill, a game of chance, came out today in favor of the Brooklyn Dodgers, whose exploits are continuing to be as fantastic under the benign hand of Branch Rickey as they ever were for Larry MacPhail.

The Dodgers have been waiting for weeks for the Army to decide whether it would need the field house at Yale or whether the Brooklyn baseball club could train there.

But today the same Army which has been holding up the decision at Yale opened its arms and welcomed the Dodgers into the field house of the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Actually the training base of the Dodgers, and their International league affiliate, the Montreal Royals, will be five miles from West Point at Bear Mountain, N. Y., a Hudson river resort.

But Rickey, in making the announcement, said the ball clubs had been granted permission to use the huge West Point field house in inclement weather—which is all they wanted at Yale.

Rickey was jubilant at stealing a march on the other major league clubs, none of whom had considered West Point on the assumption that if there were any facilities anywhere in the country that the Army would not relinquish they would be at the military academy.

Luttrell Loses To Kirchmeyer In Charity Bout

Cowboy Pinned Twice by Oklahoma Veteran; Roche Winner.

Big time wrestling here made its first start of 1943 last night at the City Auditorium with a three-match charity card which was packed with plenty of action from start to finish.

In the headliner, Roland Kirchmeyer, who hails from Oklahoma, defeated Cowboy Luttrell, the wild and woolly Texan, two falls to one. The lanky wrestler from the Sooner state dropped the first fall after 11 minutes of rough action. Luttrell slugged, bumped and kicked him around and then sprang off the ropes, knocking Kirchmeyer to the floor. He immediately pounced on him for the fall.

Kirchmeyer took charge of the Cowboy in the next two sessions, however, winning the second fall in 14 minutes. He then came back to pin Luttrell in the deciding fall. Kirchmeyer weighed 248 pounds, while Luttrell checked in at 242.

The semifinal tussle featured Rudy Strongberg, 235 pounds, and Al Massey, a former boxer, who weighed 230. The match, an hour affair, ended in a draw. Strongberg captured the first fall and Massey the second.

The opener went to Dorv Roche, of Scranton, Pa., when he downed Tiny Clint Kennon, of Texas, after 10 minutes of skirmishing.

All proceeds from the program above expenses will be turned over to The Constitution's Ten Opportunities Fund. Although the crowd was not as large as usual, the charity fund is expected to receive a sizable check from the promoter of the program. The wrestlers, as well as all officials, contributed their services.

Decatur Stops Fulton in Pair

Decatur sidetracked Fulton twice last night at the Red Bird court, the DeKalb boys winning, 37-18, after the girls had won by a 22-13 margin.

Billy Hodges scored 11 points for Decatur, while Daniels' 8 topped Fulton's efforts. Bradford, of Fulton, led the scoring in the girls' game with 10 points, and Limback had 8 for Decatur.

LaMotta Upsets Jackie Wilson

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Using some of the most unorthodox fistic tactics seen in these parts in years, as well as a 16-pound weight edge in direct defiance of state boxing laws, Jake La Motta came through with one of the season's top upsets tonight by outpointing the highly touted California Jackie Wilson in 10 rounds in Madison Square Garden. La Motta weighed 161; Wilson 145.

KITTANNING, Pa., Jan. 15.—(AP)—The draft board of Jackie Wilson, NBA featherweight champion, disclosed today he would be summoned for physical examination in a few days. Wilson is a resident of Leechburg.

Same Lineup As Last Week Due To Start

Game To Begin at 8:30 at Georgia Tech Gymnasium.

By JACK TROY,
Constitution Sports Editor.

Georgia Tech's up and coming basketball team, which needs only time to be a factor in the conference scramble, plays its second game of the season tonight, meeting the Vanderbilt Commodores on the gymnasium floor out at The Flats.

In last week's opener the Jackets knocked off Rex Enright's hitherto undefeated Gamecocks of South Carolina, 33 to 23.

Jacket scoring was led by Wes Paxon, Captain Jake Lance and Alternate-Captain Charley Scruggs. Paxon connected five times from the floor, while Lance came up with nine points and Scruggs with eight.

There were a lot of rough edges in the opener. Spot passing was faulty and the players, as a whole, seemed a bit over-anxious. But this is to be expected of a team that has only one letter man.

The Jackets aren't aged in the hardwood at this point, but they will improve with play. They have enthusiasm and ability. And that makes for success.

Coach Roy Mundorff probably will start the same combination with which he opened against South Carolina.

Bill Johnson and Wes Paxon man the forwards, with Captain Lance at center and Charley Scruggs and Herb Bergman at guards.

Tonight's game swings under way at 8:30, and a thriller of the court is in prospect.

Last week a capacity crowd attended, and there were only a couple of cars parked near the gymnasium. Public transportation facilities in the vicinity of the gym are adequate.

Vanderbilt Outlasts Georgia Team, 39 to 35

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 15.—The Vanderbilt Commodores defeated Georgia's rookie basketball team, 39 to 35, before a small crowd here tonight. It was the Bulldogs' third straight loss.

The winners were led by Dave Hambrick and Scobey with 10 points each. James Griffeth, freshman center, faced the Bulldogs with 13, while Captain Charlie Anderson added 12 more.

The Bulldogs led for 11 minutes in the first half, but Scobey, Tommy Owens and Hambrick put Vandy ahead with field goals. At half-time the Commodores led, 20 to 15.

Midway in the second half Frankie Christie sparked a Bulldog uprising which fell short.

Athletics Donate 20 to War Duty

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15.—(AP) Dick Fowler, Philadelphia Athletics' hurler who pitched the longest night game in major league history when he lost a 1-0 contest to the St. Louis Browns in 16 innings here last June 5, has joined the Canadian army, Manager Connie Mack announced tonight.

Mack said that Calvin Coolidge McIrvin, rookie pitcher, has joined the U. S. Army, bringing to 20 the number of Mackmen now in the armed forces.

Gas Ban Blasts Bowling Alleys

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Bowling, with many of its 16,000,000 nation-wide participants located in the 17 Atlantic seaboard states, has been hard hit by the ban on pleasure driving.

A survey by the Associated Press today showed that in many areas, especially those where alleys are located in suburban sections, business has fallen off as much as 25 per cent. Some leagues either have been broken up, suspended operations temporarily or reorganized into smaller circuits.

Richards Signs Tiger Papers

DETROIT, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers announced today that veteran Catcher Paul Richards, former manager of Atlanta of the Southern Association, had agreed to salary terms to become the club's first player to sign a 1943 contract.

For many years the first to sign has been Charley Gehringer, now in the Navy.

The terms of Richards' contract were undisclosed, but the Detroit club is reported to be offering 1942 salary levels in most cases although bonus clauses are eliminated. Last year Rudy York missed a $5,000 bonus for failing to bat in 100 runs. The club long has frowned on the practice of fixing bonuses based on attendance.

Lewis Wins Victory; WLB Orders Men Back To Work

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—John L. Lewis won a victory over miners revolting against his leadership today when the War Labor Board ordered anthracite strikers to go back to work and submit their grievances to the processes provided in their working contract.

This order was exactly the stand which Lewis, in a defiance-breathing speech to the board, had contended was the only one that WLB could take.

Andrew Yevchak, president of the Tri-District General Mine Committee, had demanded the board intervene, declaring there would be a general strike in the anthracite field Monday unless he could take home word that the board would consider the issues—a $2-a-day increase in wages and elimination of a 50-cent increase in dues.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, called the Tri-District Committee an "unauthorized, self-constituted, constitutionally illegal group" and declared that Yevchak and his "outlaw associates" in "this made enterprise" would be held to accountability under the laws of the union.

Must Go Back To Work.

In effect, the order meant that the strikers must go back to work under exactly the conditions prevailing when they walked out.

Lewis said only a constitutional convention of the U. M. W. could change the dues and declared the existing contract would remain in force until it expired next April 30.

At that time, he promised the miners, he would get them a "wholecome increase" by the process of collective bargaining, regardless of the WLB's wage control policies.

The question left hanging by the proceedings was whether the strikers—Lewis estimated the current number at 10,000—would go back to work or defy both their union officers and the WLB's new order.

Yevchak said: "The decision speaks for itself. The testimony we heard here will be carried back to the rank and file. We'll have to ask the men to abide by the contract. I don't know what the men will do."

"Their Patriotism."

Chairman William H. Davis, of the WLB, told local union leaders here for a board hearing on the strike that he was impressed by their "patriotism and good faith."

"We think the exercise of the authority of the international officers and the local officers can get them back to work and we order them back to work," he continued.

"You have the authority of the government of the United States to help you carry out your duties as officers of the union in this emergency, and we expect you to do it."

Lewis, waiving a chance to be the first witness, listened impassively while a procession of men from the coal area told the board the strike was a rank-and-file revolt against the dues increase as well as a demonstration for a wage increase.

Captain Ginn Is Suspended By Hornsby

Released From Duties With Police Department Pending Probe.

An order suspending Captain E. W. Ginn from duties with the police department pending investigation of charges by the police committee of council, was issued yesterday by Chief Hornsby.

In the order, Chief Hornsby assigned Lieutenant C. F. Allen to command the police watch Captain Ginn had commanded.

Suspension of Captain Ginn, a department veteran, followed the trial and discharge of Patrolman D. T. Barge Thursday night by the police committee, which, following the Barge investigation, severely criticized Captain Ginn for neglect of duty in not disarming Barge when he decided that Barge was intoxicated.

The charges against Captain Ginn, Chief Hornsby said, will be "conduct unbecoming an officer" and "neglect of duty."

Adams Found Innocent in Slaying Case

Jury Deliberates Over Five Hours Before Reaching Verdict.

J. D. Adams, suspended city patrolman, was found innocent last night of the murder of Sam J. Simmons, railway engineer, on September 9. The jury returned its verdict at 7:30 p. m., after deliberating more than five hours.

Adams has been on trial before Judge A. L. Etheridge, of Fulton superior court, since Wednesday. He was accused of killing Simmons with his blackjack after he and his partner had arrested him on a charge of drunkenness.

The defendant admitted striking his prisoner, but declared it was in self-defense, after he had been dragged from the front seat of the patrol car and kicked in the stomach.

W. M. Cook Dies At Oglethorpe

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

OGLETHORPE, Ga., Jan. 15.—Funeral services will be held at the Baptist church in Oglethorpe at 11 o'clock Saturday morning for W. M. Cook, who died at his home here last night. He had been ill since May.

Son of the late Emanuel and Betty Cook, pioneer citizens of Macon county, he at one time lived in Americus, Pelham and Atlanta. He owned and operated a machine shop in Oglethorpe. He operated the first light plant in this city, and in recent years he has been engaged in farming and operated large grist mills in Oglethorpe and Cordele. He was a deacon in the Baptist church.

In 1911 he was married to Miss Margaret Kelly, of Pelham, who survives him. Survivors from an earlier marriage to Miss Elizabeth Hogg are three daughters, Mrs. Bess Russell, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. W. C. McCorkle, of Americus, and Mrs. Tom English, of Perry; a son, Robert Frederick Cook, of Knoxville, Tenn.; a brother, R. E. Cook, of Atlanta, and a sister, Miss Nettie Cook, of Oglethorpe.

Benning Soldiers Want 'Best' for Boys Abroad

FORT BENNING, Ga., Jan. 15. (AP)—Take it from the boys in service here, the troops overseas are going to get first call on everything, including butter and other scarce items, "if we have anything to say about it," and there'll be no grumbling.

Says an editorial in the Fort Benning Bayonet, post publication: "Give us oleomargarine or jam or just plain bread. But make sure the boys in the fight now get 'firsts' and 'seconds' on everything—and there'll not be another grumble from us."

Summing up, the paper said: "We know these little details count in battle. We're in this fight that one day we'll have all the gas we want—five new tires on the car—and all the luxuries that are scarce now.

"We're glad to give up butter, for one thing, and anything else the boys 'over there' may need—and WE won't complain once."

Atlanta Recreational Program To Ask Help

If curtailment of WPA affects the city's recreational program, financed for several years through the federal agency, city council's parks committee will ask council for $27,000 a year to continue the activities.

The committee yesterday voted to indorse the city-wide play program and to ask council for supplementary funds to continue it if the projected curtailment of WPA eliminates local parks expenditures.

Atlanta Officer Guards Canal From Attacks

Lieutenant J. J. Craft Emplacement Aide in Panama.

A COAST GUN EMPLACEMENT, SOMEWHERE IN PANAMA.—(Delayed)—(AP)—With a near-deafening crash, a shell weighing more than a ton and costing $3,000 roars from the mouth of a giant gun and heads toward a target some 20 miles at sea off the entrance of the Panama Canal.

In rapid-fire order, four more shells scream seaward from this jungle emplacement to complete a salvo of this largest type of defense gun in the Caribbean area.

It is routine firing practice but at the same time proof of the precision working of the canal's key defenses.

Complete scores cannot be revealed, but almost immediately observers at sea were able to report three consecutive hits on a target towed behind an Army tug. The gun crew of Sergeant Michael J. Petrowski, of Mound City, Pa., was "hot" this day.

While this firing is called routine the coast guard guns of all calibers are constantly at work, and the shipping news columns in the local papers bristle with warnings daily to vessels to avoid target firing areas.

To reach this jungle-hidden emplacement we joined a group of observers headed by Major General Homer R. Oldfield, of Los Angeles, commander of the coast artillery, and Lieutenant Colonel Nelson K. Lyons, of Greenfield, Mass., post commander. Despite their inaccessibility, Oldfield frequently visits a half dozen of these posts in a day.

This battery was commanded by Captain R. G. Hand, of Bloomfield, N. J. The emplacement of officers were Lieutenant R. E. Leigh, Hernando, Miss., and Lieutenant J. J. Croft, Atlanta, Ga.; the range officer was Captain E. P. Ellis, and the post ordnance officer was Captain John J. Leiberman, Little Rock, Ark.

We took our positions by gun No. 2. The ranges came in; the men moved quickly, smoothly.

Then the signal to fire came, and the first shell, marked with the V-for-victory roared seaward. Each succeeding shell was addressed to an Axis leader, from Hitler down, except the last one which was marked simply "the end."

19,000 Striking Miners Await Hearing's Reaction

HAZLETON, Pa., Jan. 15.—(AP) The 19,000 striking miners in Pennsylvania's anthracite field pursued a watch-and-wait course today as their leaders, union officials and operators told the War Labor Board at a hearing in Washington why they left their jobs.

Their future action hinges on reports representatives bring back regarding the board's attitude toward their demand for a $2-a-day wage increase and insistence that the United Mine Workers rescind a 50-cent-a-month increase in union dues.

Victory Gardens Assured Of Adequate Fertilizer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—To encourage victory gardens, the War Production Board and the Agriculture Department assure adequate supply of fertilizer.

"Victory garden fertilizer," an announcement said today, "will be available throughout the country. It will contain three per cent nitrogen, about 85 per cent of which is organic, together with eight per cent of phosphoric acid and seven per cent potash."

This fertilizer will be available for victory gardens, but the agencies warned that it must not be used on the lawn, flower beds, trees or shrubs.

Seek To Test Sanity Of Frances Farmer

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Jan. 15. (AP)—Movie Actress Frances Farmer was taken from the county jail to the psychopathic ward of the General hospital today and a petition was filed in superior court asking that she be given a sanity hearing.

The petition was filed by Dr. Thomas Leonard, Alhambra, Cal., psychiatrist, who said she told him: "I hear voices day and night and they bother me." Dr. Leonard also stated that the blonde actress feared people were "putting things in her food and drink" and this caused her to be ill and distracted.

The date for the sanity hearing was not fixed.

At Seattle, the actress' mother, Mrs. Lillian V. Farmer, told interviewers she was selling her West Seattle home and would go to Hollywood to help her daughter.

"A layman can't understand an emotional, high-strung person like Frances," the mother said. "I think I know more about her than any person in the world. We always have been close. Right now, what she needs is six months or a year of complete rest.

"Frances is suffering from her past year's experience of frustration in her career. She has never been happy or satisfied since she was separated from her husband (Leif Erickson) and divorced. The marriage just wasn't satisfactory, but she has been unhappy ever since they parted."

FARMER IN THE JAIL—This is the way Movie Actress Frances Farmer looked as she answered a booking sergeant's questions before beginning a jail term of 180 days for violating parole on a drunk driving conviction.

Club Protests 'Harsh Sentence'

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Genius, Inc., professional theatrical club, recorded itself today as being "shocked" by the treatment accorded to Frances Farmer, stage and screen star, given a six months' jail sentence in Hollywood for violation of probation on a drunken driving charge.

A telegram, which Shepard Traube, producer of "Angel Street," said he framed, was sent to Police Judge Marshal Rickson, Los Angeles police court, bearing the names of more than 300 theatrical people protesting his "harsh decision," in the Farmer case.

Among the list signers were John Golden, producer; Eddie Dowling, actor and producer; the Yacht Club Boys; Claire Luce, actress; Reginald Denham, director of the stage play "Nine Girls," Dick Osborne, Maine summer playhouse owner, and Leo Shull, president of Genius, Inc.

3 Cox Missives Introduced at Radio Hearing

Communications Written In Behalf of License Application.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Over objections that the purpose was to pave the way for possible criminal prosecution of Representative Cox, Democrat, Georgia, a Federal Communications Commission examiner admitted introduction at a hearing today of two telegrams and a letter from Cox to a former FCC engineer asking his help in behalf of an application pending before the commission in 1940.

The telegrams, sent from Camilla, Ga., Cox's home town, and dated October 16 and November 11, 1940, and the letter, dated October 18, 1940, from Camilla, were in behalf of an application by the Herald Publishing Company, Albany, Ga., for a license to operate a radio station in that city.

Renewal Sought.

A permit subsequently was granted and the publishing company has been operating the station, WALB, since early 1941. The present hearing is on the company's application for renewal of the license and for authority to transfer it to the Albany Herald Broadcasting Company, a new corporation.

The Cox communications were addressed to Andrew D. Ring, former engineer of the broadcast division of the FCC. Photostatic copies were identified by him on the stand today.

The first telegram expressed hope that data sent to the commission by W. J. Holey, Atlanta engineer, met requirements, and added, "if not please wire me thank you."

Admits Interest.

The November 11 telegram asked Ring "Please see Herald Publishing Company application gets hearing before commission Wednesday." Armistice Day in 1940 fell on Monday.

In the letter of October 18, 1940, Cox wrote Ring:

"You have been so kind to me that I do not want to make a pest of myself, but my interest in the application of the Herald Broadcasting Co. is so great that I feel that I must continue to come to you for help."

Then the letter referred to the necessity of any additional data from Holey, if any, in which event Cox wrote he would go to "Atlanta and stay with Holey until he furnishes it."

Documents Challenged.

DeLacy Allen, of Albany, counsel for the publishing company and for the broadcasting company, challenged admissibility of the documents as irrelevant and immaterial.

"There are only two purposes for their introduction," he asserted. "A, to prejudice the Federal Communications Commission which at this time is under the likelihood, if that is the correct word, of being investigated under a resolution introduced by Congressman Cox.

"And B, that they may further be used as an attempt to get evidence into the record at this time on which it would be hoped to base criminal prosecution of Congressman Cox."

Purposes Denied.

Marcus Cohn, commission counsel, denied these were the purposes, and said the documents already were in the commission's confidential files. He also said the FCC could not institute criminal proceedings.

Examiner Don Harris admitted their introduction after saying he could not see that they would have any "effect whatsoever on any possible prosecution of Congressman Cox."

Ring told the hearing the Cox communications were in line with others he had received from members of congress while connected with the commission, but added they "did ask of me things I could not deliver."

Tounsley Testifies.

Following Ring's testimony, C. D. Tounsley, of Albany, secretary-treasurer of the publishing and broadcasting companies, told the hearing when the publishing company first decided to seek a radio station late in 1939 the matter was discussed with Cox.

He testified the representative was "tremendously interested in a region radio station in his district."

As a result of conferences with Cox, Tounsley said he came to Washington and obtained an interview with William Dempsey, then general counsel of the Communications Commission.

Dempsey, he said, was asked for advice on procedure and whether it would be best to apply for the license in the name of the publishing company or set up a new corporation.

Course Suggested.

The one time FCC counsel, Tounsley continued, suggested the best course to follow would be to apply in the name of an established corporation. Tounsley added, however, it was his intention from the start to set up a new corporation and subsequently apply for a transfer of license. Many of the stockholders of the publishing and broadcasting companies are identical.

The hearing was called to determine whether the broadcasting company has actually been operating radio station WALB, when the license is in the name of the publishing company. Tounsley introduced numerous documents which he contended showed the publishing company actually operated the station.

Representative Cox, in previous testimony, has been identified as a stockholder in the broadcasting company. It also was testified he received a $2,500 fee for legal services. Witnesses for the two Albany corporations, however, contended his services were legal and ethical and not in conflict with a federal law prohibiting members of congress from practicing before agencies of the federal government.

Unfounded rumors that women's shoes were to be rationed in the near future, Thursday started a rush of buying in practically all local women's footwear outlets, it was reported yesterday. One department store experienced such large crowds that customers had to be turned away 45 minutes after the store closed.

Shoe store telephones rang constantly to inquire if rationing had been ordered and virtually all customers purchased more than one pair of shoes, it was reported.

E. A. Thornwell, Georgia state OPA director, yesterday declared that there is no basis of fact to the rumor. "No rationing of shoes has been ordered," he said.

Pets Can't Be Choosy—Get No Special Meat Provision

An inquiry from J. C. Wardlaw, of 942 Ponce de Leon avenue, who sent in an application for recaps about two weeks ago, brought the reply from the Fulton county ration board that he may look for action on his application in the next week or so. The local boards are faced with a particularly heavy amount of work at present, but are handling the large number of applications as quickly as possible.

One of the most unusual questions yet to come to the Ration Counter was from the owner of a dog, who asked what special provision would be made to allow additional purchases of fresh beef for the dog after meat rationing begins.

The answer is that no provisions will be made for pets, regardless of how choosy their appetites may be. The owner of the animal must either share her own meat with the dog, or find it another food, of which there are many that are adequate.

Following are more questions and answers about point rationing, as released by OPA in Washington.

1. Q. What is going to be done about people who have an excess amount of the rationed goods on hand when rationing begins?

A. Everyone applying for War Ration Book Two will be required to fill out and sign a "consumer declaration" form stating exactly the amounts of processed foods on hand. Book No. 2 will have stamps removed for excess stocks, after a moderate allowance is made, and this, in effect, will compel the applicant to use up these stocks before buying more. Heavy federal penalties can be applied to those making a false declaration.

Stamps Not To Be Deducted For Home-Canned Goods

2. Q. Does this declaration mean that I will have to declare the fruits and vegetables I canned at home last fall?

A. No. Nothing you have packed at home need be declared and no stamps will be deducted for these home supplies. It is expected, of course, that you will use your home-canned goods instead of buying commercial products and thus help your government spread food supplies as widely as possible.

3. Q. There seems to be some question about dried and dehydrated vegetables and things like dehydrated dog food. Are these covered by rationing?

A. No. Only dried and dehydrated fruits—applies, peaches and the like are on the ration list. Dry vegetables like navy beans, split peas and lentils are not included.

4. Q. What about chicken soup, canned beef broth, turtle soup and other soups made of meat or poultry stock containing few, if any, vegetables?

A. All canned soups are rationed, no matter what their content. But not dehydrated soups.

5. Q. But why ration all canned soups, why not only those made all or largely from vegetables?

A. Because all canned soups are interchangeable. If we can't get one kind we are very likely to get another. If we only rationed vegetable soups, a great demand would develop for meat and chicken soups, with the result that these would disappear from the shelves in a very short time.

6. Q. Why is not canned salmon and canned meat included in the present rationing program?

Housewife's Inventory To Report Total Number of Canned Goods

A. Because ordinarily canned meats and fish are not used interchangeably with canned vegetables. The present program was intended to cover processed fruits and vegetables.

7. Q. Will the housewife have to make an inventory of her canned goods by products—so many cans of peas, so many of beans, so many of peaches, and so on?

A. No. She will merely report the total number of vegetables, the total of fruits, and the total in the other classifications.

8. Q. Can the housewife use the ration books of all the members of her family when she goes shopping? How about the maid who is furnished meals?

A. Yes, she may take along each ration book issued to members of her household, just as she does now in buying sugar or coffee with War Ration Book One.

Two Beauties Are First Female Sheet Metal Trades Delegates

If you glanced at the tapered hands and polished fingernails of the Misses Vera Anderson and LaVerna Kruger, you might believe they belonged to a couple of bridge-playing social butterflies.

But turn those hands over, and if they let you have a feel you'll find several callouses as big as 50-cent pieces, callouses these work-handed daughters of toil have developed in all-out labor to whip the would-be triumvirate of Germany, Japan and little Italy.

They're up to the neck in the war effort in the Pascagoula, Miss., shipyards and just took a breathing spell to attend the Southern War Conference as the first women delegates to a labor convention from the sheet metal and construction trades.

Until she took a NYA course in McPherson, Kans., about a year ago, pretty LaVerna Kruger, 21, was working in a dime store for $10 a week. Now she makes 75 cents an hour as a machinist's helper and runs every machine in the shop except a lathe.

But her work doesn't stop with standing over a drill press or a threading machine.

"I get in plenty of good old hammering with a 10-pound sledge," she said last night, flexing a well-shaped bicep as a demonstration, "and I've ot some good callouses, too."

Miss Anderson, 19, and on the slighter side, used to be a shoe saleslady, a waitress and "a little bit of everything" before she found her niche on the ways. Now she's welding shell plates together and boosting the sale of war bonds. She's been doing this for four months now and has found as much as $85 in her weekly pay envelope.

Because she hadn't missed a day from work and had done her job efficiently, she was chosen to raise the company's flag during the Pearl Harbor Day exercises and has been made vice chairman of the Rickenbacker squadron of civilian defense workers.

Romance waits at the turnstiles when Vera and LaVerne turn to each morning, and it stays there until the closing whistle blows.

"Oh, yes," said Miss Kruger, "there's plenty of romance in our lives, and that's the very reason we are here. My romance is in the Marine Corps, so I don't have much trouble at the plant."

As for Miss Anderson, she finds the trim slack suit she wears gives her more glamor than an evening gown from Hattie Carnegie's place.

"It makes you feel just as important as if you had on a WAAC uniform."

fiscal year on June 30. The house appropriations committee already has recommended its passage.

"I believe we will have it in the senate by Wednesday night," said Harris, referring to the appropriation measure. He added that he thought the legislature would be able to present the bill to Arnall for his signature by the end of the week or by the following Monday at the latest.

Before the senate and house adjourned their organization session, five days ahead of schedule, Harris and Senate President Frank Gross thanked the members for the co-operation they had shown and Harris said "I think we have gotten off to the finest start I have ever seen in my 21 years in the legislature."

Governor Arnall also sent a message to each branch, commending them for the "expeditious manner" in which they had started the session and asserted it showed the legislators were committed to practicing economy as well as talking it.

He extended his "sincere wishes for a most harmonious regular session."

A bill to abolish the State Planning Board created in 1937 was introduced in the senate yesterday by Senator Henry C. Arnall, of Newnan, uncle of Governor Arnall.

The measure makes no provision for recreating the board. A few weeks ago former Governor Talmadge appointed Columbus Roberts, of Columbus, to be director of the board.

In the gubernatorial campaign last summer, Roberts, former commissioner of agriculture and a candidate for Governor in 1940, threw his support to Talmadge. He was appointed to succeed Henry T. McIntosh, editor of the Albany Herald, who resigned several months ago.

Another measure introduced by Senator R. M. Hall, of Crawford, would require all high schools receiving state aid to offer courses in bookkeeping, shorthand and typing in the 10th and 11th grades beginning next year.

Senator Everett Millican, of Atlanta, proposed a bill that would have juries in criminal cases pass only on the innocence or guilt of defendants and leave to the judges the imposition of sentence. Juries, however, could still make recommendations, Millican said.

Parents Can Drive to Exercises If They Take Sweet Girl Grad

If there are enough sweet girl graduates to go around, Atlantans may drive their automobiles to high school graduation exercises this month, OPA has ruled.

Dr. H. Reid Hunter, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of high schools, yesterday said parents and friends of students from the five senior high schools may drive their cars to the schools only if they have the magic formula with them—a graduate.

Regional Rationing Attorney Harold E. Verrall advised Hunter that actual participants in the exercises and members of the faculty may travel in automobiles on the basis that the driving will be considered "in pursuit of regular and recognized course of study."

Mere visitors, including members of the families of the graduating parties, must use public transportation unless they ride in the same automobile with those eligible to travel in cars.

Hunter asked for the ruling after some students expressed concern that the ban on pleasure driving might bar their parents and friends from attending the graduations.

Boys' High school exercises will be held January 25; Commercial High, January 26; Tech High, January 27, and Girls' High, January 28. Washington High school will hold its exercises January 22.

Vichy Reports 100 Arrested in Lyon

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Vichy radio said tonight that more than 100 persons had been arrested in Lyon for "illegal activities."

The arrests were directed against the underground movement in France, the radio said.

The Lyon municipal council has been removed from office "because it proved itself unable to cope with the present situation," the report added.

Plans to Unionize Bell Plant Studied

Plans to organize aircraft workers of the Bell Bomber plant at Marietta were discussed here yesterday at a meeting of the International Association of Machinists, held in connection with the AFL Southern War Conference.

George L. Googe, southern AFL represenative, said efforts would be made to organize the workers so they "could obtain the benefits the union has been fighting for over a period of more than 60 years."

The IAM was organized in Atlanta 65 years ago, and now has a membership of more than 250,000 aircraft workers, Googe said. It is the third largest union in the country, he added.

Lowering of Voting Age Favored by Dr. Gosnell

Dr. Cullen B. Gosnell, professor of political science at Emory University, expressed the hope yesterday Georgia students will launch a state-wide campaign to lower the voting age to 18.

Long a champion of student political life, Dr. Gosnell said, "Without a doubt youths of 18 are thoroughly capable of making a wise choice of leaders," and he repeated Governor Arnall's words, "If they're old enough to fight, they're old enough to vote."

The political scientist advised immediate reorganization of the Student Political League and the sending of a delegation to express students' viewpoints to Arnall.

"Now is the time to strike," Gosnell said. "By a quick and decisive show of student opinion, I believe the legislature may take favorable action on the measure at this session."

LaGrange Red Cross Ships Many Articles

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

LAGRANGE, Ga., Jan. 15.—The local production rooms of the Red Cross this week made a shipment of articles which establishes a total for the quarter of 85 sweaters, five pairs of socks and 15 beanies for refugees and 246 Army sweaters, 24 Army mufflers, 21 wristlets, six helmets, 35 Navy sweaters and 70 pairs of Navy socks, for our men in the armed forces of the country.

This report was released yesterday by Mrs. J. C. Guinn, production chairman.

Boat With 10 Is Missing In British Torpedoing

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Three men died in the torpedoing of a small British merchant ship in the Atlantic early in December, and a lifeboat containing 10 others is missing, survivors reported upon arrival here from South America.

Forty-seven persons, including two women passengers, reached safety after being in boats from three to ten days.

Two torpedoes struck the ship, the second exploding just as the vessel went down. The submarine surfaced but remained a distance away from lifeboats.

Negro Electrocuted At Tattnall Prison

REIDSVILLE, Ga., Jan. 15.—(AP) Raymond Dowdell, Negro, was electrocuted at State Prison today for the murder of a Negro woman in 1938. He was convicted in Muscogee superior court at Columbus on November 18, 1941.

A conference of workers in the children's division of the Glenn Memorial Methodist church, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the church. Miss Emma Jane Kramer, of Nashville, and Miss Mamie Heinz, of Atlanta, will speak.

Dr. Atticus Webb, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Georgia, will speak at 11 a. m. tomorrow at the Avondale Baptist church. Dr. Webb for 15 years was engaged in this same type work in the states of Texas and Florida.

Dr. John L. Yost, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, announces the election of the following members to the church council for 1943-44-45: L. M. Anderson, W. H. Boozer, W. T. Callahan Jr., L. A. Krimmel and J. C. Norvelle Jr.

The Rev. Manford G. Gutzke, professor of English Bible and religious education, Columbia Theological Seminary, will serve as supply pastor of the Gordon Street Presbyterian church beginning tomorrow. He will speak at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Elder Allen W. Croley, of Cataula, will speak at 11 a. m. tomorrow at the Atlanta Primitive Baptist church. This will be his first sermon at the Atlanta church.

Dr. Clarence Roy Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church, will address the Java Club of the Y. M. C. A. at 9 a. m. tomorrow. Service men and members of the "Y" are regular attendants at these services.

Dr. R. A. Forrest, of Toccoa, will begin a series of evangelistic services at the Atlanta Gospel Tabernacle at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. The meeting will continue at this hour each night except Saturday through next Sunday. Dr. Forrest founded the Toccoa Falls Bible Institute and is now president of this school.

ADDRESSES CLASS—Eugene Gunby, prominent Atlanta attorney, will address the Wesley Fellowship class of the Peachtree Road Methodist church at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Eugene Gunby Set For Church Talk

Eugene Gunby, prominent attorney and president of the Atlanta Boy Scout Council, will speak at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow at the Wesley Fellowship class of the Peachtree Road Methodist church.

Gunby's subject will be "The Bread of Life—The Bread That Doesn't Get Stale." He will be introduced by J. Elmer White, principal of North Fulton High school, and regular teacher of the Wesley class.

SPEAKS HERE—Dr. D. G. Barnhouse, world traveler and lecturer, will speak at the Westminster Presbyterian church during a series of special services beginning at 11 a. m. tomorrow. He will be heard twice daily Monday through Friday.

Dr. Barnhouse ToStart Special Sermon Series

Philadelphia Pastor To Speak Monday Through Friday.

Dr. Donald Grey Barnhouse, pastor of the Tenth Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, Pa., will begin a series of special sermons at Westminster Presbyterian church at 11 a. m. tomorrow. He will speak each day at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Dr. Barnhouse studied at Princeton University and Princeton Theological Seminary, leaving in 1917 to enter the Army. He served until the end of World War 1 in the Air Corps as first lieutenant and while in active service was ordained into the ministry.

Leaving the Army shortly after the Armistice he served with a relief organization in Belgium, then he went into France where he did college work for several years. He returned to the United States in 1925 when he took a position as assistant in the history department of the University of Pennsylvania. He began his ministry in 1928, and since this time has traveled around the world visiting mission fields.

Dr. Warfield Will Speak at DecaturChurch

He Was Prisoner of Both German and Red Army Forces.

Dr. Gaither Paul Warfield, for 15 years superintendent of Methodist work in Poland, will speak at 10:55 a. m. tomorrow at the Decatur First Methodist church.

He has been a prisoner of both the German and Russian armies. During the opening phases of this war, he was imprisoned by the Russians, but later was released to return to Poland. After America entered the war, he was taken prisoner by the Germans and sent to a concentration camp. He was one of the prisoners exchanged with England. He is now doing special work for the board of missions.

During his stay in Poland, Dr. Warfield married a young Polish woman, who will accompany him here. He received his degree as doctor of divinity from Dickinson College, Pennsylvania.

Dr. Pettway ToBeOrdained To Priesthood

Ceremony Will Be Held Today at St. Timothy's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Roy Pettway will be ordained to the priesthood at 11 a. m. today at St. Timothy's Episcopal church, Kirkwood, by the Rt. Rev. John Moore Walker, bishop of Atlanta.

The Rev. Theodore S. Will, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, will preach the sermon, and the Rev. Father S. C. W. Fleming, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, will read the litany. The Rev. Mr. Pettway will be presented to the bishop by the Rev. Theodore V. Morrison, rector of the Church of the Incarnation.

The Rev. Mr. Pettway was ordained as deacon last March in Evanston, Ill., and since his graduation from Seabury-Western Theological Seminary last June has been minister-in-charge of St. Timothy's church. He will continue at this church as priest-in-charge.

Admiral Stark To Go to London

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Admiral Harold R. Stark will return to London soon to resume command of United States naval forces in European waters and perhaps to assist in straightening out the political tangle in North Africa, it was indicated here today.

Rear Admiral Alan J. Kirk, Stark's chief of staff, who has been in command during the latter's absence in the United States, reminded reporters at a press conference that Admiral Stark already is the official representative of the United States, with the Fighting French government here.

Kirk added no details, but the fact that he introduced the subject suggested to some correspondents that Admiral Stark might be discussing the North African situation at Washington and that he might have a prominent part in seeking a solution to the political puzzle after his return.

Presbyterians Will Dedicate Rose Window

Druid Hills Church To Honor the Late William White.

The Druid Hills Presbyterian church tomorrow will dedicate a new stained window in the sancturay in memory of the late William Cotnam White, former devoted member of this church. The window is a gift of his daughter, Mrs. J. Austin Dilbeck.

At the time of his death in April, 1935, Mr. White was superintendent of the church school. He was associated with the church in one capacity or another since 1921.

The new rose window depicts the life and work of John Calvin, French Protestant reformer and theologian. In one scene he is pictured writing his institutes. The window was designed and executed by Henry Lee Willett, of Philadelphia as were the other windows in the sancturay.

Dr. J. W. Beagle Retires From Baptist Post

Illness Forces Him to Retire; 4 Missionaries Are Named.

Dr. J. W. Beagle has retired as field secretary of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention, a position he has held since 1926, Dr. J. B. Lawrence, executive secretary-treasurer, announced yesterday.

Dr. Beagle, a native of Kentucky, has been connected with the home mission board for 26 years, Dr. Lawrence said, the last 16 of which he has been field secretary in charge of work among Indians, Mexicans, Chinese, Italians, French and the deaf throughout the south. Since becoming ill several weeks ago, he has been living at Cynthiana, Ky.

Dr. Lawrence also announced that four new missionaries had been appointed in the department over which Dr. Beagle had supervision. They are: Rev. and Mrs. T. H. York, work on the Italian field in Tampa, Fla.; Rev. Enoch Ortega, Spanish worker at Santa Fe, N. M., and Rev. Regorio Perez, Mexican worker at El Paso, Texas.

Christian Church Elects Officers

New officers of the First Christian church, elected at a recent meeting, will be installed at 11 a. m. tomorrow. The pastor, the Rev. C. R. Stauffer, will speak on "Magnifying Our Offices."

The officers elected are: Financial secretary, Miss Margaret E. LaBoon; treasurer current expense fund, O. N. Ewing; treasurer missionary fund, S. C. Shelton; church clerk, H. D. Bolles; trustee for three years, W. H. Bruce; elders for three years, C. A. Johnston, O. C. Rutledge, W. C. Suttenfield and R. J. Thompson; deacons for three years, S. L. Adams, J. E. Belcher, C. A. Rector To Explain Church's Rationing Troubles in Sermon

The trials and tribulations of a minister during these days of gas rationing and tire shortages are really something, and the Rev. T. V. Morrison, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, is going to talk about them tomorrow to get it off his chest.

"Who's Rationing Religion?" is the subject of his sermon for 11 a. m. tomorrow, and he announced that Holy Communion will be held at his church at 8 a. m. tomorrow "regardless of OPA," and that the young people's service league will meet at 6:30 p. m. "in spite of bureaucrats."

"I'm going to call a spade a spade," he said. "There is an insidious movement going on and the bureaucrats are trying to put the churches out of business."

He referred to the ban on pleasure use of cars, and pointed out that though cars are allowed to be used on Sundays for regular services when no other means of transportation are available, much of a church's business goes on during the week.

Choir practice and church business sessions, commonly held on week nights, are essential to the church, he averred.

However, the rector said the OPA and the bureaucrats are not all to blame for the "rationing of religion." People who belong to churches and do not attend services are rationing religion and they are the real ones to blame, he aserted.

But the "bureaucrats" are "gullible victims—well-meaning and trying to do their best, but they are causing confusion among church people," he declared.

Morrison said he thought the OPA high officials eventually will straighten everything out all right themselves.

Miss Courtenay, Lt. Starnes Are Wed at Decatur Church

The marriage of Miss Rose Evelyn Courtenay and Lieutenant James Louis Starnes Jr., U. S. Naval Reserve, was solemnized last evening at the First Methodist church in Decatur.

Rev. J. W. O. McKibben, former pastor of the church, officiated in the presence of relatives and friends. Miss Frances Burgess, organist, and Mrs. Russell Harrison, soloist, presided a program of music.

Palms and ferns formed the background for the altar. Baskets of white gladioli and candelabra holding white gleaming tapers completed the arrangement. Clusters of gladioli and tulle marked the pews reserved for the families.

Serving as ushers were Norris King, Bob Kruger, Stanley Bishop and Robert Morris. Miss Frances Starnes, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, wore a model designed with a pink satin bodice and long full tulle skirt.

Misses Alice Clements and Corinne Huguley were bridesmaids. Their gowns were made of blue satin and tulle fashioned like the maid of honor's. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of pastel flowers.

Little Coralee Huguley, young sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a frock of pink fashioned like those of the other attendants and carried a nosegay of pastel flowers.

The lovely bride was given in marriage by her father, John B. Courtenay, and they were met at the altar by the groom and Lewis Thomas who acted as best man.

The bride's beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown of ivory satin made along princess lines. The long-waisted bodice was shirred and designed with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. The long full skirt ended with a train. Her tulle veil was held to her hair with a coronet trimmed with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of orchids and bride's roses showered with swainsona.

Mrs. Courtenay, mother of the bride, chose a gown of turquoise crepe beaded in coral. A cluster of bronze orchids adorned her shoulder. Mrs. Starnes, mother of the groom, wore gold crepe trimmed with sequins and her flowers were bronze orchids.

After the ceremony the bridal couple received their friends in the church parlor, after which they left for a trip. For traveling Mrs. Starnes chose a three-piece suit of defense blue with brown accessories and a shoulder bouquet of orchids.

Snyder-Hubbell Betrothal Told

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Jan. 15. Mr. and Mrs. William R. Snyder, of Garden City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Harriett Jane Snyder, to Lieutenant Ralph Peters Hubbell, air corps, army of the United States, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hubbell, of Garden City.

Miss Snyder attended Lincoln School of Teachers College, New York; Garden City schools and Smith College, class of 1944.

Lieutenant Hubbell attended Garden City schools and Sibley School of Mechanical Engineering at Cornell University. He is a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity. At present he is assigned to Westover Field, Chicopee Falls, Massachusetts.

The marriage will take place in the near future.

Sorority Meets Sunday.

The Epsilon Nu chapter of the Tau Phi Lambda sorority, of Maple Grove No. 86, Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, will hold a called meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. at the Henry Grady hotel for the purpose of transacting some important business for the sorority.

Macauley—Witek.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Macaulay announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Nell Macaulay, to Private Joseph Edward Witek, of Chicago, Ill., at present stationed at Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

The marriage took place January 11 at the Baptist pastorium at Conyers. Rev. W. Adams officiated.

Miss Barbara Ann Morrison Weds Lt. Burnett at Ft. Riley

FORT RILEY, Kan., Jan. 15.—Miss Barbara Ann Morrison, of Atlanta, Ga., was married here today to Lieutenant Edwin Moore Burnett, of Fort Riley and St. Mary's, Pa., at the post chapel.

Chaplain Robert M. Man officiated at 5 p. m. in the presence of a large number of friends among the military and civilian circles. A musical program was presented by Mrs. Charles Edwards.

The chapel was decorated with baskets of white lilies placed amid a background of greenery.

Usher-groomsmen were Lieutenants Theodore Pugh, Phillip Rush, Edwin Selby, Bernard C. Johnson, Angelo Lenzi and William Dritt. Lieutenant Thomas Baylan was the best man.

Miss Nancy Todd was the maid of honor and only attendant. She was gowned in dusty rose crepe worn with cocoa brown accessories and her flowers were gardenias.

In the absence of Royall Clay Morrison, the bride's father, she was given in marriage by Colonel Oliver I. Halman. A beautiful blonde, she was becomingly gowned in aqua crepe, featuring a peplum of matching Irish lace. Her brown felt hat was made wth a lace straw brim and worn with a brown veil. She carried a white prayer book showered with white orchids and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a double strand of pearls belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. W. B. Disbro.

After the ceremony the couple was honored at a reception given at the Cavalry School Club, with Mrs. Morrison as hostess.

Mrs. Morrison, the bride's mother, was gowned in black crepe, worn with black accessories. Her flowers were pink camellias. The groom is the son of Colonel and Mrs. Edwin Moore Burnett, and the latter was gowned in a green crepe afternoon dress worn with black accessories. Her flowers were talisman roses.

The bridal couple left for a wedding trip to Kansas City, Mo., and will reside in Junction City, Kan., at 603 West Chestnut street. The bride traveled in a tailored suit of coral wool worn with black patent leather accessories. Her topcoat was of mink.

Mrs. H. S. Hastings, of St. Mary's, Pa., was among out-of-town guests.

Hostesses Give Luncheon at Home.

Mrs. Thomas Cowan and Miss Harriet Miller were co-hostesses at a beautifully appointed luncheon on Thursday at their home at 1630 Peachtree road.

Guests were seated for luncheon at a table centered with an attractive arrangement of spring blossoms in the pastel shades, including roses, snapdragons, sweet peas, tulips and daffodils. Covers were placed for Medames Robert Irwin, Sarah Irwin, Julian Irwin, A. B. Carver, R. M. Martin, Ruby Mills, H. A. Irwin, and the hostesses, Mrs. Cowan and Miss Miller.

Luncheon Given For Miss Blalock

Among important social events of yesterday was the luncheon given by Mrs. Edward S. Gay at her home on Peachtree Memorial drive complimenting Miss Martha Blalock, popular bride-lect.

Covers were placed for eight guests, and the luncheon table was adorned with a silver epergne filled with roses and tulips. Bridal place cards marked each cover.

Miss Blalock will marry Aviation Cadet William Timmis Jr. next week, her engagement having been announced several weeks ago by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Blalock.

Mrs. Ashley Wooton Honored by Nieces.

Mrs. Frank Bennett and Miss Chippie Brewer entertained recently at the home of their mother, Mrs. Ernest Brewer, on Stewart avenue, honoring their aunt, Mrs. Ashley E. Wooton, a recent bride.

A color scheme of green and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. The hostess were assisted in entertaining by their mother, Mrs. Brewer.

The guests included Mesdames Emmett Jones, Jack E. Jarrett, John Chandler, A. T. Deckner, M. M. Boyle, Stephen Grady, Henry Satterfield, R. C. Roberts, J. S. Wooton, Miss Leila Hall, Mrs. Brewer and the honor guest.

Mrs. Wooton has recently returned from Chicago where her wedding took place. Mr. Wooton is in the armed forces stationed in that city.

MRS. EDWARD LAWRENCE JORDAN, of Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. Jordan is the former Miss Peggy Newell, daughter of Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Olin C. Newell, of Luke Field, Phoenix. The bride attended the University of Georgia and has visited here with her grandmother, Mrs. John H. Andrews. Mrs. Newell is the former Miss Mary Andrews. The bride married Liutenant Jordan, a U. S. Army flyer, at the Post chapel at Luke Field.

Party Is Given For Miss Adams

Miss Beverly Adams, whose marriage to Lieutenant Nat Turnbull takes place on February 5, was honored last evening at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Jack Stewart at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Spring flowers were used as the decorations and they were chosen to carry out a color scheme of green and white. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. Charles E. Stewart Jr.

Present were Misses Adams, Dorothy Huey, Anne Crowley, Mary Jane Gentry, Amy Reynolds, Kay Godfrey, Olive Howard, Gwen Jones, Frances Richardson, Rachel Burns, Claire Andrew, Virginia Nelson Ludelle Walker, Joe and Fidelis Klaecker, Frances Hall, Mrs. Harriett B. Adams, mother of the bride-elect; Mesdames Charles E. Stewart Jr., O. E. Myers, W. H. Rankin, Roy S. Walker Jr., Winston Lee, Paul Theos, Harrison Clarke, Alfred Brawner, John Starbuck and Thomas Flagler.

To Honor Miss Sloan.

Mrs. Vivian L. Stanley will entertain at luncheon today at the Paradise Room of the Henry Grady hotel in compliment to Miss Helene Sloan, whose marriage to Lieutenant Walter Reid, of LaGrange, and San Antonio, Tex., takes place at 8 p. m. this evening at Glenn Memorial church. The guests will include the members of Miss Sloan's bridal party and the guests from a distance who are here for the wedding.

Society Events

SATURADY, JANUARY 16.

The marriage of Miss Olive Howard and A. G. Cleveland Jr. takes place at 6:30 p. m. at the First Baptist church in Decatur.

The marriage of Miss Mari Jo Humphreys, of Stone Mountain, and John Clifford Ford, of Avondale Estates, takes place at 5:30 p. m. at the First Baptist church in Stone Mountain, the ceremony to be followed by a reception at the home of the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. James Clinton Jordan, with Mrs. Jordon and W. P. Humphreys Jr., the bride-elect's brother, as hosts.

Miss Virginia Williams entertains at a morning coffee at her home on Pine Valley road for Misses Lillian Winship, Frances Woodruff, and Catherine Hardin, of Forsyth.

Miss Gwen Jones entertains at a luncheon at the Druid Hills Golf Club for Miss Beverly Adams, bride-elect.

Mrs. Davis Webster entertains the Atlanta Flower Show Association at 10:30 a. m. at her home on Peachtree street.

Mrs. Charles H. Long entertains at a bridge-luncheon at her home on South Gordon street at 2 p. m. for her bride-elect daughter, Miss Rose Mary Long.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Estes entertain at open house at their home on McDonough street in Decatur for their daughter, Ensign Eloise Estes.

Mrs. Charles M. Tatum and Mrs. A. Louis Smith will be co-hostesses at a bridal shower at Rich's for Miss Frances Love, bride-elect.

Mrs. Frank Parker entertains at a luncheon at the Paradise room for Miss Orizaba Jones, bride-elect.

The Atlanta branch of the American Association of University Women holds a luncheon-meeting at 1 p. m. in Davison's tea room.

Sorority To Honor January Bride-Elect.

The Georgia Epsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, international sorority, will entertain Miss Julia Lombard at a dinner and handkerchief shower Monday evening at Davison's tearoom. Miss Lombard's marriage to Corporal Lloyd B. Giles will be an event of late January.

Members of the Epsilon chapter include Misses Julia Lombard, Frances Berry, Rachael Burns, Beam Carrol, Lucille Dangerfield, Roselle Ernst, Gwennie Hoffman, Katherine Jackson, Marguerite Jones, Helen Kilgore, Claire Mixon, Bettie Read, Charlotte Williams, Margaret Williams, Mary Wright, Sylvia Arotlin, Grace Chambless, Majorie Oxford, Dorreen Baldwin, Mesdames Emma Will Bishop, Elizabeth M. Due, Julia G. Flagler, Winifred M. Brizozowki, Peggy S. Rice, Elizabeth F. Young.

The 'Eurekans' To Be Organized

The birthday anniversary of Edgar Allan Poe will be celebrated Tuesday in Atlanta with the organization of a study group to be called the Eurekans, which will meet at the Henry Grady hotel for a tea and book review.

Mrs. Diana Pittman Quarles, the Atlanta Poe critic and author, will review Hervey Allen's "Israfel," one of the outstanding biographies of the many Poe writers. She is particularly interested in Mr. Allen's allusions to Poe's "The Tell-Tale Heart," because the story was published in January, 1843, and has nothing to do with a murder, or a heart attack, as she will relate it.

Friends who have been interested in the Poe mystery and in the London writings of Mrs. Quarles will be tea guests at the Tuesday review. Anyone interested in celebrating Edgar Allan Poe's birthday anniversary may call Crescent 2719 for a reservation for Tuesday afternoon.

Personals

Misses Catherine Tift, Alice Johnson, Betty Haverty and the former's roommate, Miss Helen Crump, of Macon, leave this evening for Sweet Briar, Va., to resume their studies at Sweet Briar College, after spending the holidays with their families.

Spring Fashions From London

By JOAN LITTLEFIELD.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—One important result of clothes rationing and "utility" styles, is that any woman—if she uses her coupons well—can look smart on very little money.

I recently visited a show of spring and summer fashions, organized by Percy Trilnick. All these will be on sale in the shops in February at prices ranging from $4 to $40 and in coloring and style they are any woman's dream.

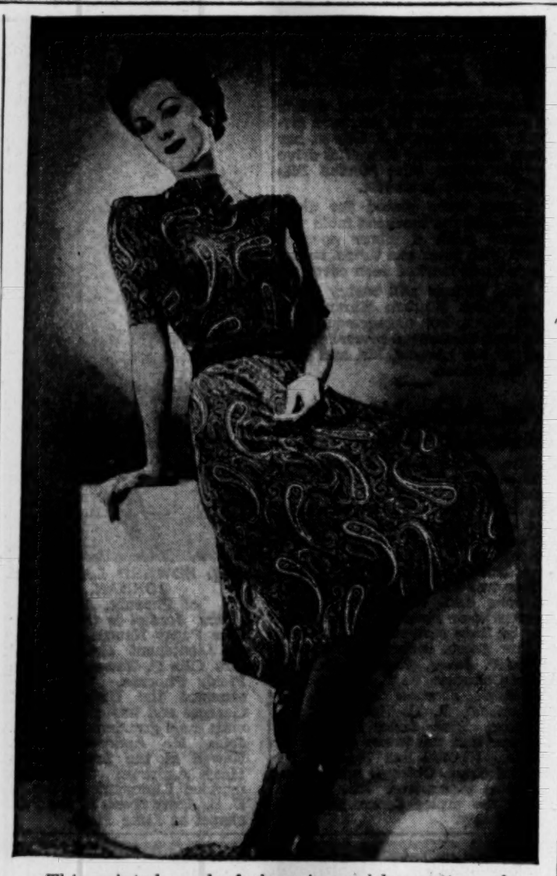

One feature of the show was a new material, reminiscent sometimes of a thin woollen, sometimes of thick linen. Called "Bahama Sand," it is made, I was told, of "all sorts of bits and pieces, including wood shavings and odd scraps of rubber." It dyes well and is turned out in a number of exquisite colorings and attractive patterns.

One frock of this material, with a linen-like finish was in a flowered pattern, with flared skirt and a blouse buttoning up the front and finished with a white pique collar. Another example of this fibro-material, said to be the nearest approach to wool, was in plain, dull gold, very simply made, with narrow belt and buttoned-up front. Other frocks of this material were in both large and small checks.

Most of these summer frocks have short, rather full skirts, sometimes with wide pleats in front, but more often flared. They have neat necklines with narrow, turn-back collars and usually button up the front. Some have little basques and many are finished with white collars.

The cottons are all in gay colors and cost only between $4 and $10. All have elbow-length sleeves and narrow belts of their own material, tying in a bow either at back or front. Many have patch pockets or else the slit variety into which you can plunge your hands. An example in blue and white stripes had the stripes vertical in the top half of the skirt and horizontal in the lower half. Another had a green, white-spotted top and a red, white-spotted skirt, with huge patch pockets. A navy blue rayon frock had a pale green bodice, striped diagonally with blue.

The most attractive woollen frocks were in thick Rodier material. A royal blue one, with three-quarter length sleeves and pleats in front, had a leather belt in stripes of blue, red and fawn. Another in emerald green had small breast pockets lined with scarlet and a very wide three-color leather belt, tied in front like a sash. Each was priced at about $35.

This printed wool of charming paisley pattern, featuring an unusually high neckline, buttons down the back with red buttons, and is finished off with a red suede belt, edged with green.

Today's Charm Tip.

January is the coldest month of the year. Be armed for it with better circulation easily gained by doing a brisk mile or two or three daily, with lungs receptive to the clear, cleansing air.

DOUBLE DUTY.

Maybe you have some double-duty jewelry and don't realize it. For example, a meshed-link necklace can double for a bracelet by winding it around the wrist several times.

Walking as Cure for Varicose Veins

By Dr. William Brady.

At first glance it seems incongruous, perhaps, to consider spinal curvature and varicose veins as having anything in common. But it is notable that these two conditions, as well as other common ailments of civilized man, such as hemorrhoids, varicocele, viceroptosis (sagging, floating or displacement of abominal or pelvic organs) and hernia do not occur at all in animals and such conditions are so rare in primitive races or tribes that they constitute anomalies. Not merely the conductor of this column, but many recognized authorities account for all of the diseases or weaknesses mentioned hereby ascribing them to one simple factor—lack of exercise. As Rudolph Klapp, (Munch. Med. Wchnschr, lvii, 546) expressed it: "It seems that civilization, but its customs of living, which limit the natural exercises of our muscles, predisposes to a degeneration of connective tissue which, combined with the imperfect adaptain of our bodies to the erect posture, is the basis cause of postural diseases."

Lest this seem too academic to the casual reader, let me say here that you increase your tendency to these postural diseases or weaknesses every time you hop in the car to run to the grocery or the barber shop instead of running (or walking if that is the best you can do) on your own power.

And while you're forgetting that as quickly as you can, let me add that one of the most effectual preventive and curative remedies for varicose veins, visceroptosis, hernia and the like is a season of walking to and from work or business instead of riding which, fortunately, the war will provide for us. In saying this I am not at all concerned about the condition of your tires but purely about the condition of your health.

Without even implying that man ever was a quadrupted I quote these observations of various authors.

Frank Baker (Ascent of Man, Am. Assoc. for the Advancement of Science, 590) pointed out that stone in the bladder is partly due to erect posture, because the concretions on first forming do not gather at the outlet as they would in horizontal position, but fall back into the cul-de-sac behind that outlet opening (urethra) and there gradually increase in size. The vermiform appendix in the horizontal posture has the aid of gravity in freeing it from any fecal accumulation. The ascending colon in the erect posture must lift its contents against gravity.

J. Knox Thompson (The Lancet, Feb. '22) says horizontal posture is better suited for draining from the sinuses, hence erect posture aggravates mastoiditis, middle ear disease and sinusitis.

Colin W. MacKenzie (Development and the Erect Posture) says inadequate support of the obdominal organs by the belly in the erect posture accounts for hernia, displacements of uterus and kidney, visceroptosis.

Leonard Williams (The Practitioner, Jan.-June, '19) reminds us that the heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, stomach and intestine, in primates in the horizontal position had a solid floor upon the ribs, the uterus and ovaries rested on the bony pelvis, and the intestines had gravity to aid the ribs and belly to support them, because the primate was higher behind than in front.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The "Resistance" Hokum.

I am a high school teacher and would like some information on resistance—something definite to pass along to my biology and general science classes. (D. A. H.)

Answer—No one knows what "resistance" is. It is just a bit of hokum whereby a doctor who knows nothing about the subject he is talking about keeps the gullible layman from realizing the doctor knows nothing about it. If you are interested in immunity, that is different. Immunity is specific—immunity to diphtheria, immunity to typhoid, immunity to smallpox. But "resistance" is pure unadulterated medical hokum. If you ever catch a doctor talking of resistance you may quote me—and I'll pay you $1 for his signed answer if he will permit me to use it in this column—of course he or she must be a real physician, not a trick "doctor." Send 25 cents and stamped envelope bearing your address, for booklet "Call It Cri"—which deals with prevention and treatment of the common respiratory infections, tonsils, adenoids, sinusitis, bronchitis, "catarrh," etc.

Hard Water.

Having recently moved from one city to another we find the water objectionable in taste, probably because it is so hard it leaves a white deposit on glassware. How can we treat this water to make it palatable? Is such hard water injurious to the kidneys or other organs? (R. M.)

Answer—No matter how hard the water it is not injurious in any way as drinking water. Hardness due to carbonates (temporary hardness) may be boiled to soften it—the carbonates precipitate as a white deposit. Permanent hardness (due to sulphates, etc.) requires a zeolite softener such as Permutite.

Your Horoscope For Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21-April 19 (ARIES)—The entire day and until 6:50 p. m. favors ordinary and routine matters. This is especially true in connection with communications, correspondence and conferences. After 6:50 p. m. favors social and entertainment fields.

April 20-May 20 (TAURUS)—The entire day with the exception of the period between 1:43 p. m. and 3:38 p. m. holds excellent influences for contacts with others, publishing, unusual pursuits.

May 21-June 20 (GEMINI)—The day should prove a most constructive period in every way, favoring financial interests, dealings with professional people, investments and works connected with large concerns.

June 21-July 22 (CANCER)—After 10:47 a. m. favors practical work and dealings with people of a conservative nature, but does not especially favor making sudden changes. The period suggests sticking to routine.

July 23-Aug. 22 (LEO)—Poise and calmness will be necessary thorugh 12:29 noon in all dealings. Between 12:20 noon and 3:42 p. m. favors dealings with those in high positions, those who are at the head of affairs, dealings in finances and important business affairs.

Aug. 23-Sept. 22 (VIRGO)—It will be wise to keep on eye on money matters today, for the tendency is towards extravagance and miscalculation. The evening hours after 9:41 p. m. suggest unusual caution to avoid sharp and severe disappointments resulting from unexpected situations.

Sept. 23-Oct. 22 (LIBRA)—The day favors more attention to necessary affairs and ideas that have been hanging fire for some time. The day favors using diplomacy around older people. The evening favors domestic affairs.

Oct. 23-Nov. 21 (SCORPIO)—Unless careful thought is given to your undertakings previous to 3:17 p. m. you will very likely meet with little co-operation in your plans for others. After 3:17 p. m. is an excellent time to start new enterprises that have eben thoughtfully planned.

Nov. 22-Dec. 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—If you have someone special to contact, and you want your interview to proceed smoothly, make your engagement before 11:08 a. m. Between 11:08 a. m. and 1:06 p. m. favors work requiring mental activity.

Dec. 22-Jan. 19 (CAPRICORN)—The hours previous to 1:32 p. m. favors constructive developments in contracts and contacts with others. An excellent period to promote improvements in out-of-the-ordinary pursuits, for you will feel a mental inspiration, which will allow you to plan ahead.

Jan. 20-Feb. 18 (AQUARIUS)—Throughout the entire day and 6:38 p. m. use care in dealing with older people. Pay attention to finances and avoid undue changes where money is involved.

Feb. 19-March 20 (PISCES)—The entire day and evening does not especially favor new or important undertakings. An excellent day to stick to routine and finish those things already started.

So Your Husband's Gone to War—

How to Pick Your Clothes For the Duration

By ETHEL GORHAM

CHAPTER 12.

It's a male fetish to believe a woman lives for her clothes. It's a female delusion that she dresses only to please man. The truth is somewhere in between. Women can take fashion or leave it and need not always dress exclusively for men or the envious eyes of other women; but even with the man absent from the scene, nothing in the world will give her the same lift as going out and buying a brand-new bonnet.

But you have to think before you splurge these days. You can't dash back from the train depot, after a particularly teary goodby, and set the world to rights with a milliner's confection. You may decide after reflection that even though it doesn't put the world back on its feet you will want to buy the new bonnet anyway. But think you must. Because now, as perhaps never before, you have a new point of view on clothes that goes outside pleasing man, woman, or your personal budget. It is something you never had to consider before. Conservation. Rationing. War Production Board rulings. Looking ahead on every single thing you buy. Weighing its value next seasnn and the season after.

Even with enough money to do so, don't stock up. It's silly from a style point of view. If silk and nylon hose are going off the market entirely, and every shop is going to carry cotton and rayon and lisle instead, the fashion will be cotton and lisle. You'll look dated and dowdy wearing silken hose in a world where the men ogle the ankles in cotton mesh.

Even though the WPB rulings for women's clothes won't affect their styling very much, there is, nevertheless, a certain amount of deterioration in anything bought to hang in the closet or be tucked into a drawer to wear at some future date when it supposedly will not be available. The jacket will go off keel from too long a session on the hanger. The girdle will lose its elasticity from lying around. The silk slip will yellow in the dark of the drawer.

Buy just what you need and take your chances along with everybody else on what you are going to get next year. Remember that rayon was developed during shortages of the last war and now the best designers often favor it over silk because it has such a versatility of texture and feel. The substitutes to come out of this war's shortages may outstrip anything we've ever had before. If your wardrobe goes to tatters before the millennium arrives, then undoubtedly tatters will be in fashion.

Your wardrobe isn't a fixed quantity. It depends on you and the kind of life you live and the city or town you live in. But since all wartime wives are faced with certain general problems, there are a number of essentials in your wardrobe you'll do better to have. Because you are living alone only part of the time you want clothes that are easily convertible from everyday simplicity to glamour-furloughs. You can't dash out and buy a new frock each time you hear your husband it due home. But neither do you want to look repetitious. You can't gather together a new weekend outfit each time you visit his camp, but neither do you want to look scrambled.

You will dress, of course, according to the dictates of your own clothes conscience and on your own level of style sophistication. But in order to go along with that general conservation program you want to estimate what you need by what you have left over.

What do you have left over? Open your closet door and really see. Just doing it on paper doesn't turn the trick. There's the yellow blouse you forgot. Or the checked skirt you haven't worn for two years. Or the navy blue suit you've been wearing to death and want to forget.

Of course you can sometimes spend too much on rehabilitation. The important thing to remember before you put any money into the livening-up process is: Will this cost less and give me the same stimulant value as getting something new will?

Generally conceded as "essential" is the dark crepe dress with fine body lines. Do you have one in your wardrobe? It doesn't necessarily have to be black. The theory is that no wardrobe is complete without a good little black dress, but some women just do not look well in black. And some men don't like to see black on you. So, if you have a dark, simple, figure-flattering dress in a color you prefer, you're started.

There's a new interest in such quietly unassuming little dresses now because they're feminine and variable. It is the one kind of dress you can really wear pretty, frivolous hats with. It's a dress you will wear when your husband gets enough leave to take you out. You can dine in it, dance in it, wear it for anything as informal as the movies or as dressy as the local glamour spot. And every time you wear a different hat with it it will look completely different.

Because women and hats are never long separated you can't think of clothes without digressing on hats. For some years now flower hats drenched in veiling have been seen on the loveliest girls. Some girls whip them up out of a cluster of violets and a length of veiling from the five-and-ten. Equally ravishing ones are turned out for $20. What matters about this kind of hat is the effect. And whether you pay $20 or $2, be sure to have three or four varieties on hand to play up the simple dark dress we're talking about.

If you don't own a dress like this, put down on a sheet of paper, under possibilities, one dark crepe dress. In a column under price put about $15 and up. What you eventually pay will depend entirely on what you can afford. But there are certain minimums for certain types of clothing under which it is foolish to go.

For one thing, there are minimums in fabric, workmanship, cut, and line which make your purchase profitable. If a dress doesn't pay out in wear and becomingness it doesn't pay, no matter how little the price in the beginning.

But by and large, clothing is a pretty standardized thing, and certain price levels give you certain returns for your money. The cotton dirndl you wear and love was a good value at $3, but you had to invest about $8 for your linen suit, and if you want a good crepe you can't plan to spend less than $15.

Now anywhere among your leftovers is there a suit? Undoubtedly there is. But if you do have a good suit on hand don't cherish it. Wear it all you can. So often, with the man of the house away, you don't feel like wearing your best things every day. You find yourself saving even the clothes that are meant for office and everyday wear, thinking they will look pretty and new when he comes home. It's partially psychological.

If you find you haven't a suit and feel it is the one thing that can really give you service in your office job, consider the possibilities. Couldn't you get as much wear out of a wool dress? Particularly one of the two-piece wools, the separate skirts and jackets, that fit as easily and softly as a dress but still manage to have the completed look you call "suit"? You can wear such a dress with or without separate blouses. It is much easier to handle under a winter coat. Usually it is less expensive and not as uniform looking as the regulation suit. And while you can't spend less than $25 for a suit, you can go as low as $17 for such a jacket dress.

As to the possible shortage of woolens, just take a look at the woolly-looking substitutes now being made out of rayon. They're as handsome and interesting as wool ever was. They may not be as warm, which can be a problem, but they are good looking enough.

To Be Continued.

In Atlanta, as in all cities today, you will not find as many occasions for full evening regalia. In the first place, you are not going out as much at night since your husband is away. And when you do, you'll find short dinner dresses outnumber the long. You'll be much more comfortable to underdress than to find yourself dripping with finery in the midst of simplicity. So a tip: cut off your evening dresses. They'll be out of style by the end of the duration, anyhow. Take the full lower skirt you snip off and fashion sleeves. Short evening dresses are chic and becoming. The combination (and it is rare) is hard to beat.

FOOD RACKETEERS HIT.

Energetic steps have been taken by J. A. Lins de Barros, co-ordinator of economic mobilization in Brazil to prevent excessive rises in food prices. Meat has been getting scarce in Rio de Janeiro and other places, due in part to increased export and in part to efforts of dealers to maintain high prices.

MY DAY: Educational Values For Women

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Thursday.—I must say I was fairly sleepy after the day spent in Arthurdale, W. Va., for we finally returned to Washington in the early hours of Wednesday morning. A good sleep, even if it is short, will do a great deal, and so breakfast found me much interested in an opportunity to talk for a little while with Miss Charlotte Carr.

I had come up to New York City yesterday to speak at Columbia University at their Institute of Arts and Sciences. Today I am going to New Jersey, where Mrs. Lewis Thompson is meeting me and taking me to the Marlboro hospital, and then to Fort Monmouth to lunch at the USO club and to the Monmouth County Social Service annual meeting.

I shall dine informally tonight with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Payne in the interests of the Young Men's Vocational Foundation of New York. Though there are very few boys who need help now, the problem of the girls coming out of reformatories is becoming a serious one, which this group thinks should not be entirely abandoned at the present time.

It is interesting to me how many people are suddenly awakening to the importance of women's education from a variety of angles. In the course of the last few days I have received a most absorbing account of Gould Academy in Bethel, Maine. Here they are specializing in teaching girls the art of homemaking in a very practical way.

The letter which accompanies the account of their work stresses the fact that they are not only teaching them how to cook, to clean, to budget their money and to buy the necessary things, but they include all the interests of homemaking, the care of children and the necessary community activities which make the homemaker a real factor in her community.

They encourage their girls to enter all the war activities of their community—first aid, canteen work, nursing, and the various drives to collect aluminum, waste paper, tin and other materials. In the letter giving the account of what they are doing there is a sentence all of us should remember, no matter what other occupation we have in life. It is: "Being an efficient, alert homemaker these days is a man-sized job . . . includes more than a casual observer might think."

I also have a most interesting letter emphasizing the reason why girls who are able to go to college, should go in greater numbers than ever before to receive an education which will make them valuable to their country in many ways.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

By Edythe Thomas Wallace

Mother: "You are right in thinking other boys and girls don't like the pupils who show they know all the answers in a smug or conceited way, but it's possible to be modestly intelligent."

Mother: "Don't take Mary to task for not having as good grades as she used to. Good students aren't popular and I'd rather have her well-liked than an all-A student."

Too often both young people and their parents think they must choose between being a good student and being well-liked, overlooking the fact that both are possible.

Miss Williams Weds Melville H. Smith.

The marriage of Miss Frances Evans Williams, of Atlanta, to Private First Class Melville H. Smith, of Fort Benning, formerly of Atlanta, was solemnized on Monday, January 11, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Cartledge, in Decatur, in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends, with Dr. Cartledge officiating.

Miss Kate Williams, sister of the bride, was her only attendant, and the groom's brother, P. K. Smith, served as best man.

The bride was gowned in a brown suit, with brown accessories, and she wore a purple orchid. Her only ornament was a string of garnets, originally owned by her great-grandmother.

Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eugene Williams, of this city. She attended Girls' High school and is at present connected with Rich's, Inc.

Private Smith is the son of the late Paul Smith and Mrs. Nell S. Smith, of this city. Before he entered the service he was connected with S. S. White Dental Supply Company. At present he is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., where he is a member of a parachute battalion.

Miss Capossela Is the Bride Of Lieut. William W. Murphy

The marriage of Miss Tina Mary Capossela and Lieutenant William W. Murphy took place yesterday at 5:30 p. m. at Sacred Heart church, with Father William Lonergan officiating. The musical program was rendered by Miss Nell Jentzen, the organist, and Mrs. Ernest Trotti, soloist.

Ascension lilies, white gladioli and seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers, formed the decorations in the church.

Ernest Trotti and Paul Cefalu were ushers. Sidney Vicknair and David Savini were groomsmen, and Gene Murphy, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Miss Mary Capossela, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore ice blue satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and full skirt. She wore a blue satin callot trimmed with matching veil and carried pink roses tied with ice-blue satin ribbon. Miss Ethel Fielder's yellow satin gown and Miss Camille Litton's pink satin dress, were fashioned exactly like that worn by the maid of honor. Miss Fielder carried talisman roses and Miss Litton's flowers were pink roses.

The beauty of the bride was enhanced by her ivory satin gown. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, and the full skirt graduated into a graceful train edged with lace. The veil was adjusted to her hair with a white lace bonnet and cluster of miniature orange blossoms. She carried a white lace handkerchief which is 25 years old and belongs to the grandmother of the bridegroom. She carried a white satin prayer book decorated with purple orchids. The bride was given in marriage by Michael Capossela, her father, with whom she entered the church.

Mrs. Capossela, mother of the bride, wore rose-colored lace, a sequin Juliet cap, and purple orchids on her shoulder. Mrs. Gregory Murphy, mother of the bridegroom, wore tomato red chiffon, a gold Juliet cap, and purple orchids on her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Capossela entertained at a reception at their North Highland avenue residence. A hand-crocheted tablecloth covered the dining room table, which was decorated with white wedding bells, white gladioli and ferns. Miss Addie Murphy, sister of the bridegroom, kept the bride's book. Misses Lorraine Vicknair, Dorothy Willingham and Betty Trotti served punch.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Murphy departed on their wedding trip, the bride traveling in an aqua-marine wool suit, luggage tan accessories and a mink fur scarf. Her flowers were purple orchids. The bridegroom is stationed at the Smyrna Air Base, and the couple will reside in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Palmes Return From Wedding Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ross Palmes, whose marriage was a recent important event and took place last month in St. Augustine, Fla., have returned from their wedding trip and are residing at 150 Barksdale drive. They are attractive acquisitions to the younger married contingent. The bride is the former Miss Virginia Emerson Brown, and her marriage to Mr. Palmes took place in Flagler Memorial church, with Dr. L. E. Brubaker, the pastor, and his son, Rev. Lauren E. Brubaker, officiating.

Lorenzo Pratt Oviatt, the organist, rendered the musical program. Mrs. Jere Palmes, of Spartanburg, S. C., the matron of honor, wore a gold wool tailored suit, and her flowers were pink roses. Joseph Eberhardt, of Atlanta, was best man.

Russell B. Palmes, of St. Augustine, gave the lovely bride in marriage. She wore a becoming two-piece ensemble of blue crepe, which featured an accordion pleated peplum. An off-the-face black felt hat, trimmed with veiling, and black accessories completed her costume. Her flowers were pink roses.

Mrs. Palmes is the talented daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Brown, of Wilton, Conn. She possesses a lyric soprano voice of unusual tone and quality, and was soloist at Memorial Presbyterian church in St. Augustine. She is a former pupil of Louise Homer. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary Bagby Palmes, of Mobile, Ala., and Jacksonville, Fla. Mr. Palmes has been located in Atlanta for some years, being traffic manager for Anderson, Clayton & Company, well-known cotton merchants. Prior to that affiliation, he was connected with railroads in Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Palmes entertained at a reception for the bridal couple at their home on Johns street in St. Augustine after the ceremony.

Out-of-own guests were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. J. S. Patterson, of Jacksonville; his nephew and niece, Lieutenant and Mrs. Jere Palmes, of Spartanburg, S. C., and Joseph Eberhardt, of Atlanta, Georgia.

Miss Laurice Goza Weds Cpl. Hicks At Home Rites

Miss Laurice Goza and Corporal Horace R. Hicks spoke their marriage vows yesterday at a ceremony taking place at 8 p. m. at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Belle Goza, on Leland terrace. Rev. A. B. Couch officiated.

An improvised altar was formed of palms, baskets of white gladioli and candelabra holding lighted white tapers.

Neil Goza gave his sister in marriage, and Lamar Duncan was best man for the bridegroom.

Miss Doris Goza was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a two-piece model of sky blue and her flowers were yellow rosebuds.

The lovely bride wore a costume suit of pale blue, trimmed with a red fox collar. With this she wore a blouse of eggshell satin and navy blue accessories. A shoulder spray of orchids completed the ensemble.

Mrs. Goza was attired in a two-piece ensemble of black wool trimmed in green. Her flowers were gardenias.

Mrs. Gertrude Sockwell, aunt of the bride, assisted in entertaining at the reception which followed the ceremony.

The bride's table was centered with the tiered wedding cake, which was encircled with narcissi and fern.

Following their wedding trip, the bride will continue to reside with her mother while Corporal Hicks will return to duty at Camp Blanding, Fla.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. W. O. Brooks, the bride's aunt, of Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Morris Britt and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Britt, of Loganville and Grayson. Also attending the wedding was the bride's grandfather, Rev. V. H. Britt, formerly of Loganville and who is now residing in Atlanta.

MRS. STANLEY MARSACK.
Mrs. Marsack is the former Miss Grace Goldstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max F. Goldstein, her marriage to Mr. Marsack being an event of January 7 at the Standard Club. The couple is now residing in California, where Mr. Marsack is stationed.

Ensign and Mrs. John McCord, of Washington, D. C., announce the birth of a son on January 14, who has been named John Elie. The baby is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Holliday, of Wilson, N. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Elie McCord, of Atlanta. Ensign McCord was born and reared in Atlanta. He is stationed at Hollywood, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett M. Fultz announce the birth of a daughter, Elizabeth Stewart, on January 12, at Emory University hospital. The baby is a brother of Bennett Drew Fultz and a granddaughter of Mrs. C. A. Drew, of Atlanta, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fultz, of Miami, Fla. Mrs. Fultz, the baby's mother, is the former Miss Louise Drew.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Bolin announce the birth of a daughter, Judith Ann, on December 19, at Piedmont hospital. Mrs. Bolin is the former Miss Nancy Mobley.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Beyer announce the birth of a daughter on January 12 at Emory University hospital. The baby is a sister of Victoria Ardys Beyer, and her mother is the former Miss Virginia Irwin, of Waterville, Kan., and Washington, D. C. The Beyer family has recently moved here from Washington for residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Aleck Jones announce the birth of a daughter, Brenda Maureen, on January 4 at Crawford Long hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Livsey announce the birth of a daughter, Edna Kathleen, on January 4 at Crawford W. Long hospital. Mrs. Livsey was formerly Miss Elizabeth Barnes.

Avondale Club Adopts Slogan

"A vegetable in every yard in Avondale Estates" was the slogan adopted at the meeting of the Avondale Garden Club yesterday at the community clubhouse. Mrs. S. L. Jones, vice president and program chairman, will appoint a garden warden in each neighborhood to be of aid in furthering this vegetable-growing project.

Under the direction of Mrs. Lee Green, retiring president of the Garden Club, a framed service roster has been hung on the walls of the Avondale post office, listing the names of 36 men from Avondale who are at present serving their country, noting the branch of service in which each man is engaged.

Mrs. H. M. Van Devender announces that the headquarters of the Bundles for America, which have been in the Frank H. Merritt home on Clarendon avenue, have been closed, owing to the fact that Mrs. Merritt is a member of the WAACS and Mr. Merritt has recently enlisted in the U. S. Navy. Layette material may be had by calling Mrs. Van Devender at her home on Dartmouth avenue.

The Red Cross rooms at Avondale Estates have also been closed temporarily, due to lack of heating facilities. Yarn for knitting may be obtained from Mrs. Ivar Stockel, 4 Fairchild drive.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Joyner have moved from Dartmouth avenue and will occupy their new home, 120 South Candler street in Decatur, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hansen will occupy the former Fruitticher home, 16 Clarendon avenue, after this week. Mr. Hansen was taken to Emory hospital Monday with an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Harris left Thursday for a trip through the middle west, visiting South Bend, Ind.; Chicago, and Detroit, Mich.

Jewish Women To Hear Address By Col. Clarke

Colonel George S. Clarke will discuss his experiences at Bataan before the Atlanta Section of the National Council of Jewish Women at the Standard Club at 12:45 p. m. on Monday. Colonel Clarke, a native of Spokane, Wash., is professor of military science and tactics of the high schools of Atlanta and Fulton county, of Decatur Boys' High and of G. M. A. The meeting of the club will be a luncheon in his honor.

Council members will discuss their gift honoring the memory of the founder, Mrs. Hannah G. Solomon. Through contributions from the various local sections equipment will be provided for the Naval hospital under construction at St. Albans, N. Y. The equipment will consist of a superficial therapy X-ray machine, a duplex respirator (iron lung), two dual wave diathermy units, one short wave diathermy unit, two super Alpine lamps, and an ultra-violet ray machine.

It is most appropriate that Mrs. Solomon's memory should be honored with a gift to the country, and particularly suitable that it be a gift of healing rather than one of destruction. In 1893 Hannah Solomon, working almost alone, at the Parliament of Religions at the World's Fair in Chicago, organized the National Council of Jewish Women, the first national Jewish women's organization in America. Through the almost 50 years of its existence the council was guided, developed, and inspired by her devotion and wisdom. Her profound intellectuality, her deep religious convictions, her belief that women should share with men the responsibility of creating a better social order and a better world, left deep impressions on the life of the women of America.

All Jewish women are eligible to membership in the National Council of Jewish Women.

Catholic Council Plans Open House

The weekly open house held at the Columbian Club and sponsored by the Catholic War Council is becoming more and more popular. This week it is sponsored by the St. Thomas More church in Decatur, with Mrs. Elmer Whitham and Mrs. William Gericke as hostesses. There will be refreshments and an impromptu program of songs and music.

St. Thomas More church is a new church in the diocese, with a small congregation, but the women workers have made an outstanding record in the War Service Council and other wartime groups.

This evening, the Knights of Columbus Club will sponsor a dance at the club for the service men.

Mussolini's Arches Falling In Libya

CAIRO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Airmen operating over the Libyan desert report that Mussolini is suffering from fallen arches.

There are many junctions along the roads which spread like spokes from Tripoli and at these points Il Duce in happier days had triumphal arches constructed. These junctions now are convenient targets for RAF bombers of road traffic and the arches are said to have suffered.

Many other arches along the road from the Egyptian border to the present front southeast of Tripoli also are in bad shape because of the war.

Legislators Set Hearings on Flynn's Post

Democratic Members Refuse GOP Suggestion of Withdrawal.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Public hearings on Edward J. Flynn's nomination to be minister to Australia were ordered unanimously by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today after Democratic members had refused to entertain a Republican suggestion that the committee, in the interest of wartime harmony, recommend withdrawal of the appointment.

Chairman Connally, Democrat, Texas, announced the hearings would begin next Wednesday or Thursday and would be conducted by the full 23-member committee. He will set the date after communicating with Flynn, who has called a meeting of the Democratic national committee for Monday in Chicago to present his resignation as its chairman.

Today's action was taken at a closed session of the committee which lasted about an hour. Senator Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, who has made charges that Flynn is unfit to hold the diplomatic post, was called in at the outset to present them. He told reporters afterward that he had heard some talk in the committee "about getting President Roosevelt to withdraw the appointment but it didn't get anywhere."

Another senator, who cannot be quoted by name, said that this suggestion was advanced by Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan. He expressed the opinion, it was reported, that irrespective of the truth of any accusations against Flynn his usefulness in a diplomatic post had been impaired by the charges made against him and by the furore over his nomination.

Consequently, Vandenburg was reported to have said, the committee might with propriety recommend that the nomination be withdrawn.

The Democratic members, however, took the attitude that since Bridges had made his charges publicly in the senate the whole question must be threshed out in hearings affording Flynn opportunity to refute them.

Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, made an informal motion that open hearings be held. There was no dissent.

Barkley Predicts Brown Confirmation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Majority Leader Barkley today predicted swift confirmation of Prentiss M. Brown as price administrator when his nomination comes up in the senate Monday.

The Senate Banking Committee unanimously approved President Roosevelt's choice of the former Michigan Democratic senator for the post being vacated by outspoken Leon Henderson. The committee received no protests to the nomination.

The senate in the past has looked with favor on almost all appointments involving former members, and Brown's confirmation was considered certain on Capitol Hill.

Japs Suffer Big Losses Along Yunnan Frontier

CHUNGKING, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Japanese again are attacking from the northern Shan states of Burma along the southern Yunnan frontier area but have been checked after suffering bloody losses, the Chinese high command said today.

In one encounter north of the Namlwi (Lot) river, the Japanese were turned back after advancing from Mongma, the communique said.

In fighting in the Tapieh mountains northeast of Hankow, the Chinese asserted they were making big strides in pursuit of retreating Japanese forces which launched a drive nearly four weeks ago to wipe out potential Chinese bases for a counteroffensive.

Credit Association To Meet at Americus

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

AMERICUS, Ga., Jan. 15.—A meeting of stockholders of the Americus Production Credit Association will be held at the gymnasium of Georgia Southwestern College here next Wednesday, January 20, C. C. Lunsford, secretary-treasurer of the APCA, announced Thursday.

"The war," Lunsford said, "has placed upon the farmers the responsibility of carrying on the greatest agricultural production program the world has ever known," adding the "association is attempting to render every assistance in this undertaking."

A barbecue lunch will be served at noon to the membership, Lunsford said.

Roberts Gives Fund to Shorter And Bessie Tift

Rome and Forsyth Colleges Given $25,000 Each by Industrialist.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Jan. 15.—(AP) Columbus Roberts, former state commissioner of agriculture, today announced gifts of $25,000 each to Bessie Tift and Shorter colleges, in addition to $100,000 given Mercer University.

The gift to Mercer was announced yesterday as the Baptist-supported school commemorated its 110th anniversary. The gifts to the three institutions were made in "behalf of Christian education," Roberts said.

Roberts previously had made gifts totaling $125,000 to Mercer for an endowment of a professorship of Christianity in honor of his father and mother, construction of Roberts Hall, a residence hall for men and for other purposes.

In addition to his business interests in Columbus, Roberts operates a large dairy and farm near Columbus.

Bessie Tift College is at Forsyth and Shorter is at Rome, both being Baptist institutions.

A. L. Belle Isle's Sister Dies In 71st Year

Mrs. J. R. Carmichael Rites Set Today at Spring Hill.

Mrs. James R. Carmichael, 70, a lifelong resident of Atlanta, died late Friday night at the residence, 914 Tift avenue, S. W.

Funeral services will be held at 11:30 a. m. today at Spring Hill, the Rev. H. C. Hale officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

Author Stallings Given Promotion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Major Laurence T. Stallings, author and playwright, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel on the retired list of the Marine Corps, with rank dating from October 30.

The Marine Corps said that Stallings was now on duty with the Army Air Forces here, having been recalled to active service in April of last year.

He won the Croix de Guerre with bronze star and a citation from the Second American Division in France during the first World War for heroism in an action in which he was wounded.

He was retired in June, 1920, because of wounds.

Stallings, 48, is a native of Macon, Ga., and has been affiliated with the Marine Corps since 1917, when he joined as a second lieutenant.

Possibly his best known work is the play "What Price Glory?" which he wrote in collaboration with Maxwell Anderson.

Georgia Soldier Dies in Britain

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

DUBLIN, Ga., Jan. 15.—Malcolm Culpepper, son of the Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Culpepper, formerly of Brewton, died in Britain as result of wounds received in action over western Europe, according to information from the War Department.

Rev. and Mrs. Culpepper, who now live at Port Orange, Fla., were informed earlier that their son was wounded while serving as a gunner on a Flying Fortress in a raid on Germany last October 9.

Besides the parents, surviving are two brothers and two sisters.

Rochelle To Observe 'Victory Day' Sunday

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

ROCHELLE, Ga., Jan. 16.—Sunday will be observed as Victory Day in Rochelle, being marked by two special services at the Rochelle Baptist church.

In the morning the Rev. A. R. Waters will preach a sermon on "Victory;" at the evening service a pageant, "Rochelle Under Two Flags," written and directed by Mrs. Henry Mashburn, will be presented by a cast of 50 persons. Music for both services will be furnished by a community choir of 30 voices, under the direction of Mrs. H. M. Lewis, pianist.

Henry S. Fitzgerald is decorator for the occasion, the patriotic note will feature the decorations which will be centered by two illuminated "V's."

Culminating the evening service two flags will be placed in the church and dedicated, and Miss Opal Nance, as custodian of the flags, will take the pledge to be administered by the pastor, the Rev. Waters.

Rumanian Army Now Weak Force, Tass Says

MOSCOW, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Tass declared today, the Rumanian army has been knocked out as a serious military force.

"As a result of almost 19 months' participation in the war Rumania has become a poor, squeezed-out country with a totally disorganized economy and a hungry population," the official Soviet news agency said. "Recent operations on the Soviet front have completed the general debacle of the Rumanian army which now can be hardly reckoned with as a serious military force."

MALTA GETS NEEDED SUPPLIES—The brave inhabitants of Malta, said to be the most-bombed spot on earth, welcome this transport loaded with needed supplies of all kinds. With Allies now in control of Libyan air bases, convoys are reaching Malta regularly. As proved by this picture, the blackout has been lifted to permit the unloading of transports under lights.

Leader of IRA Escapes From Belfast Prison

$12,000 Reward Posted for Recapture of Hugh M'Ateer.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Jan. 15.—(AP)—A $12,000 reward was posted tonight for information leading to the recapture of Hugh M'Ateer, 25-year-old chief of staff of the illegal Irish Republican army, who with three companions escaped at breakfast time from Belfast prison.

Presumably the fugitives had outside aid. They broke the glass roof of the prison laundry and made their way into the yard, where they used a rope ladder to scale the wall during the breakfast assembly.

Their flight was soon discovered and patrols were posted immediately on all roads out of Belfast. A watch was set on the Eire border.

M'Ateer was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment on November 26 for treason after a trial in which it was alleged he had plotted to set up an Irish republic in Northern Ireland. The offense was punishable by death.

The son of a middle class family, he was arrested October 12 in a house near Londonderry, a United States naval base, where explosives and IRA literature were found.

The arrest was made after a long series of bombings near Belfast police stations following an IRA proclamation August 31 declaring the presence of United States troops in Northern Ireland was an act of aggression and that the IRA reserved the right to use "whatever measures present themselves" to clear the territory of such forces.

During the bombings the British home office undersecretary, Osbert Peake declared in the house of commons that the IRA was receiving arms and explosives from "countries overseas."

Civilian Employe Indicted by U. S.

MACON, Ga., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Brantley Peterson, named in a federal court indictment Wednesday, was a civilian employe of Turner Field, Army air base at Albany, Ga., Army officials pointed out today.

Officers at Turner Field said Peterson was the civilian manager of the officers' mess at the field and that the Turner Field mess officer was not involved in the federal court case.

John P. Cowart, assistant United States district attorney for the middle Georgia district, said the indictment against Peterson charged him with embezzling government property consisting of groceries, meats and produce.

First Quarter Income Taxes Due March 15

Congress Statement Points to Situation Regardless of Changes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Chairmen of the senate and house committees which handle taxes emphasized today that "at least" the first quarter's payments of the 1942 income tax must be paid March 15, regardless of any changes in the tax structure.

The statement was issued jointly by Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, and Representative Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, who said that "reports are coming from over the country to the effect that a change will be made in the tax law which would preclude the necessity of filing 1942 returns due on March 15, 1943.

"This assumption on the part of any taxpayer that he will not be required to file his 1942 return on March 15, 1943, is erroneous," they said. "In all cases, that return will have to be filed and at least the first quarter payment will have to be paid."

They added that "those filing early returns will be in no danger of being penalized," and said that "whatever decision may be made as to future tax legislation will not affect the taxpayer's obligation to file his 1942 return as usual and pay his tax."

The reports apparently originated in discussion over the possibility that congress will adopt a pay-as-you-earn basis for income tax payments, and forgive a part of the 1942 taxes to avoid the necessity for payment of two years' taxes in one year.

Knox Commends Smyrna Sailor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Nineteen enlisted men have received letters of commendation from Navy Secretary Knox for outstanding duty in the Solomon Islands last August. Among them were:

Henry H. Hunter Jr., seaman second class, 18, of Smyrna, Ga., son of Henry H. Dunn, of Jesup, Ga. He was cited for removing injured personnel from a smoke-filled compartment of his ship after it had been hit by a bomb.

The Army and Navy in Georgia

ROYCE G. BROWN ON DUTY IN PACIFIC

On paper captured from the Japs, Royce G. Brown, of Buford, Ga., who was stationed on the cruiser Atlanta, wrote a letter to his family on November 16, telling them he was safe on Guadalcanal. At present, he is on duty on a Pacific island, according to a later letter received from him.

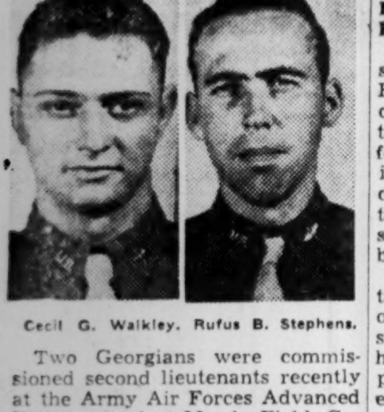

Royce G. Brown.

Brown, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Brown, of Buford, enlisted in the Navy in November, 1941. His brother, James G., is also in the Navy at Pensacola, Fla.

A sister, Miss Clara Brown, resides at 522 Ponce de Leon avenue, Atlanta. He has two other sisters, Mrs. Otto Chesser, of Buford, and Mrs. Howard Kinney, of Oakwood, Ga.

TWO GEORGIANS NOW LIEUTENANTS

Cecil G. Walkley. Rufus B. Stephens.

Two Georgians were commissioned second lieutenants recently at the Army Air Forces Advanced Flying school at Moody Field, Ga.

Cecil G. Walkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Walkley, of 80 Wakefield drive, Atlanta, was a member of the Governor's Horse Guard and was stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga., before he enlisted in the Air Corps. He was trained at Maxwell Field, Ala.; Greenville Field, at Ocala, Fla., and Shaw Field, S. C., before he took advanced training at Moody Field. After attending Peacock High school and Georgia Tech Lieutenant Walkley was employed by the Citizens & Southern National Bank.

The other Georgia graduate is Rufus B. Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stephens, of Comer.

FINALLY GETS PAY— AND IT'S $600

After 11 months in the Army Air Corps Ground Forces, Sergeant John W. Ward was stationed at one camp long enough to receive his pay check, which amounted to $600. He promptly bought a $500 War Bond for his mother, Mrs. Ola Ward, of Centerville, Ala.

Sergeant Ward was inducted into the Army at Fort McPherson last February, and after spending a few weeks at seven camps, he arrived at Camp Gowen, Boise, Idaho, where he is now stationed. His sister, Mrs. B. R. Nix, resides at 2541 Tilson drive, S. E., Atlanta.

A. E. Bennett.

Sergeant Bennett has been stationed at Camp Lee, Va.; Fort Knox, Ky.; Camp Chaffee, Ark., and is now stationed in California. Before his induction into the Army, Bennett was employed by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

ARMY POST GAS CONSUMPTION CUT

The consumption of gasoline at Army posts and camps in the southeast will be drastically reduced in some cases as much as 50 per cent, instructions issued yesterday by the Fourth Service Command revealed.

All motor vehicles used for administrative purposes in posts are limited to the absolute minimum and must not exceed 50 per cent of the average daily consumption a year ago, say the instructions.

Replacement training center motor vehicles, limited to the absolute minimum, will not exceed 75 per cent of the average daily consumption per vehicle a year ago and all motor vehicles actually on hand in tactical units will not exceed one gallon of gasoline per day, average.

The use of motor vehicles for delivery of subsistence stores to other than organization messes will be discontinued and animal-drawn transportation will be used, where available.

FOURTH TRANSPORTATION ZONE CREATED HERE

The Fourth Transportation Zone has been established here to assist the War Department with the ever-increasing transportation problems, according to an announcement made at headquarters, Fourth Service Command, yesterday.

Colonel H. L. Greene is the officer in charge of this office, the primary function of which is to straighten out transportation difficulties and help avoid tie-ups in transportation. It was explained that the office is under the Chief of Transportation, Washington, D. C., and has the same territorial assignment as the Fourth Service Command, and will work in conjunction with the Service Command chief of transportation.

This office represents a reorganization of the former Atlanta Transportation Agency, and will assist with all types of transportation—rail, water, freight and military personnel—it was stated.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—In the liveliest session of 1943, stocks today rose on average to the highest levels in more than a year with market favorites advancing fractions to more than 3 points and isolated issues registering wider jumps.

Brokers gave no outstanding reason for the extension of Thursday's rally but it was suggested that idle funds of important investors were going into actual or potential dividend payers as a means of alleviating the biggest income tax bill in history. At any rate, the majority of low-priced issues were neglected as prime investment and blue chip stocks were given the play. Business hopes and good war news received a portion of the credit.

Bond market prices moved higher all along the line in late dealings today. After hesitancy in most departments in the forenoon, demand expanded sharply for numerous rails, industrials and utilities.

Cattle: No good choice steers being offered, but eligible to bring $13 to $15; medium to good, $11 to $12.50; common, $9 to $10. Best native steers and heifer yearlings mostly $8 to $9, few up to $10; common kinds, $7 to $8; good $7.75 to $8.25; common cows, $7.25 to $7.75; canners and cutters mostly $6 and $7; good heavy bulls, $8 to $9.50; calves, $12.50 to $14.50; medium, $9.50 to $12; common, $7 to $8.50.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Hogs sold strong to 10 cents higher today, topping at $14.90, in a fairly active trade. Eastern interests were in the market and took 5,000 out of the 12,000 head offered for sale.

Livestock men said the upturn was based on a smaller run than expected, the official Department of Agriculture estimate forecasting about 15,000 would arrive. The run here this week so far totals about 10,000 less than in the same period of last year.

Only 1,000 salable head of cattle were on hand, with nothing choice in the group. Prices held steady throughout all grades.

A good demand developed for fat lambs, which brought mainly $15.50 to $16.00. Top was $16.15, equal to the 14-year peak for January.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Cotton futures declined moderately today until late covering and trade price-fixing caused values to steady and then close unchanged to 20 cents a bale higher.

Early trading had been quiet and values fell on liquidation and hedge-selling.

Factors contributing to easiness were uncertainty over the government's price control program and the delay in announcement by the Federal Surplus Commodity Credit Corporation on awards for about 200,000 bales of spot cotton on which bids were submitted last week.

Bills Offered To Boost Pay Of Teachers

Measure Referred to House, Senate Groups on Education.

Fulton county's 715 school teachers will get salary raises aggregating 20 per cent if the Georgia legislature approves bills offered yesterday concurrently in both houses by the Fulton delegation.

The bill directs Fulton county commissioners to pay $180,000 a year from non-tax revenue to the county school system, and Jere A. Wells, school superintendent, said the sum will be sufficient to pay teachers of the system 12 months a year instead of 10 as at present.

Wells said the monthly pay roll for teachers amounts to approximately $115,000 a month, but that the $11,000 a month, representing a 25 per cent increase in state payments for seven months a year, will provide sufficient money to pay the teachers for 12 months, thus representing a salary hike of 20 per cent for the entire year.

The bill was referred to house and senate committees on education.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

Rationing is pretty much like the old malaria patient who was a year ahead in his whisky and 12 months behind in his quinine.

Somehow, the sugar and the coffee don't come out even like the fellow tying his own bow tie.

If I ride after my coffee that uses up next month's gasoline. If I walk I require an extra cup of coffee.

What congress has forgotten in this struggle is human nature. That's never quite the same in any two people.

This is no complaint. It is my slogan that quibbling is worse than quizzling.

U. S. Army Production Said Alarming to Japs

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Japan is becoming increasingly alarmed at the magnitude of American arms production, according to a Japanese magazine received in Chungking.

The Daily Telegraph today quoted one article as saying that "the threat to Japan is not from the several thousand troops at present deployed in the South Pacific, but from the 60,000,000 tons of American steel production called for in the $100,000,000,000 war budget."

Another article in the same magazine was quoted as grimly warning that "1,000 American planes may bomb Japan in the spring of 1943."

All Civilian Aviation Suspended in Germany

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—All civilian aviation in Germany has been suspended, effective yesterday, Reuter's reported today from "inside Europe." Airplanes and flying equipment, said the dispatch, have been requisitioned for war purposes.

Peacetime Aviation To Bridge Americas, Rickenbacker Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Peacetime aviation will be the bridge of friendship over which the nations of North and South America come to know each other better, Captain Edward V. Rickenbacker declared today.

Addressing a luncheon given by the Peruvian-American Association in honor of 10 Peruvian fliers trained at Corpus Christi, Tex., Captain Rickenbacker said: "There are remaining frontiers and horizons in South America, and you and we must share in developing them."

The noted flyer who escaped death when he was forced down in the Pacific added it was the obligation of Western Hemisphere leaders to see that the youths of both continents shared in the coming opportunities.

"I say tht commercial aviation has a potentiality that even the fondest imaginings of today cannot conceive," Captain Rickenbacker asserted. "There will be literally thousands of planes flying back and forth across our frontiers. We should and will learn how to speak Spanish and Portuguese.

"It will be through peacetime aviation that we shall come to know each other better."

Florence Kirk Thrills Athens Music Lovers

Soprano Star Opens University Concert Series for '43.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 15.—Florence Kirk, soprano star of the New Opera Company, thrilled an Athens audience tonight in the University of Georgia opening presentation of the 1943 Concert Series.

A personality and choice of exceptional dramatic resource, Miss Kirk presented a program of arias from Verdi's "Aida" and Weber's "Der Freischuz," as well as Brahms' melodies, American medleys and light opera favorites.

Thundering applause greeted the rising American opera favorite and star of Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro operas.

Concluding a brilliant performance Miss Kirk, twice guest soloist with Toscanini, sang Romberg's "Will You Remember," Coward's "I'll See You Again," Herbert's "Sweethearts," and Oscar Strauss' "My Hero" without pause.

Other well-received numbers included Agrippina's aria, Tschaikowsky's "None But the Lonely Heart," and the traditional "Danny Boy."

The Concert Series, sponsored by Hugh Hodgson, head of the university music department, will feature February appearances of the Roth Quartet and the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Five Men Killed In Bomber Crash

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Five men were burned to death early tonight when a medium bomber crashed on the take-off at Barksdale Field near here.

Two enlisted men, both believed to have been in the tail positions on the bomber, escaped unhurt.

Barksdale Field authorities said the bomber was taking off on a routine training mission and had lifted only a few feet off the runway when it dipped to the ground, rolled over and burst into flames at the south end of the field.

The enlisted men escaped unscratched, but the five in the fuselage of the plane were trapped in the flaming wreckage. Names of the five men were not announced.

Mrs. R. P. Walton Dies; Rites Today

Mrs. R. P. Walton, of 87 Harris street, N. W., died yesterday at a hospital here.

She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Miss Dorothy Ann Walton; a brother, Richard Proctor, and four sisters, Mrs. Bob Hutchins, Mrs. H. J. Hagins, Mrs. J. C. Mitchell and Mrs. Paul Akins.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. today at the chapel of Sam R. Greenberg, the Rev. Paul S. James officiating. Burial will be in East View cemetery.

Negro Union Is Asked To Join Closed Shop

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Committee on Fair Employment Practices said today the local Negro Carpenters' Union, 1960, Savannah, Ga., had been invited by the southern representative of the American Federation of Labor to become a party to a closed shop contract between the AFL and the MacEvoy Shipbuilding Corporation at Savannah.

The committee said the Negro union had been unable to obtain fair employment with the corporation and that the local contended it had been able to place only a few members in available carpenter jobs.

Roane Waring, national commander of the American Legion, has recommended Basil Stockbridge, acting director of the state planning board, as a member of World War II liaison committee of the Legion which will be charged with the enlistment of new veterans.

Three additional members were named yesterday to the Fulton county grand jury. They are I. N. Sheffield Jr., of 309 Peachtree Battle avenue; R. E. Cole, of C04 West Rugby avenue, College Park, and D. C. Black, of 186 15th street, Northeast.

Two life prisoners were among the list of 18 parolees received yesterday from the State Prison and Parole Commission by the clerk of Fulton superior court. They were James Baldwin, sentenced in 1932, and George Howard Mickens, sentenced in 1935, both by Fulton county courts.

Mrs. Rose Mae Ashby will discuss "Improving the Individuality and Personality" at 3:30 p. m., tomorrow, at the Ansley hotel. The public is invited.

Brooklyn Yard Gets First WAVE

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The 141-year-old Brooklyn Navy Yard today saw tradition broken when Ensign Loraine Cornelisen, of the Women's Reserve of the United States Navy, reported there for duty, the first officer of her sex ever to serve at the yard.

"You're the first W A V E I've ever met," said Rear Admiral Edward J. Marquart, commandant of the yard.

"You're the first admiral I've ever met, sir," Ensign Cornelisen replied.

Atlanta May Hire Girl Life Savers

The male stay-at-homes from the war may get a break and all because of a man power shortage in Atlanta.

George I. Simons, general manager of city parks, yesterday told the parks and aviation committee of the difficulty experienced last summer in recruiting competent men lifesavers, and added that women may be employed for the job next season.

That ought to inspire a rush of men bathers, Councilman Joe Allen, committee chairman, asserted.

H. W. Parisius Resigns Food Production Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Herbert W. Parisius has submitted his resignation to Secretary Wickard as director of the Agriculture Department's food production administration, an agency created under an order of President Roosevelt to co-ordinate and administer war porduction food program.

Informed sources said the resignation would be accepted and that Clifford M. Townsend, former Governor of Indiana and more recently agricultural adjustment administrator, will be named to the post.

Nazis Arrest Thousands Of Poles in Warsaw

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Reuters reported in a dispatch datelined "At the German Frontier" that thousands of persons were arrested today in Warsaw, the Polish capital, in a new mass roundup organized by the German Gestapo.

Every district of the city was covered by the roundup, which followed upon the preparation of blacklists of Poles during recent weeks, the dispatch said.

Marine Flyers Reveal Rescue By Islanders

Natives in South Pacific Real Friends, Florida Officer Says.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 15. (AP)—Band of Anglican Catholic natives in headhunter country and an unidentified "Allied sympathizer" joined forces to save two young Marine fliers forced down near a south Pacific island swarming with Japanese, it was revealed today.

As First Lieutenant Archie M. Smith Jr., 22, of New Orleans, said, "it was like a motion picture, only it was true."

Smith was in the first scout bombing squadron sent to Guadalcanal. On one of the daily attacks against Japanese warships, his plane was damaged and he brought it down in the water near a small island.

He and the gunner, Private First Class T. A. Costello, of Chicago, made land with their liferaft without trouble, but all efforts to penetrate the jungle were unsuccessful. That night they slept fitfully on the wet ground and all the next day walked in the water along the shore looking for a break in the forest.

Find Native Huts.

Just as it became dark they reached a clearing with a few huts. They saw no one, so they took over a small hut and went to sleep.

"We had a tiny ration and we ate a little, but it wasn't much and we were hungry," Smith said. "We had walked from dawn to sunset, through continuous rain, and we were so thirsty and exhausted that we didn't care about anything."

The next morning they were awakened by tomtoms.

"We thought of headhunters—there were plenty of them on islands in this area—and I thanked God I had a gun," he said.

They were not disturbed, though, and after a time they walked in the direction of a structure from which a chanting came. Suddenly they realized it looked like a crude church.

The natives, unmistakably friendly, soon gathered around them, and one, in halting English, explained that they were all Christians, Anglican Catholics who had been taught by a missionary no longer on the island.

The fliers' new friends declared that Japanese were all over the island and that they were lucky not to have been seized already.

"We learned that the natives hated the Japs, who had been inhumanly cruel to these people," Smith said, and they were quick to aid the Americans to get away.

Hidden in Jungle.

"We were taken to the jungle and hidden. I can't tell many details. There was somebody there—let us call him a sympathizer of the United Nations—who made arrangements for our escape," Smith declared.

This man is still active in that area in the interest of the Allies, and naturally nothing can be said which would reveal his identity or method of operation, the flyer explained.

A few days later an American plane, guided by fires on a deserted beach, picked up Smith and Costello and "a few hours later we were back in reality with a war going on."

Smith is now on special duty at Cecil Field, auxiliary base of the Jacksonville Naval Air Station, where he received preliminary training before winning his wings at the Miami Air Base last July.

But never, he affirmed, will he forget a brave man, fighting alone and in his own way for the United Nations on a little island thousands of miles away.

The man who can perfectly paint anything but your wife's lips carries his ad in the Business Service column in the Want Ads of The Constitution.

Police Balked By New Gas Problem

Gas rationing, which has caused problems to confront practically every one in Atlanta, last night presented an entirely new one to members of the police department.

Detectives S. C. Dillingham and T. J. Milligan were two of the causes of the new police problem. A man, giving his name as R. L. Chance, of a Guyton street address, presented the other third of the problem.

Chance was arrested near Marietta and Spring streets by the two detectives.

"Charge him with drunk and operating a bicycle," the officers said.

"But there's no ordinance for such a charge," the station lieutenant replied.

"Can't help that, but it's what he was doing," the detectives chorused in unison.

After considering the matter from all angles, the station lieutenant made the entry on the official blotter "Drunk and riding a bicycle."

"This gas rationing," the lieutenant mumbled as he made the entry.

Allies Smash Japanese Line At Sanananda

Allied Bombers Strike Far and Wide in Guinea Area.

By TOM YARBROUGH.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Saturday, Jan. 16.—(AP)—An Allied break-through at Sanananda, New Guinea, in which at least 152 Japanese were killed in one day's fighting Thursday was reported in today's noon communique by General Douglas MacArthur.

Sanananda, immediately northwest of Buna on the northeast New Guinean coast, is the only spot in all the Papuan peninsula still held by a fragment of a Jap army which once totaled 15,000. There jungle fortifications plus swampy conditions caused by recent rains had slowed up the cleanup drive.

A spokesman at General MacArthur's headquarters did not amplify the official report which said that arms and equipment were captured after the forward positions were destroyed.

Far up the coast at Mubo, which is south and inland from Salamaua, another Allied force concluded a three-day assault in which "heavy" casualties were inflicted and the Japanese area headquarters destroyed. Yesterday's communique listed Jap dead there as totaling at least 116.

Bombers meanwhile struck far and wide, blasting targets in the Tanimbar Islands, in the Arafura Sea, harbor installations at Rabaul, New Britain, and supply dumps at Lae, New Guinea.

A Liberator on reconnaissance shot down one of two intercepting fighters over Celebes, in the Dutch East Indies, and near Lae another Liberator knocked down at least two out of six.

Mrs. Goldstein Succumbs Here

Mrs. Tennie Goldstein, of 755 Washington street, died yesterday at a private hospital.

She is survived by six daughters, Mrs. J. Orenstein, Mrs. C. Ruben, Mrs. A. Goldstein, Mrs. S. Orenstein and Misses Anne and Jennie Goldstein.

Funeral services will be held at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow at the residence, Rabbi Harry Epstein and Cantor Joseph Schwartzman officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Circuit Court Affirms Conviction of Darby

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 15.—(AP) The United States fifth circuit court of appeals here today affirmed conviction of Fred W. Darby, Statesboro, Ga., lumberman, in the southern district of Georgia on 11 counts charging violations of the fair labor standards act.

The appellate court said the evidence tended to show "wilfulness" by making weekly deductions from employes' pay before the act took effect and charging the deductions against the employes as a loan.

Darby was indicted on 19 counts but after the supreme court of the United States had upheld the act in his case and sent it back for trial on merits, Darby was acquitted on eight of the counts and convicted and sentenced on 11.

More Transportation Work Soon Will Be Open to Women

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Women can replace men in most industrial work if taught the proper work technique, Miss Dorothy Sells, of the Office of Defense Transportation, declared today.

Miss Sells, back from a survey of women in war transportation work in England, said the ODT would announce soon a new program to increase employment of women in transportation work.

"We are going to have to use more and more women and I am convinced women can be used in transportation," Miss Sells told a press conference. "I saw women in England doing jobs I didn't think they could do. I have seen women doing most horribly heavy work—that I'm sure I wouldn't want to do—and dirty work."

English women left barrels of ashes in railway motorsheds, clean out the tubes of engines, remove debris from subway tracks and do maintenance work on railway equipment and heavy trucks, Miss Sells related.

For women to learn to handle heavy objects or to operate mechanical equipment skillfully is a problem of teaching them the proper technique. Simplification of processes helps, Miss Sells said.

Another angle is to teach supervisors and employers the technique of handling women.

"Women are personal in their point of view," Miss Sells declared. "They have to be treated like persons. For instance, their peculiar requirements of shopping, children and the home must be recognized."

Working hours for women in England have been adjusted to shopping hours, she pointed out, otherwise there would be too much absenteeism, "for home is really the first thing for women."

Stalin Sends Thanks To Leningrad Clergy

MOSCOW, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Premier Stalin has sent an expression of his gratitude to the Orthodox Russian clergy of Leningrad in answer to a communication of the Metropolitan Alexiv who declared his "unshakeable faith in an early victory of our right cause over the sanguinary insanity of Fascism," Tass news agency said today.

The Metropolitan said the Leningrad diocese "in conditions of blockade" had raised a fund of 3,182,143 rubles for the Soviet defense fund and was contributing another 500,000 rubles for construction of a tank column.

Paulding and Worth Will Aid Housewives in Point Rationing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Housewives who go out to "spend" their precious "food points" when rationing comes within the next two months will have the condensed advice of five to 10 thousand women over the country in determining whether the family should have canned peas or corn for dinner.

The Office of Price Administration wants to find out what kinds of food, especially canned, dried or frozen, the people are eating and will enlist the aid of these thousands of housewives—selected on a basis to represent a cross section of America.

The food points will be similar to money prices and when Mrs. Jones goes to the store she will note not only the cost of an item but—equally important—the number of points it will take from the ration book as she will have a flat number of ration points to spend each month.

The housewives, to be selected from 58 counties, will fill out a form each day itemizing their food purchases and the OPA will thus learn what preferences of each food are at prevailing "point values" and be in a position to adjust the points for the various commodities.

The counties from which the co-operating housewives will be selected included:

Alabama, Jefferson; Arkansas, Union; Connecticut, Tolland; Florida, St. Johns; Georgia, Paulding and Worth; Louisiana, Rapides; Maine, York; Maryland, Baltimore and Garrett; Massachusetts, Franklin; Mississippi, Stone; New York, Albany and New York city; North Carolina, Buncombe; Rhode Island, Providence; South Carolina, Georgetown and Greenville; Tennessee, Washington; Virginia, Appomattox; Vermont, Orange; West Virginia, McDowell.

Grady Nurses Want Duty in Armed Forces

20 Graduates Receive Diplomas at Midterm Exercises.

Bent on getting in the Army or Navy, 20 nurses from Grady hospital received their diplomas at mid-term exercises at the Central Presbyterian church at 9 o'clock last night.

Although most of the girls must wait a few days before learning if they will be accepted for service, the hospital superintendent of nurses said last night "nearly all of them" had applied for duty with the armed forces.

Thomas K. Glenn, chairman of the board of trustees, made the principal address and presented the diplomas.

Zoning Appeals Board Change Recommended

Engineer-Secretary of Planning Group Would Remain Member.

Abolition of the position of director of relief in the city government and revamping of the city's board of zoning appeals were recommended yesterday by city council's ordinance and legislation committee.

Miss Elizabeth Ivey, who holds the position as relief director, said she would retire about February 1. The Georgia legislature must pass a bill authorizing the city to discontinue the job.

Under the proposed revamping of the board of zoning appeals, a body set up to pass on variations from city building codes, the engineer-secretary of the city planning commission will remain a member of the committee, but the chairman of the planning group will name two members of the commission to serve, thus establishing a board of three members.

Previously only one member has been named by the planning chairman and the third member was the chairman of council's ordinance and legislation committee. Alderman G. Dan Bridges, present chairman, said he would be glad to be relieved of the responsibility.

Members of the ordinance and legislative group engaged in a debate over the advisibility of asking the legislature to grant home rule to Atlanta and also over proposals to write off back poll taxes for persons who have voted before but are behind with the $1 annual poll tax payments.

At the insistance of Councilman James E. Jackson Jr., committee member, the group postponed any action on home rule matter until City Attorney Jack C. Savage prepares a proper paper. An adverse report will be filed on the proposal to "forgive" poll tax arrears, the committee taking the position that such matters are strictly problems of the legislature.

It was said that measures already are being prepared to exempt men in the service from poll tax payments while they are in the armed forces, and that proposals to affect this which had been offered the committee were superfluous.

W. B. Johns' Infant Son Dies; Last Rites Today

William B. Johns Jr., 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Johns, formerly of Atlanta, died Thursday at the residence in Dyersburg, Tenn.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by four sisters, Virginia, Betty, Dorothy and Mary Louise Johns, and a grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Holbrook.

Funeral services will be held at 11:30 a. m. today at Western Heights Baptist church, with the Rev. Gordon Ezzell officiating. Burial will be in Rockmart cemetery.

Army Life Is Varied, Georgia Soldier Says

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

MONTEZUMA, Ga., Jan. 15.—Lieutenant Marshall Cheves, of the United States Army Air Corps abroad, writes to his mother, Mrs. Cellie Cheves:

"Army life is full of ups and downs. One day we stay in the swankiest hotels on this continent and the next we sleep on the floor of a shed, rolled up in a blanket. Some days we have a four-course dinner with wine for a beverage, and again we eat beans out of our mess kits in a pouring rain.

"We are all having a good time, though, and everyone is happy."

U.S. To Buy, Resell Cows To Prevent Slaughter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—In an effort to hold milk production to the highest possible level, the Agriculture Department announced today it would buy and resell dairy cows to prevent their being sold for slaughter.

The department said that in some areas, particularly in the New York, Chicago and Kansas City milksheds and surrounding territories, dairy cows were being sold for slaughter because of labor shortages and other difficulties.

KILLED IN CRASH—Cadet William A. Garrett, of Decatur, killed last Sunday in a collision between two planes at Roswell, N. M., will receive a military funeral this afternoon.

Military Rites Set Today for W. A. Garrett

Services Will Be Held at 2 P. M.; Burial in West View.

Military rites for Cadet William A. Garrett, 24-year-old Decatur man, killed last Sunday in an airplane crash at Roswell, N. M., will be held at 2 p. m. today at the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes, with Captain T. D. Freeman, chaplain at Fort McPherson, officiating.

Fort McPherson soldiers will be pallbearers, and burial will be in West View cemetery.

Garrett, a native of Decatur, graduated from Tech High school in 1939. He entered the Army in January, 1942. He completed his basic at the Army Flying School at Gardner Field, California, and was completing his training at the advanced school at Roswell, N. M., when killed in a collision between two training planes.

From childhood, Garrett had been interested in aviation, and his model planes had won several races at the North Side Airport.

He was to have married Miss Pearl Barrow, of Decatur, on the date of the crash.

Midair Collision Is Fatal to Flyer

MOULTRIE, Ga., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Second Lieutenant John Mitchell Russell, of Spence Field, was killed late yesterday when his plane crashed two miles west of Hahira, Ga., after a midair collision with another training plane.

Occupants of the other plane, Pilot Officer James Summers, of Durham, England, and Second Lieutenant Robert Van Buren Rose, of Pelham, N. Y., parachuted to safety. Lieutenant Russell was alone in his plane.

Lieutenant Russell, 23, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell, of Detroit, Mich. He had received his wings and commission only yesterday morning.

Peabody Radio Awards To Be Made in March

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The six George Foster Peabody radio awards for "outstanding meritorious public service" will be made sometime in March, it was announced today after a meeting of the advisory committee. The meeting was a preliminary survey of entries.

John E. Drewry, dean of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, University of Georgia, was present at the discussion. He represented Dr. S. V. Sanford, chancellor, University System of Georgia, who did not attend.

The awards are administered jointly by the National Association of Broadcasters and the Georgia School of Journalism.

Arnall Forbids Officials To Sell State Property

Governor Arnall issued an executive order yesterday forbidding all state officials to sell any state property until further notice.

"I've got word that some department heads are trying to sell some of the state's property," said Arnall. "I'll put them in the chain-gang if they do."

Asked to name the persons to whom he alluded, the Governor said, "They'll know who I am talking about."

Martin Luther Davis Dies at Atlanta Home

Martin Luther Davis, 54, died yesterday at the residence, 197 Tye street, S. E.

He is survived by his wife, a son, Carlos Davis; his father, W. S. Davis; four sisters, Mrs. Maud Melton, Mrs. J. W. Nix, Mrs. J. W. Riddle and Miss Lucy Davis, and by two brothers, A. C. and the Rev. J. B. Davis.

Funeral plans will be announced by Harry G. Poole.

Pay Scale For Nation's Ration Banks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration announced today the compensation to be received by banks which participate in the nation-wide ration banking plan beginning January 27:

For the first account opened by any depositor in any one office of the bank 20 cents; for each additional account opened for the same depositor at the same bank, 0.5 cents; for each deposit carried on the books of the bank on the 15th of the month, 10 cents; for each deposit made .05 cents; for each item included in the deposit, .005; for each ration check debited to an account, .04 cent.

Ration banking does not affect the public but will be used to simplify the handling of coupons and certificates by various business firms.

Gasoline distributors, but not retailers, will open accounts. In sugar and coffee, primary wholesalers, distributors and retailers who had gross sales in food exceeding $5,000 in December, 1942, will be included as will chain retailers. Opening of accounts will be optional with smaller retailers. Restaurants and other bulk users may also open accounts.

The compensation paid to banks by OPA is intended to cover the cost of bank labor and printed forms necessary, as well as for depreciation of office machines and other equipment.

More than 15,000 commercial banks throughout the country have been asked to participate in the plan.

Five Darlan Suspects Reported To Be Freed

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Five of the original 12 arrested in connection with the assassination of Admiral Jean Darlan were reported reliably today to have been released. One was rearrested immediately.

Those released were described variously as De Gaullists, Royalists, Darlanists and some who professed loyalty to all simultaneously.

Workers on Farms Fewest Since 1925

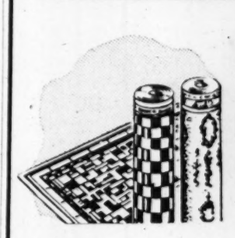

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard told farmers today that there would not be enough farm labor to go around this year because of national man power shortages and the best government agencies could do would be to meet the most pressing needs.

This appraisal of the situation was given by the food administrator in a radio talk in which farmers were asked to report their 1943 labor requirements to their local Agricultural War boards.

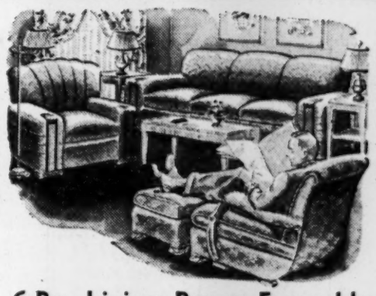

At the same time, the Agriculture Department issued a report on the labor situation which stated that the number of workers on farms on January 1 was the smallest since records were started in 1925. The number was estimated at 8,171,000.
